Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902 and the Index thereto.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, 10 cents, postpaid. Special Numbers: Educational Number, in leatherette, 50 cents; Christmas Number, 25 cents; the numbers containing the three, six and nine months' Cumulated Lists, 25 cents each. Extra copies of the Annual Summary Number, to subscribers only, $1.00.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, $6 a year; single numbers, 25. (Literary News is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEYFOLD, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consultant is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

—, 1890-95, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

—, 1895-1900, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, containing yearly the monthly lists in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, cumulated, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by the latest volume. It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1902, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $3.00.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 300 American publishers. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with index, 2 v., 8°, net, $4.50.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $5.00. Supplementary Index for 1903. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $2.50. The two volumes bound in one, $6.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°, cloth, $3.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, cloth, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE bound in one volume, cloth, $4.50.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1200 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. Pt. 2: North Central States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. 4°. (For complete work, $5.00.)

THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING: a handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GSWOLL, managing editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Book-trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," etc. Pts. 1 and 2. 8° bds., each, $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Nearly-ReadyTHE*Publishers' Trade List Annual

will comprise the lists of upwards of three hundred publishers—over eighty lists more than the work has before contained—which will greatly enhance its value to the bookseller as an inexpensive work of reference for books in print. Notwithstanding the increase in size, the price will be as heretofore, $2, and to those subscribing and paying in advance, $1.50.

NEW SUPPLEMENTARY INDEX

We are preparing this year a supplement to the Index volume of last year, which will include (1) the titles of the books of those publishers who were not represented in last year's Catalogues volume ; (2) the titles of the new books published since the issue of last year's Trade List Annual by the publishers represented in the 1902 and 1903 volumes ; and (3) the titles which were reported too late for insertion in last year's Index volume, as well as corrections, etc.

Supplementary Index, 1 vol., about 200 pages, 8vo.,
cloth, $2. After Publication, $2.50.

Only enough copies of the Supplementary Index will be printed to supply the demand from those who purchased last year's INDEX, and to bind up with the small number of the remaining copies of last year's INDEX, into a comprehensive volume of about 1300 pages, which will be priced at $5 for copies paid for in advance of publication, or $6 thereafter.

The prices in every case are net, and do not include carriage. Orders, with remittance, should be placed now. Directions for enclosure delivery in New York should accompany the order, unless shipment is to be by express at the charge of the subscriber. Address

A NOVEL TO COMMAND ATTENTION

THE LAW of LIFE

BY

Anna McClure Sholl

FIVE veteran readers of manuscripts to whom this story was submitted returned to the publishers enthusiastic opinions. Here are some extracts from their reports:

"At last we have an author who is not afraid to face a tragic problem of love and sex, and who is able to treat it with dignity and full grasp of its depth and power."

"The reading of it was a constantly increasing delight."

"It is an essentially American novel, and one dealing with a phase of American Life from an entirely new point of view. Much has been written about the university life of the student; Miss Sholl is our first novelist to set before us the university life, socially and academically, of the professor. She has done it with a breadth, an ease, a realism, and a literary quality that lift her book far above the average."

DARREL

of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER, Author of "EBEN HOLDEN" and "DR'I and I"

HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD:

"I have read of late few more delightful stories than 'Darrel of the Blessed Isles.' Entirely fresh in conception and plot, it leads one with gentle but absorbing interest and with skilfully managed surprises and incidents. There is a sweetness and strength about the whole book rarely found in the novels of the day, and in its own genre unsurpassed."

60th THOUSAND

HON. B. B. ODELL, Governor of New York:

"I enjoyed every page of 'Darrel.'"

NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS:

"'Darrel of the Blessed Isles' is at once the latest and the best of Mr. Bacheller's stories. It is an idyl of love and the story of a great happiness that came through a great self-sacrifice and expiation. Mr. Bacheller has clothed life's simplicities with enduring charm and beauty, and made honor and self-sacrifice, truth and love, seem the only things that are really worth while."

CYRUS NORTHROP, President of University of Minnesota:

"The story commands unflagging interest in the development of its plot, and yet the plot is not the most essential or the most attractive part of the work. The daily acts of unselfishness performed by a soul purified and ennobled by suffering are even more striking than the plot."

GORGGO

A ROMANCE OF OLD ATHENS

By CHARLES K. GAINES, Ph.D., Professor of Greek in St. Lawrence University.

GORGGO is the naive and captivating heroine, naming the book, beloved by Theramenes, the Athenian, whose stormy career in politics, love, and war furnishes the motive of the tale. The story is laid in a period covering the time of the great Peloponnesian conflict, and abounds in striking war pictures. Conspicuous historic figures of the time, such as Socrates and Alcibiades, are delineated in a manner singularly lifelike.

ANDY BARR

By WILLIS B. HAWKINS.

BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE:

"ANDY is a character worthy in every way to take his place with the David Harums and Eben Holdens of literature. He springs from the soil, and therefore is human and convincing and real. Mr. Hawkins' book would merit success if only for the creation of the character of Andy Barr; but the story is a good one, full of human interest, crisply told, and holding the reader's attention to the end."

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY, BOSTON

¶ THE WARD OF KING CANUTE is described by the literary editor of Life as "one of the best romances and one of the most attractively finished books of the season." This is a very apt characterization of the book, and one that is substantiated by its growing sales and frequent new editions.

¶ CARTOONS BY McCUTCHEON in three months is becoming as much a bulwark of American humor as George Ade's fables and the Dooley books. Its success has been phenomenal and grows more pronounced every day. The book is now in its fourth edition.

¶ REFLECTIONS OF A LONELY MAN will shortly appear in a very attractive new cover—one that gives the customer an idea of the character of the book and engages his interest at once. This delightful little volume of fireside philosophy is now in its second edition.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready a character sketch by Margaret Sidney, entitled "Sally, Mrs. Tubbs." It can be read through in an hour or so, and is a study of a typical New England old maid, full of humor and lively delineation and not without touches of true pathos. It is not a juvenile story, but will appeal to a wide audience of grown-ups.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready the seventh and concluding volume of Sir William Laird Clowes's work on "The Royal Navy;" also, twenty new titles in their Boys' and Girls' Bookshelf, and two new titles in the Children's Friend Series. They are bringing out new editions of "Jo's Boys," with illustrations by Ellen Wetherald Ahrens, and of Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford's volume of poems, "In Titian's Garden."

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready a story of New York life entitled "The Silver Poppy," the first long novel by Arthur Stringer. The story tells about the successes and disappointments of a novel writer—of the tragedy, the character of the success attained by the gifted heroine played in her life and in that of her lover. They will publish probably next month a new edition of "Phoenixiana," by John Phoenix, (Lieutenant Derby.) which contains sketches of army and mining life as viewed by a humorist fifty years ago. The book will have an introduction by John Kendrick Bangs and forty illustrations by E. W. Kemble.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish next month a volume on "The Development of the Drama," by Brander Matthews, in which the author deals with Greek tragedy, Greek and Roman comedy, mediæval Spain, the drama in Spain, the drama in England, the drama in France, the drama in the eighteenth century, the drama in the nineteenth century, and the future of the drama; a new edition of Charles A. Stoddard's "Cruising Among the Caribbees," which has been enlarged and brought down to date, with six new illustrations; also, a new edition, in one volume, of Henry Cabot Lodge's "Story of the Revolution," which will contain all the illustrations of the original volume. In October they expect to bring out Senator George F. Hoar's "Autobiography of Seventy Years," portions of which appeared from time to time in Scribner's Magazine.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will bring out during the fall "The Forest Heath," a story of Indiana life during the thirties, by Charles Major; "The Beaten Path," a dramatic novel of modern life in a large Pennsylvania manufacturing town, by Richard L. Makin; "The Foe of Compromise," historical essays by William Garrott Brown, author of "The Lower South in American History;" "A Pleasure Book of Grindelwald," by James Ford Rhodes, who writes interestingly of one of the most popular and beautiful resorts in Switzerland; "The Heart of Rome," an intimate description of Roman and Italian life, by F. Marion Crawford; "The Building of a Working Faith," by Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis; also, "The Land of the Heather," by Clifton Johnson, who describes the typical people and scenes of Scotland with full appreciation of the picturesque and attractive and sturdy qualities of people whom the average tourist never comes to know.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. "It has been the aim of the author to set forth practical methods for the exclusion of bacteria from milk. In this work, there is incorporated a system of operations which have been successful in materially reducing the bacterial contamination of milk, from the moment it is drawn from the cow until it is used by the consumer. The work in the field which supplied the data for the book was performed under a grant from the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. The work was under the direction and supervision of Dr. Park and formed a part of the movement for the improvement of New York City's milk supply, conducted by Dr. Park, for the Department of Health of the City of New York."—Preface.

Eusebius of Casarea surnamed Pamphili. Preparation for the gospel; tr. from a revised text by Edwin Hamilton Gifford, D.D. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (American Branch,) 1903. 2 v., 31+458; 1+459-948 p. O. cl., $8.30.

The Preparatio Evangelica of Eusebius is the first part of the Demonstratio Evangelica, the most systematic and comprehensive of the many apologetic works of Christian antiquity. The translator's original intention was simply to supply the ordinary English reader with a translation of moderate cost. But the existing editions of the Greek text were found to be so unsatisfactory, that he was obliged to undertake a complete revision of the text founded upon a new collation of the most important manuscripts. The whole work thus became too costly for many of the clergy and younger students of theology, for whose use it had been at first undertaken. But through the consideration of the Delegates of the Clarendon Press the English version is allowed to be sold separately at a reduced price. Two editions it will be seen are offered. The first is the English translation above at a reduced price. The second following comprises also the English translation (2 v.) and the Greek text (3 v.), there being 5 vs. in all although advertised as in 4 vs.—v. 3 being in two parts or 2 v.

The object of this paper is to show how some of the most important problems in celestial mechanics may be treated by methods which are rigorous, at least under specified conditions. These problems depend upon the solutions of differential equations; consequently the principal methods of integration are treated, and the manner of applying them to astronomical problems is shown.

Mumford, Ethel Watts. Whitewash; il. by A. G. Learned. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1903, Ag.] c. 8-317 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A fascinating young man, claiming to be a Polish patriot, travelling incognito, is received by several good New York families. A young girl who had spent the previous year in France with companions thinks she recognizes him as the perpetrator of a brutal murder and robbery that occurred in an obscure inn where the party spent the night. A good detective story is built up, and clever glimpses given of fashionable and bohemian life in New York City.

The action of the story takes place on board an English sailing-vessel—the Dealman—bound on a voyage from England to an island off the coast of Cape Horn. The object of the voyage is to raise part of the valuable cargo of a steamer that had foundered in a bay of the island. The captain of the Dealman had just been married; his wife finds it very hard to be separated from him, and manages to smuggle herself aboard his ship. This is against orders, but when she is discovered it is too late to put her ashore. The adventures of the ship and "the captain's wife," are numerous and startling.

Savage, R. H. The last traitor of Long Island: a story of the sea. N. Y., Home Publishing Co., [1903.] c. [Jl.] 341 p. D. cl., $1.25; pap., 75c.

Returning after a three years' cruise in the staunch whaling ship Reindeer, Hiram Worth, third mate, has but one thought—to meet his sweetheart again, and make her his wife. The cruise has made him a rich man, and life looks very beautiful to him. The news that his promised bride has given him up for a rich rival ruins his life. Bent on vengeance, he becomes traitor to his country (the time is 1864, during the Civil War) and enters the Confederate service, leading their war ships to the fishing grounds where his rival is cruising. The ending is dramatic and cruel.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 15, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

IS BOOK STOCK EVER DEAD?

At a gathering of bookmen recently the question of what to do with "plugs" came up for discussion. Naturally, every one present had a theory, more or less practical, on the subject. All agreed that it was necessary to make a considerable sacrifice in order to get rid of slow stock except one bookseller, and he claimed that there is no such thing as an absolutely unsaleable book. Said he, "There is no book, however insignificant and out of date, which I cannot sell sooner or later, often at my own price, and which somebody will not come into my shop and ask for. Few books are ever entirely dead.

"If proper care and judgment were exercised in the purchase of books; that is, if the buying were done absolutely close to the demands of the business instead of being influenced, as it often is, by dazzling inducements that in the end prove will-o'-the-wisps, there would be fewer accumulations of slow stock. It is seldom safe for a dealer with a small constituency to take a second plunge on a so-called popular book, because from one day to another the enthusiasm over it may be chilled, for no reason whatever, and its sale stopped short. There is bound to be a scattering call for it for some time after the boom has subsided, and the dealer who has been enterprising enough while the excitement ran high, and careful when he felt the relaxation set in, will probably not be caught long with remainders."

But then it is undeniable that the best laid plans of mice and men often come to naught, and that the most careful buyer does get caught with a larger remnant than it would be desirable to carry for any length of time; for while, according to the bookseller we have quoted, a book may never be absolutely dead, it often remains in a moribund condition a provokingly long time. Hence, the burning question with many booksellers will continue to be how to move this slow-selling stock with the least possible loss.

By friendly co-operation among dealers in the same or in different cities much relief might be obtained, because what may not appeal to one class of readers, or one section of the country, may appeal to a different class of readers in another part of the country. Certain libraries, we understand, are effecting such exchanges regularly, to the satisfaction of all concerned. These exchanges might be managed by booksellers through the interchange of manifolded lists, or through advertisements in the trade journals. Some years ago THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY offered to open up a column of "Books for Exchange" at a rate reduced to five cents a line for entries amounting to one hundred lines at a time; that is, at the present price for fifty lines one hundred lines could be inserted, the price for less than one hundred lines, however, being as now at ten cents a line.

Among other expedients proposed it has been suggested that the publishers should consider a plan of sharing in the loss on slow stock by relieving the bookseller of his surplus, or a proportion of it, by exchange or otherwise, rather than have their books slaughtered in "remainder sales." As the proposer of this expedient, who is the agent for a large publishing house, said: "This might seem at first thought to work against the interest of the publishers; but in the long run it would not, for the easier they can make it for customers to close out their stock the more readily they will buy next time. It is not for the real interest of the publisher to see the bookseller lose on any of his stock." This suggestion, plausible as it may appear, will no doubt fall on stony ground so far as the publisher is concerned. However, inasmuch as the subject touches a vital point in present-day bookselling, it is one on which a general expression of opinion seems desirable, and we will gladly lend our columns for a discussion of the proposition.

THE AMERICAN POSTAL LEAGUE.

THE AMERICAN POSTAL LEAGUE has been organized to encourage the enactment of a parcels post bill by Congress. Some of the aims of the League are: "To prevent any increase of rates on any class of mail matter, and to reduce rates as rapidly as possible on all mail matter; to secure to the American public postal facilities equal, at least, to those enjoyed by the people of Europe, and especially to secure from the incoming Congress the establishment of a domestic parcels post as efficient and cheap as that of Germany and Switzerland, a foreign parcels post equal to that of the more progressive European countries, and a simplification of postal rates, so that second-class matter shall no longer be subjected to the arbitrary rulings of department officials." The association was first organized as the New York Postal Progress League; in order, however, to give it wider power it was voted at a later meeting to adopt the more comprehensive title.

It is proposed to attain these ends by education through the press, by the dissemination of literature, by holding popular meetings, and by obtaining pledges from all members of Congress and nominees for Congress. The officers of the League are: President, Albert A. Pope; treasurer, William B. Howland; secretary, James L. Cowles. Some of the members of the League are Dodd, Mead & Co., Brentano's, Methodist Book Concern, Doubleday, Page & Co., University Publishing Company, William A. Pond & Co., A. S. Barnes & Co., Ernest H. Crosby, the American Tract Society, Siegel-Cooper Company, Simpson-Crawford Company and Trow Directory, Printing and Bookbinding Company.

ANOTHER NEW ENGLAND PRIMER.

ANOTHER early and previously undescribed "New England Primer" has recently passed through the hands of Dodd, Mead & Co. into the library of a collector in Brooklyn, N. Y. This edition was unknown to Paul Leicester Ford when he compiled his work on "The Little Bible of New England." It is dated 1746, and is, according to R. F. R[oden,] in the Saturday Times Review of August 8, "the fifth earliest known edition of this important book, now so highly prized by collectors. Ford knew of only three editions printed before 1761, the dates being 1727, 1737 and 1738. Within the last year these editions have been discovered: 1735, 1746 and 1754. The following list gives the dates of the eleven earliest known editions:

Boston, 1727, printed by S. Kneeland and T. Green, only known copy is in the Lenox Library (lacking four leaves, A1, B2, B3, and E8, although a small part of B2 remains.) This copy was bought for only $5 in 1876 by the late Dr. Moore of the Lenox Library.*

[* This copy, we happen to know, was offered to a number of booksellers in New York by the lady who owned it. Receiving no higher bid than ten cents, she was about to go home when she passed another bookstore. The proprietor of that shop, recognizing its value at once, offered $3. A day or two later Dr. Moore secured it for $5.—Ed. P. W.]

Boston, 1735, printed by S. Kneeland and T. Green, only known copy is in the library of E. Dwight Church. This is the copy unearthed last Winter in Pennsylvania. Some of the newspaper accounts of its discovery gave the date of 1727.

Boston, 1737, printed by T. Fleet; only known copy is in the library of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. This is George Brinley's copy, sold for $612 in 1881, together with the editions of 1768, 1770, 1776, 1777, and one without date (about 1790.)

Boston, 1738, printed by T. Fleet; only known copy is in the library of E. Dwight Church. This is the copy offered for $300 in Dodd, Mead & Co.'s catalogue of October, 1892.

Boston, 1746, printed by Rogers & Fowle; only known copy is in the library of E. Dwight Church. This is the recently discovered copy referred to in the first paragraph.

Germantown, Penn., 1754, "reprinted and sold by Christopher Sower, Jr.," only known copy was advertised for sale in Dodd, Mead & Co.'s catalogue of April, 1903. This is probably the first book printed by the second Christopher Sower, (or Sauer), son of the first German printer in America, who issued in 1743, in Germantown, a German Bible, the first edition of the Holy Scriptures printed here in a European language.

Boston, 1761, printed by D. and J. Kneeland. This title is given in Sabin's "Dictionary of Books Relating to America," but he did not locate a copy, and none seems to be known at the present time.

Boston, 1762, printed by S. Adams; only known copy is in the library of E. Dwight Church. This is the fine Ives copy, bought by Dodd, Mead & Co. for only $105 at the Ives sale in 1891.

Boston, 1767, printed by W. McAlpine; only known copy was advertised for sale at $325 in Dodd, Mead & Co.'s catalogue of April, 1903. This edition was unknown to Ford.

London, 1767, reprint of a Boston edition; only known copy is in the Lenox Library. This was purchased several years ago for $100 by Alexander Maitland, and presented to the library by him.

Boston, 1768, printed for John Perkins; only known copy is in the library of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. This is the Brinley copy referred to above.

"The first edition of the New England Primer was supposed by Ford to have been printed in Boston about 1600 by R. Peirce for Benjamin Harris. In Henry Newman's 'News of the Stars,' ('Boston, R. Peirce, for Benjamin Harris, 1691,') probably issued late in 1690, occurs this advertisement:

"There is now in the Press, and will suddenly be extant, a Second Impression of The New-England Primer enlarged, to which is added, More Directions for Spelling: the Prayer of K. Edward the 6th, and Verses made by Mr. Rogers the Martyr, left as a Legacy to his Children.

"There is also reason to believe that an earlier edition of the Primer was issued in Cambridge, Mass., in 1668, by Marmaduke Johnson. No earlier edition than that of 1727 is known, however, at the present day, despite the fact that the New England Primer is the most widely advertised of American books."

A PUBLISHER'S FORTUNE.

WITH reference to the forthcoming centenary of Lord Lytton, it has been stated by Francis Gribble, in the Fortnightly Review, that "the House of Routledge is well known to have laid the foundation of its fortunes by giving £20,000 for the right to issue a six-penny edition of his works." The statement has been criticised; but, according to the London Times, "the truth of the matter is that it was Messrs. Smith's bookstalls which helped more than anything else toward the making of the reputation of the Routledge firm. The bookstalls were started by Smith about 1848, and George Routledge, quick to see the possibilities of the new system, issued the first volume of his Railway Library with Fenimore Cooper's 'Pilot' at a shilling. The series was successful, and for many years afforded the chief business at Smith's book-stalls.

"It was in 1853 that Routledge made his celebrated offer of £20,000 to Lytton for the right to include nineteen of his novels in the Library for the term of ten years. 'In spite of the enormous outlay,' says Curwen, in his 'History of Booksellers,' 'they were very willing, on the expiry of the time, to take a fresh lease of the popular volumes; so that an offer originally deemed by the trade to be quixotic, if not ruinous, must have reaped the success that its liberality and boldness deserved; and by their association with Sir E. Bulwer Lytton a great prestige was at once acquired.' Similar arrangements were made with Disraeli, G. P. R. James, Harrison Ainsworth and other favorite novelists, these reissues being followed by the publication of original works by Mayne Reid, Grant and others, as well as by the first English edition of many of Prescott's and Longfellow's works."

COMMUNICATIONS.

CONCERNING "A SELECTION OF PASSAGES FROM ST. CHRYSOSTOM" AND OTHERS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: The name of the compilers of "A selection of passages from St. Chrysostom, St. Gregory Nazianzen, [not Nagianzen] and St. Gregory," was HUGH STUART BOYD.

Elizabeth Barrett Browning had nothing to do with the "Selection" excepting to read it. Hugh Stuart Boyd was Mrs. Browning's tutor in Greek, and she has fondly commemorated his learning and virtues in one of her most inspiring poems entitled "Wine of Cyprus." P. P. G.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MR. J. N. LARNED is occupied at his summer home, East Jewett, N. Y., with the last pages of his text-book of American history, to be published forthwith by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. His text-book of English history has met with gratifying success.

ARTHUR SEVERN, the artist who married Ruskin's cousin and ward, Miss Joan Ruskin Agnew, has nearly completed his "Recollections of Ruskin," which should prove interesting, considering the author's intimate association with Ruskin and his great talent as a raconteur.

MR. GOLDWIN SMITH, on August 13, completed his eightieth year. For more than half a century Mr. Goldwin Smith, as historian, as a philosopher and journalist, has exercised a powerful influence in directing English thought, and, indirectly in shaping history. As a master of the English language Mr. Goldwin Smith has few, if any, peers.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Ainslee's Magazine is offering prizes to the amount of $3000 to the booksellers and news-dealers who will undertake to make a special canvass for their magazine. The details of the competition will be found in their advertising page elsewhere in this issue.

SEVEN well-known physicians, headed by Dr. Albert W. Ferris, have formed a company for the publication of a daily medical journal in New York, the initial number of which is to appear October 1. The paper will be six pages, and will report the medical happenings of the world. It will also publish a daily review of the current medical literature of the world.

Country Life in America is to have a large double-sized "Country Home Number" for October, to deal with the most attractive and distinctive types of our country homes the country over, showing in a comprehensive way the present tendencies of country house architecture. Everything that has to do with country houses, even to the kitchens, furnishings, plumbing and water supply, and the grounds generally, will be illustrated in this journal's characteristically generous manner.

New Shakespeareana for October-December, which will be published September 5, will contain a letter from the Rev. George Arbuthnot replying sharply to American criticism on his administration of the affairs of Trinity Church, Stratford on Avon, of which he is the vicar; Dr. R. L. Ashhurst, Vice-Dean of the Philadelphia Shakespeare Society, handles Mr. Mallock without gloves for trying to read the Baconian theory out of seventeenth-century title-pages in the Pall Mall Magazine, and there is the usual quota of annotated criticism, etc. The late unpleasantness concerning the site of the Carnegie Library at Stratford is illustrated by a cut of the threatened cottages.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

KARSLAKE & Co., 61 Charing Cross Road, London, W. C., have just published part three of the first volume—January to March 31, 1903—of "Sales Records." The record is by individual auction sales, giving name of buyer and price realized, to which is added an author and title index. (4+387+536+32 p. 16°, pap.)

CHARLES EVANS, 1045 Pratt Avenue, Rogers Park, Chicago, announces that work on the first volume of his "American Bibliography, 1639-1820," has advanced so far that he expects to be able to furnish it to subscribers early in September. The volume will cover the years 1639 to 1730. The edition will be limited, and we are pleased to learn that only a few copies are unsubscribed for.

OTTAVI FRÈRES, Casale Monferrato, Italy, announce that they will publish quarterly a list of the more important books and periodicals on agriculture published in Italy, France, Great Britain, Germany, America and other countries, under the title of "Bibliographie Agronomica Universalis." The work will be compiled by E. Ottavi and A. Marescalchi, with the co-operation of Messrs. Dewitz and Vermorel. Each title will bear the Dewey decimal classification number. The work will cover the books issued since January, 1903, and will be printed on one side of the sheet, so as to permit the subscriber to cut out only those titles which he needs. The subscription price is $2.50 the year.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Maggs Bros., 109 Strand, London, Books printed on vellum, fine art works, etc. (No. 195, 1077 titles.)—A. Maurice & Co., 23 Bedford St., Covent Garden, London, Books on art, cricket, gardening, etc. (No. 134, 303 titles.)—Bernard Quaritch, 15 Piccadilly, London, European history, literature and philology, the occult sciences, alchemy, astrology, folklore, magic, etc., periodicals and transactions of learned societies, political economy, etc. (No. 223, 1234 titles. 1s.)—Rosberg'sche Buchhandlung, 15 Universitätsstr., Leipzig, Books for bibliophiles. (No. 2, 1080 titles.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co., Philadelphia, will publish on the 22d inst. "The Rambillicus Book," wonder tales for children from seven to seventy, by Walt McDougall. The volume is an octavo fully illustrated.

WYCIL & Co. will publish September 1 a new story by Florence Warden, entitled "The Mis-Rule of Three," full of love, mystery and adventure. The volume will have eight full-page illustrations by Caroline Fulghum.

THE DIRECTORS OF OLD SOUTH WORK, Boston, have just added eight new leaflets to the Old South Series, including the first number of The Dial; the "Schools of Massachusetts in 1824;" and "Boston in 1796," an extract of Timothy Dwight's journal.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just issued Katherine M. Abbott's new book, "Old Paths and Legends of New England," an account of "saunterings over historical roads, with glimpses of picturesque fields and old homesteads in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire."

E. J. CLODE will publish August 22 "The Wings of the Morning," a new story by Louis Tracy, a new writer. Owing to Mr. Clode's extraordinary offers to the trade, orders for two-thirds of the entire first two editions have already been sold, and a third edition will be put to press at once.

STREET & SMITH have purchased all the plates of Robert Bonner's Sons, which include many good copyright stories by such authors as Mrs. Southworth, Laura Jean Libby, Sylvanus Cobb and Amelia E. Barr. These will be brought out hereafter in Street & Smith's ten-cent lines.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish in the fall a series of drawings that Blanche McManus is preparing for the De La More Press, of London. The volume will be entitled "The Cathedrals of Northern France," and will contain eighty drawings, which will be accompanied with text by Francis Miltoun.

GEORGE A. MORTON, a new Edinburgh publisher, will issue immediately a small book by Miss Marie Corelli, entitled "The Soul of Queen Alexandra;" also, "From Journalist to Judge," by Judge Alexander Condie Stephen, formerly editor of The Birmingham Daily Gazette and some time assistant to Blowitz in Paris.

THE BURROWS BROTHERS COMPANY have in preparation a limited edition of a reprint of Eliot's "The Logic Primer," edited by Wilberforce Eames; Esquemeling's "Bucaniers of America," in four volumes, edited by Felix Neumann, of the Library of Congress; also, a translation of the "life" of Cristopher Columbus by his son Fernando, edited by Professor E. G. Bourne.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just brought out an interesting little guide to the "Literary Landmarks of Boston," by Lindsay Swift, of the Boston Public Library. The book mentions the houses occupied at one time or another by about 260 persons of literary fame in Boston and its suburbs. Illustrations of the more notable landmarks accompany the text.

THE EQUITABLE PUBLISHING CO., Allentown, Pa., have just published "The Travels of John Wryland," narrating the incidents of Wryland's journey to Tibet, and of his there becoming King of the Island of Palti, and of the war he waged upon the Ne-ar-Bians. The work throws new light upon the geography of Tibet, upon the history, laws, institutions, architecture and inhabitants of Palti.

THE Provincial Court at Leipzig, on August 12, concluded the trial of the German publisher of Tolstoi's pamphlet, "Thou Shalt Not Kill," which was seized by the police on July 4 on the ground that it contained statements regarding Emperor William which were classed as high treason. The court decided that the charge of lèse majesté had been proven, and ordered that the unsold copies of the pamphlet and the plates be destroyed.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just brought out "Marion Harland's Complete Cook Book," a practical and exhaustive manual of cookery and housekeeping, containing thousands of carefully-proved recipes, prepared for the housewife, not for the chef, and many chapters on the care and management of the home. The book is fully illustrated and is, as the title declares, the final expression of the author's life's experience.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a new story for young people by William O. Stoddard, entitled "The Spy of Yorktown," which deals with that period of the Revolution when Benedict Arnold, as a reward for his treachery, was placed in charge of the British forces in Virginia. They also announce a novel entitled "The Law of Life," by Anna McClure Sholl, who deals with the university life, socially and academically, of the professor. The novel is said to be essentially American.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY has been appointed the American agent for "The Holy Scriptures in Modern English," translated by Ferar Fenton, published in England by S. W. Partridge & Co. The work is published in one volume, also in five separate parts, as follows: Vol. 1, "The Five Books of Moses;" vol. 2, "The History of Israel;" vol. 3, "The Book of the Prophets;" vol. 4, "Psalms, Solomon and The Sacred Writers;" and vol. 5, "The New Testament."

THE ALDINE PUBLISHING COMPANY, 32 Lafayette Place, New York, have just brought out a book that will attract considerable attention, entitled "History of the Carnegie Steel Company." It is written by James Howard Bridge, who was at one time secretary to Mr. Carnegie, and before he came to this country in 1886, or thereabouts, secretary to Herbert Spencer. The claim is made that the book contains much that is new about the famous fight between Mr. Carnegie and H. C. Frick. The book is published in two styles—an edition of fifty copies at $100 each, and one of 450 copies at $25 each.

THE ORMERIL COMPANY, Caxton Building, Cleveland, announces that they have purchased from D. Appleton & Co. the plates of their well-known Collection of Foreign Authors. This series embraces translations from some of the leading recent French and German writers of fiction, such as Gautier, Theu-riet and Heyse, and it is the intention of the Ormeril Company to greatly extend the series by adding translations from the best modern writers of Spain, Italy and other European countries. All the volumes of the present series are out of print and new editions will be issued at once. "Samuel Brohl & Company," from the French of Victor Cherbuliez, will be ready early in September, and others will follow at short intervals.

HINDS & NOBLE, 31 West Fifteenth Street, New York, will publish this month "A New School Management," by Dr. Levi Seeley, of the State Normal School of Trenton, N. J.; "The Groundwork of Psychology," by Dr. G. F. Stout; "The Best American Orations of To-day," compiled by Harriet Blackstone; "Selected Readings from the Most Popular Novels," compiled by William Mather Lewis, of Lake Forest University; a new edition of "The Worth of Words," by Dr. Ralcy Husted Bell; "An Open Door to Cæsar," by Dr. Harrison D. Cannon; "A Manual Training Record Book," by John J. Quinn; a new edition of "How to Study Literature," by Benjamin A. Heydrick; also, "The Writing of Good Books," by M. L. Radford, of the University of Chicago.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish in September Justin Huntly McCarthy's new novel, "The Proud Prince." A few days after its publication in book form the play made from the story of Mr. McCarthy will be presented by Daniel Frohman on the stage in New York, with Mr. Sothorn in the title rôle. The title of Mrs. Margaret Deland's new volume of Old Chester stories, which will be published in the autumn by the Harpers, has been changed from "Old Chester Folk" to

"Dr. Lavender's People." Dr. Lavender, it will be remembered by readers of Mrs. Deland's previous volume of "Old Chester Tales," is the broad-minded and broad-hearted old country clergyman who forms the connecting link between all of this author's Chester stories.

CAMPION & Co., Philadelphia, have in preparation a new book on colonial and early American history entitled "The Life and Times of Thomas Smith, 1745-1809," by Burton Alva Konkle. Justice Smith, whom Chief-Justice Sharswood considered the greatest land lawyer on the Supreme Court bench of Pennsylvania, was a member of the Continental Congress, and was probably the most eminent representative of the moderate party who lived in the mountain home of the popular and Presbyterian radical party, led by George Bryan, of Philadelphia, during that long and bitterest of contests over the Constitution of 1776 and its single-branch legislature in Pennsylvania. The volume will have an introduction by the Hon. Hampton L. Carson, Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, and a number of portraits and maps.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish shortly a new book by James L. Ford, author of "The Literary Shop," which will be entitled "The Brazen Calf." Many of the papers contained in this book have already appeared in The Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia under the title "Our American Snobs." They treat of that grade of modern society known as the "Four Hundred," but the satire is not directed at that group of well-advertised aristocrats, but rather at those persons who, not knowing them in the flesh, nevertheless devote a great deal of time to reading and talking about them. The scenes of Mr. Ford's story are laid in a New York boarding house, and the feverish interest manifested by the boarders in the comings and goings of those who constitute the "Four Hundred" in fashionable weddings and other great functions is amusingly described. They have just brought out the eleventh volume of their "New International Encyclopædia." The distinguishing feature of this volume seems to be the number and fulness of biographical sketches, among which the more important are those of Abraham Lincoln, General Robert E. Lee, James Russell Lowell, Luther and the late President McKinley. Other subjects treated with fulness are Latin language and literature, law and legislation, leather, libraries, life insurance and life saving, light, literary property, lithography, locomotive, logic, magnetism, maize, maps, marine and marriage. The subjects of geographical importance are Leipzig, London, Louisiana, Louisville, Lübeck, Luzerne, Luzon, Maine, Manitoba, Maryland and Massachusetts. There are 11 maps, 7 color plates and 32 engravings.

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—The plates, printed stock and furniture of Lewis, Scribner & Co. will be sold at public auction under the direction of Dudley Dupignac, trustee, at 113 Leonard Street, August 21, at 10:30 A.M.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-wrappers subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

MR. JACK LONDON'S NEW NOVEL The Call of the Wild

"THE WHOLE STORY is vital with interest."

—NEW YORK HERALD.

"A STORY THAT GRIPS the reader deeply. It is art, it is literature."

—MAIL AND EXPRESS, New York.

"A PICTURE that in its wonderful imaginative quality stands quite alone . . . altogether a most exceptional book."

—COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER, New York.

"MARVELLOUSLY INTERESTING. . . . It is written in masterly fashion. There are whole pages that thrill like poetry, whole passages that glow with splendid truth."

—THE LOUISVILLE TIMES.

"EVEN THE MOST LISTLESS READER will be stirred by the virile force of the story, the strong sweeping strokes with which the pictures of the northern wilds and the life therein are painted by the narrator.

. . . More than that, it is one of the very best stories of the year, and one that will not be forgotten."

—THE PLAIN DEALER, Cleveland.

"A BIG STORY IN SOBER

ENGLISH and with thorough art in the construction . . . a wonderfully perfect bit of work . . . a book that will be heard of. The dog adventures are as exciting as any man's exploits could be, and Mr. London's workmanship is wholly satisfying."

—THE NEW YORK SUN.

"THE STORY IS ONE THAT WILL STIR THE BLOOD of every lover of a life in its closest relation to nature. Whoever loves the open or adventure for its own sake will find 'The Call of the Wild' a most fascinating book."

—THE BROOKLYN EAGLE.

"IN THE FIRST PARAGRAPHS of this superb story the reader's interest is irresistibly aroused and attention is held enchained to the end . . . here is excitement to stir the blood, here is picturesque color to transport the reader to primitive scenes . . . and here is excellence of literary workmanship deserving of unreserved praise."

—THE PRESS, Philadelphia.

"IT IS A TRIUMPH . . . THE STORY IS THE THING AND IT IS A FINE ONE."—THE EVENING SUN, New York.

WILL GIVE

$3,000 to Newsdealers

2d Competition

Our first prize competition, in which prizes amounting to $3,300 were given to newsdealers, was such a success that we are going to give another, in which a like amount will be given to dealers who sell the greatest number of AINSLEE'S for September, October, and November. Any dealer who hustles cannot fail to win a prize. Call the attention of your magazine readers to AINSLEE'S. Display the posters and distribute the advertising matter we send you, and you will be astonished to see how rapidly your sales will increase. Watch your stock and when you see it running low, re-order so as to have a fresh supply before your first order is exhausted.

Dealers will be classed, in this second competition, according to the number of copies of the August number they sold. In case they did not sell any of this number, they will be placed in Class D. Therefore, even though you do not handle AINSLEE'S at present, you are eligible to compete, if you order a supply of the September number, and do your best to increase your sales on the succeeding issues.

The classes are as follows :

Class A.—50 Prizes of $10.00 Each

The 50 dealers who sold 25 or more copies of the August number of AINSLEE'S, and who sell the greatest number of copies of the September, October, and November numbers will receive $10.00 each.

Class B.—150 Prizes of $5.00 Each

The 150 dealers who sold from 10 to 24 copies of the August number of AINSLEE'S, and who sell the greatest number of copies of the September, October, and November numbers will receive $5.00 each.

Class C.—150 Prizes of $5.00 Each

The 150 dealers who sold from 5 to 9 copies of the August number of AINSLEE'S, and who sell the greatest number of copies of the September, October, and November numbers will receive $5.00 each.

Class D.—200 Prizes of $5.00 Each

The 200 dealers who sold 1 to 4 copies of the August number of AINSLEE'S, and who sell the greatest number of copies of the September, October, and November numbers will receive $5.00 each.

A $5.00 or $10.00 prize is worth working for. Are you with us? If so, send for advertising matter to help your sales.

Nearly ReadyTHE*Publishers' Trade List Annual 1903

will comprise the lists of upwards of three hundred publishers—over eighty lists more than the work has before contained—which will greatly enhance its value to the bookseller as an inexpensive work of reference for books in print. Notwithstanding the increase in size, the price will be as heretofore, $2, and to those subscribing and paying in advance, $1.50.

NEW SUPPLEMENTARY INDEX

We are preparing this year a supplement to the Index volume of last year, which will include (1) the titles of the books of those publishers who were not represented in last year's Catalogues volume ; (2) the titles of the new books published since the issue of last year's Trade List Annual by the publishers represented in the 1902 and 1903 volumes ; and (3) the titles which were reported too late for insertion in last year's Index volume, as well as corrections, etc.

Supplementary Index, 1 vol., about 200 pages, 8vo.,
cloth, $2. After Publication, $2.50.

Only enough copies of the Supplementary Index will be printed to supply the demand from those who purchased last year's INDEX, and to bind up with the small number of the remaining copies of last year's INDEX, into a comprehensive volume of about 1300 pages, which will be priced at $5 for copies paid for in advance of publication, or $6 thereafter.

The prices in every case are net, and do not include carriage. Orders, with remittance, should be placed now. Directions for enclosure delivery in New York should accompany the order, unless shipment is to be by express at the charge of the subscriber. Address

PUBLISHERS are gradually realizing the importance of two vital facts, especially when contemplating having large editions bound.

FIRST—To have their books bound in the best possible manner.

SECOND—To save enough money thereon as will guarantee an enormous annual extra dividend.

You are certainly not averse to making money. Ask me to submit samples and estimates. You will then follow the lead of some of the best publishing houses who find it profitable to give me their work.

 But 500 copies have been printed and there are no plates.

The attention of State libraries, of the central public libraries, and of foreign libraries is especially called to this publication, but it is also important to that larger number of libraries which cannot undertake to collect the State publications even of their own State, and yet should be able to inform students and inquirers as to what is to be found in the publications of their own State and of other States. What New York and Massachusetts are doing in forestry, for instance, is of importance in all States and to foreign students of the subject.

"OPPENHEIM'S BEST NOVEL"

A Prince of Sinners

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Author of "The Traitors," etc.

Harry Thurston Peck, Editor of "The Bookman," says of this popular novel:

"A well compacted and exceedingly interesting story of English political and social life, making no demands upon one's credulity, but satisfying the requirements in the way of a thoroughly good novel. The characters are all drawn with real fidelity to life."

"To-day," London, says:

"It is by far the best and most thoughtful of his numerous novels."

B. O. Flower, Editor of "The Arena," says:

"Unquestionably one of the very best volumes of fiction of the year."

NEW FICTION

READY SEPTEMBER FIRST

THE MILLIONAIRE'S SON

A Novel

By ANNA ROBESON BROWN

Author of "The Immortal Garland," "The Cosmopolitan Comedy,"
"Truth and a Woman," "Sir Mark," etc.

THE story of a young man's struggle to choose between the material advantages of wealth, questionably obtained and ostentatiously spent, and the higher claims of social service. This novel is a study in temperament and heredity, and a brilliant satire on social conditions in America. But first of all it is an absorbing story, told with remarkable facility and power. The central situation on which the plot turns is one of the most original in modern fiction. Illustrated with full-page drawings by A. E. Becher.

READY SEPTEMBER FIFTEENTH

FLORESTANE, THE TROUBADOUR

A Romance

By JULIA DE WOLF ADDISON

THIS novel carries the reader back to the Middle Ages, with their Courts of Love, minstrels, jongleurs, knights, and crusaders, and introduces among its characters Dante, Cimabue, Sordello, and other celebrated men. The atmosphere is that of chivalric ideals, with a background of medieval color and romance. The book is crowded with exciting episodes; once taken up, it will not easily be laid aside until finished. It combines every element of a successful novel, not omitting to mention the mechanical requisites of attractive binding and typography.

His most successful novel

GORDON KEITH

THE extraordinary sales of this novel during the late spring and all summer fully justify this prediction of the N. Y. Times Saturday Review:

"It is not only racy and admirable as fiction, but historically valuable as a study of actual conditions and ethically elevating in its ideals. Like all Mr. Page has written, it is on the side of 'whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure.' It deserves the large public it is sure to have, and will leave them the better for the reading."

JOHN FOX, Jr.

Early in September we shall publish in book form

The LITTLE SHEPHERD of KINGDOM COME

FROM the start the great success of this novel is assured. No serial for many years has attracted more enthusiastic comment, North and South. This is owing to many attractive qualities, but above all to the simplicity and pathos of its characters and the admirable writing, which Mr. Fox has shown on every page. He has pictured sympathetically boy life among the Kentucky mountaineers; life at a blue-grass college in the simple days before the war; class feeling between the mountaineer and the "furriner," which persists to the present day; the way in which Kentucky was rent asunder by the Civil War; and the romantic glory of Morgan's men. The whole book is bound together by a beautiful love-story.

Beautifully illustrated by F. C. Yohn

FREDERICK
PALMER

A remarkably vivid and interesting novel. Ready early in September

THE VACABOND

THE first novel of a man already distinguished as a correspondent, and known to many readers as the author of "Ways of the Service": a novel into which the Civil War enters, though both the character of its plot and its chief strength are determined by the individuality of its hero, a memorable character whose search for "a mountain, a mine, and a girl" is strenuous and concentrated enough to belie his nickname. Mr. Palmer's fighting has about it neither nonsense nor exaggeration.

NOTES IN SEASON.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready "The Vagabond," by Frederick Palmer; and "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," illustrated by F. C. Yohn. "Gordon Keith," by Thomas Nelson Page, gives every evidence of having started on a most successful career.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. will publish at once "The Castle of Twilight," by Margaret Horton Potter, author of "Uncanonized," illustrated in color by Charles Weber; and "The Star Fairies and Other Tales," by Mrs. Edith Ogden Harrison, illustrated in color by Lucy Fitch Perkins.

DANA ESTES & Co. announce for publication early in September "The Millionaire's Son," by Anna Robeson Brown, a novel of social life to-day, showing the struggle between the temptation to spend wealth for material comfort and the desire to use it in the service of others; and "Florertane the Troubadour," a romance of the days of the Provençal courts of love, by Julia DeWolf Addison.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have now ready "Monsigny," by Justus Miles Forman, author of "Journey's End," already in its eleventh thousand. Monsigny is the name of a magnificent French estate, where the heroine has grown up with an English father and grandfather until the age of twenty, when her quiet, ideal life is suddenly changed. It is called "the romance of the most beautiful woman in Europe."

DODD, MEAD & Co. announce a most attractive list of early fall publications. These include five new novels: "The Sherrods," George Barr McCutcheon's strong story of primitive mountain life, which has won many readers during its serial course in the Bookman; "Katherine Frensham," by Beatrice Harraden, said to be a keen and original study of character; "The Black Shilling," a story of Salem witchcraft days, by Amelia E. Barr; "The Yellow Crayon," by E. Phillips Oppenheim; and "An April Princess," by A. Constance Smedley. There are also two books of wide practical and artistic value in W. D. Ellwanger's volume on "The Oriental Rug," treating authoritatively of Oriental weaves and fabrics; and "Homes and Their Decoration," in which Lillie Hamilton French gives advice and suggestions for all home-makers and home-lovers.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish shortly "His Little World," by Samuel Merwin, who has written a story of the Great Lakes, with a real life who does a real man's work. The novel is described as remarkably fresh and vigorous and alive throughout. This is a tale of a man's love and also a man's power of self-sacrifice, and the motives are said to be developed with peculiar skill, while the local color of the story is exceptionally picturesque, as might be expected from a brilliant writer whose life of observation on the Great Lakes has made him master of a rich field.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will shortly issue "Within the Pale," by Michael Davitt, a true history of anti-Semitic persecution in Russia. Arthur Brisbane writes: "Michael Davitt is a trained observer, and as an Irishman he is farthest removed from any possible suspicion of bias in favor of the Jew. His account of Russia's 'government murders' based on religious hatred and fear of competition will be a valuable addition to the history of our own slow progress towards human decency." In lighter vein will be "His Little World," the story of Hunch Badeau, by Samuel Merwin. Hunch Badeau is a sailor on Lake Michigan, but is also at home amid the buzz and clatter of a great saw-mill. He has a big heart and will make many friends.

"The present work is devoted to the history of Beatrice, Duchess of Milan, who, as the wife of Lodovico Sforza, reigned during six years over the most splendid court of Italy. The charm of her personality, the important part which she played in political life at a critical moment of Italian history, her love of music and poetry, and the fine taste which she inherited, in common with every princess of the house of Este, all help to make Beatrice singularly attractive, while the interest which she inspires is deepened by the pathos of her sudden and early death."—Preface. Beatrice was the younger sister of Isabella d'Este, Marchioness of Mantua.

The work tells the history of the early transformation of the gospel as it came in contact with its early environment, and shows further that the new Bible-study movement of the century has done much to bring Christianity back to its original sources, and with a result of a clearer understanding of the gospel of Jesus than any other age has possessed. Throughout the whole book the author emphasizes the loyalty to Jesus Christ as a governing position in Christian thinking.

The writer believes that Schumann's claims upon the public for recognition as a musician are so great, that the man is little known to us. In presenting his personality, she has sought, by a careful and thorough analysis of his essays and correspondence, to comply with the wish of his late distinguished wife that the man himself should be allowed speech through his writings, and especially his letters. Frequent references have been made to the published and unpublished letters of Robert Schumann.

The writer calls this a "story," but it is really a series of interesting religious discussions between the Rev. Thomas Hopkins, the newly installed pastor of the leading Methodist church of the town of Kempton, and one of the officers of his church, whose liberal interpretation of the teachings of the Bible has caused much adverse criticism. Mr. Hopkins gives Mr. Greenhow a long hearing on the subjects of Satan, death and hell, and finally admits that though his views are apparently unorthodox they are in harmony with the spirit of the Bible.

"The silver poppy" was the title of a novel by which the heroine, a clever western girl, had gained a reputation and became the protégée of a rich New York woman, striving hopelessly to enter the ranks of the "four hundred." The hero is a graduate of Oxford, drifted into the ranks of New York journalism. An old artist plays Deus ex machina and makes some far-reaching discoveries about "The silver poppy." Day and night life in New York City are described by one who is initiated as to the life of various classes of its busy citizens.

"The aim of the present work is to perform what will seem to many the impossible task of covering within the compass of a handy volume the salient features of the history of the British nation as it now stands before the world and on the basis of the fuller information which modern research has made accessible. Though political development has been kept to the front, about one-third of the chapters are devoted to social life. By recognizing the principle that the less important periods may be passed over lightly to leave room for fuller treatment of great eras, the author has tried to avoid the dulness of mere annals."—Preface.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Rand, McNally & Co., employing more than 1000 persons, are preparing to move their two big plants from Chicago in order to escape labor troubles. For some time the company has had several sites under contemplation. Officials of the company say that it was impossible to maintain a plant like theirs in Chicago and meet the demands of the unions and compete with the jobbing trade.

HAMMOND, IND.—W. B. Conkey Company, on account of their large and steadily increasing business, will establish a branch plant at Holland, Ind., employing 600 men and women. The W. B. Conkey Company are among the largest publishers in the United States. Their plant at Hammond covers six acres, and with their new plant they will probably double their output. The company has a capitalization of $2,000,000.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 22, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SALESMEN WITH IDEALS.

A YOUNG man who was about to start on his maiden trip for a large publishing house was asked by the senior member of the firm whether he had confidence in what he was about to undertake. "Certainly," said the young man, "I have been taught that 'he who aims too low aims beneath the sky.'" The old gentleman remarked, "Take care, take care that you don't aim beyond the sky." And much needed advice this is to many another strenuous youth who, as he starts out on his business career, intent upon coming out ahead, shoots at random beyond the sky, and often is in danger of shooting himself. Aiming beyond the sky is quite as useless as aiming at the solid earth. Not that we would discourage a higher than average aim; on the contrary; but the lesson the young man must learn is that the aim must be definite. There must be a plan, a motive, an idea clearly fixed in the mind, to attain to which every nerve should be strained. With an incentive, backed by character, seemingly insurmountable obstacles may be overcome.

Numbers of men leave their schools and homes every year for their ventures in the world without the semblance even of an idea. Year in and year out they do exactly what they are told and not a particle more. They fill their places in the establishment about as the shelves and counters and other store fixtures do, though hardly as uncomplainingly, oblivious of the fact that they exist simply as items of expense, and contribute in no wise to the enlargement of the business. On the other hand, the young man with an incentive, with a definite plan in life, ambitious to be more than a "sweeper in the temple," who reads, thinks and puts two and two together, resolves and plans that his apprenticeship must fit him for a position in which he can have more scope for his energies. He keeps a sharp lookout on all that is hourly occurring around him, and absorbs inspiration from all quarters as Smiles's "Joe Ladle" did, even at the pores. He determines to make himself of so much value to his employers that they will not care to do without him. The secret of his success is not "luck," but his determination to do something definite; to make himself by punctuality, by attention to all the small rules and regulations of the concern, by cleanliness, honesty, sobriety, and by incessant application and enterprise, a power in the business. Any man with tact and application will, other things being equal, be able to reach a certain altitude of success in the commercial world; but the eminence attained will always depend and be in proportion to a previously conceived ideal based on a man's conviction and ability to estimate himself at his true value.

Of course it is essential that a man should know himself thoroughly, and only accept positions for which knowledge and experience have educated him, because if he has false notions of his own value failure is certain. Yet there is danger also in underrating one's self. Indeed, confidence in himself and in the prestige of his house, based on rectitude and on goods of sterling value, should be the salesman's tower of strength. A commercial traveller's sales, as one thoroughly acquainted with the subject has written, "will be much about what his preconceived notion of what they should be; and there is scarcely a limit to the amount if the ambassador's idea is but a high one." It is imperative to keep on aiming upwards, as the result must be in proportion to the object aimed at, hence the well-known figures attained by different men, one man with a high ideal doing treble the amount of business over a poor ground done by another whose standard is a low one. "According to thy faith" is as applicable to business as it is to ethics; and a constant application to doing an honest day's work is as necessary to morals as it is to making a fortune.

A SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM FOR COLUMBIA.

On the 15th inst. President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia, announced that a gift of one million dollars had been made to Columbia University by Joseph Pulitzer, for the establishment and endowment of a school of journalism. It was stated that in founding this school Mr. Pulitzer was carrying out a long-cherished desire to see in existence some effective means of training for journalistic work. The new school will, it is hoped, be ready for students in the autumn of 1904. It is to have a building of its own, for which McKim, Mead & White have been commissioned to make plans, costing about $500,000, when fully equipped; and it is to rank as a professional school with the other university schools of law, medicine, engineering, architecture and teaching. It will be administered by a special faculty of journalism, and will have an advisory board, of which the following members have already been named by Mr. Pulitzer: Nicholas Murray Butler, White-law Reid, John Hay, St. Clair McKelway, Andrew D. White, Victor F. Lawson, General Charles H. Taylor and President Eliot, of Harvard. These members, with others to be selected later, will be formally nominated by the trustees of Columbia at their meeting in October. A committee consisting of President Butler and Professors Burgess, Peck, Brander Matthews, Giddings and G. R. Carpenter has already been appointed to present a report to the University Council on the organization and academic relations of the school.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MOSES POLOCK.

MOSES POLOCK, the oldest publisher and bookseller in the United States, died on August 16, at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Morris Rosenbach, 1409 North Eighteenth Street, Philadelphia. He was born in Philadelphia, May 14, 1817. He was seventy-two years in the book trade. In 1831 he entered the bookstore of McCarty & Davis, located on the north side of Market Street, near Fourth. He remained in their employ until the death of both members of the firm, and in 1850 he continued the business under his own name at 406 Commerce Street, in which location he had been ever since.

The business of Moses Polock can trace a direct descent from 1790 in the following order:

- 1, Jacob Johnson, 1790-1808.
- 2, Johnson & Warner, 1808-1815.
- 3, Benjamin Warner, 1815-1818.
- 4, Executors of above, to 1824.
- 5, McCarty & Davis, 1824-1841.
- 6, Thomas Davis, 1841-1850.
- 7, Moses Polock, 1850-1903.

As a publisher Moses Polock came in contact with the most celebrated literary men of his day. He issued many books in fiction, the drama and in general literature. In 1857 he published the first collected edition of the works of Charles Brockden Brown. About this time he engaged in selling old and rare books, and he was the first dealer in the United States that dealt exclusively in them, particularly in Americana. Mr. Polock was an authority on this subject, and bibliographers have not failed to acknowledge the assistance he has rendered them. Most of the great American libraries were indebted to his collections, including James Lenox, the founder of the Lenox Library; John Carter Brown, of Providence, R. I.; George Brinley and the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. During the last fifty years his shop was frequented by book-lovers from all over the country, but in recent years he made little effort to sell his treasures, and gathered together a collection of the rarest and choicest books relating to this country. His fine collection of Washingtoniana is well known.

In 1895 he sold at auction a collection of books printed by Benjamin Franklin, the sale attracting wide attention. He was more of a booklover than a dealer, and parted reluctantly, if at all, with his books. His knowledge of the early history of Pennsylvania, and particularly of Philadelphia, was most profound, and historians constantly applied to him for assistance.

NOAH BROOKS, one of the oldest of American writers, died August 16 in Pasadena, Cal., where he had lived for a year in strict incognito. Although he had money and servants, he almost became a hermit, and refused to tell who he was. No relative or friend was near him when he died and his housekeeper did not know anything about him. The cause of his death is unknown. Noah Brooks was born in 1830, at Castine, Me. He had a varied career. Beginning as a newspaper man in Boston, when he was twenty years old, he had been a newspaper proprietor in California, a war correspondent, a newspaper worker on other Western and Eastern journals, a naval officer, and a writer of a number of boys' books and several biographical, political and historical studies. Among his literary works are: "Boy Emigrants," "The Fairport Nine," "Our Baseball Club," "Abraham Lincoln," "The Boy Settlers," "The Story of Marco Polo" and "Scribner's History of the United States." Mr. Brooks began his newspaper career in Boston in 1850. He went to California in 1859, and with Benjamin P. Avery established The Marysville Appeal. From 1862 to 1865 Brooks was a war correspondent for The Sacramento Union. He became a naval officer of the port of San Francisco in 1865-'66. After that he plunged into newspaper work once more, and became managing editor of The Alta Californian, which position he held from 1866 to 1871. He then came East and worked on the staff of The New York Tribune from 1871 to 1875. He afterward went to The New York Times, where he remained until 1884. He then became editor of The Newark Advertiser, and kept this place until 1894. Mr. Brooks leaves a large estate.

LEWIS G. BELL, of the J. P. Bell Company, Lynchburg, Va., died suddenly on August 10.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MARGARET E. SANGSTER is editing an important new series of books for Messrs. A. S. Barnes & Co., of which announcement will be made later.

PROFESSOR EDWARD MIMS, of Trinity College, N. C., has been selected to prepare the life of Sidney Lanier, which is to be included in the American Men of Letters series.

ELLEN GLASGOW has found a summer home in a small village well up in the Alps, where she is now engaged in writing the last chapters of "The Deliverance," which Doubleday, Page & Co. have announced for publication in December or January. The new novel is said to most resemble "The Voice of the People" of any of the novels she has written.

ALFRED HENRY LEWIS has just completed, for publication later in the season by A. S. Barnes & Co., a remarkable story of city life, entitled "The Boss," in which he gives the inner story of boss rule, "graft" and the conduct of "the organization." The subject is certainly timely, and the author's name is guarantee of the satisfactory manner in which it will be handled.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

ONE of the best stories written by B. L. Farjeon, who died only a short time ago, was a children's story. It has been secured by the publishers of St. Nicholas, and will figure as the chief serial in that periodical during the coming year.

THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH contributes to the September Scribner's a sketch of an old book-lover, who for many years haunted the book shops in Boston, and who wrote little essays in the manner of Charles Lamb, which he signed "Tom Folio."

A PROJECT is afoot to establish in New York a Roman Catholic newspaper, under the title of the National Catholic. If the present plan is carried out the first issue of the paper will appear on Saturday, October 3. The intention is to place the new publication under the direction of Dominic I. Murphy, the present editor of the New Century, a Catholic weekly published in Washington. It is said that a number of Catholic financiers in New York have signified their intention of backing the project. The idea is to have the National Catholic appear semi-weekly at first and eventually develop into a daily publication.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. call special attention to E. Phillips Oppenheim's "A Prince of Sinners," which is meeting with great success among people whose opinion is of value.

E. J. CLODE, New York City, has just ready "The Wings of Morning," by Louis Tracy, a novel of strong human interest, dealing with China Sea pirates, shipwreck and adventures in Malay, and full of interesting live people and unhackneyed adventures and romance.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready the following books recently announced: Nimrod's

"Memoirs of the Life of John Mytton," "The Tour of Dr. Syntax in Search of the Picturesque," "Animal Studies," by Jordan, Kellogg and Heath; "The British Nation," by George M. Wrong; "The Silver Poppy," by Arthur Stringer; and "Essays and Addresses," by Jules Cambon, ambassador from France to the United States.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY will bring out Anthony Hope's "Quisanté" as No. 37 in the very successful People's Library. This book is one of the author's best efforts at character delineation. The foreigner, Alexander Quisanté, whom Mary Gaston marries against the wishes of her entire family, is drawn with great skill, and the social and political life of London makes an excellent setting for the original characters.

HENRY CAREY BAIRD & Co. report that while their book, Flemming's "Practical Tanning," has proved a pronounced success at home, they have filled orders for it from Canada, Mexico, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Russia, Turkey, Australia and Japan. The American processes of tanning are at present attracting world-wide attention, and for fifty years Henry Carey Baird & Co. have been publishers of books on tanning, having during that time issued five different elaborate treatises on the subject.

MCCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will make notable contributions to fiction during September. Among the earliest comers will be "The Adventures of Gerard," by A. Conan Doyle, stories of a brigadier in Napoleon's army; "The Long Night," by Stanley J. Weyman, a tale of Geneva in the early days of the seventeenth century; "In Babel," short stories by George Ade on life in Chicago, which is the "Babel;" "The Master Rogue," the confessions of a Cræsus, by David Graham Phillips; and a new juvenile by Joel Chandler Harris, entitled "Wally Wanderoon and His Story-Telling Machine," which promises to be among the most popular of the holiday books.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready an attractive new edition of Bayard Taylor's "Story of Kennett," that charming story of old-time village life which has kept its hold on a generation of readers. It is illustrated from photographs giving views of the old Pennsylvania tour of Kennett Square. They have also published "Limanora, the Island of Progress," in which Godfrey Sveven has given a sequel to his "Riallaro," published a year or two ago. Like its predecessor, it is both a satire and an allegory, describing a Darwinian experiment in artificial selection on a Southern Pacific archipelago, where various communities are established of morally diseased and normally healthy persons.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. are about to add to their various issues of Rudyard Kipling's works an illustrated edition of "The Light That Failed," with scenes from the dramatized version which is to be produced in September with Forbes Robertson and Miss Gertrude Elliott in the leading rôles. "The Pit," Frank Norris's story novel of wheat speculation, is also to be put upon the stage this autumn, and a complete memorial edition of Norris's works will be brought out at the same time. The same house has issued the third part of "The Poultry Book," in close succession to Part II. This section has mainly to do with incubating and rearing, and is written by Thomas F. McGrew and James E. Rice, of New York State. The colored plates of this number, by Harrison Weir, are unusually fine.

BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY will shortly publish "The Fortunes of Fifi," by Molly Eliot Seawell, a delicious little comedy in which gay humor, a pretty sentiment and some very amusing situations all find a place. Later they will issue "The City of the King," a description of the Holy Land by Mrs. Lew Wallace; "His Pa's Romance," a volume of poems by James Whitcomb Riley; and several juveniles of great importance. Among the fiction under way may be mentioned "Tomorrow's Tangle," a story of life in California at the time of the gold craze of 1849, by Geraldine Bonner; "She That Hesitates," by Harris Dickson, author of "The Black Wolf's Breed;" "The Torch," a romance of college life, by Herbert M. Hopkins; and "The Way to the West," by Emerson Hough, author of "The Mississippi Bubble."

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have a long and notable list of fall announcements. "Parsifal," Wagner's great music drama, as retold by Oliver Huckel, will be brought out in handsome form, with illustrations by Stassen and special type designs by the Merrymont Press; and there will be handsome holiday editions of "Henry Esmond," "Tom Brown's School Days" and "Tom Brown at Oxford." A volume full of historical and personal interest is promised in Geraldine Brooks's "Romances of Colonial Days," with illustrations by Becher, while attractive form will be given to "A Little Book of Poets' Parleys," by Charlotte Porter and Helen A. Clarke; and "Joy and Power," by Henry Van Dyke. The complete works of Adelaide Procter and of Edmund Spenser will be issued in standard form, and new issues in the Handy Volume sets are "Don Quixote" and the "Pembroke" edition of Shakespeare, while the complete works of the Brontë sisters, of Fielding and of Smollett will appear in the series of standard sets. There will be attractive new books for young people in the Children's Favorite Classics and the Twentieth Century Juveniles, among them a new collection of Æsop's fables, a special edition of "Pilgrim's Progress," and stories by Anna Chapin Ray, Mary F. Leonard, Evelyn Raymond, and other popular writers.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish the following fiction in October: "Daphne," by Margaret Sherwood, a fanciful idyl, full of a sense of the genial pagan spirit, telling the love story of an American girl in Italy; "Long Will," a story of life in England in the century of Chaucer, by Florence Converse, with illustrations; "Leslie Chilton," by Eliza Orne White, a love story with much clever conversation by people holding opposite opinions as to the position of women; "The Little Chevalier," by M. E. M. Davis, a romance of the French regime in New Orleans in the early xviiith century; also, "A Listener in Babel," by Vida D. Scudder, a series of imaginary conversations dealing vigorously with the great social questions of the day from the standpoint of a noble idealism. They also promise for October a collection of essays by Thomas Bailey Aldrich, entitled "Ponkapog Papers;" "The Gentle Reader," by Samuel M. Crothers, who has resurrected the delightful literary guardian little heard of since Thackeray's day, and treated him much as Holmes treated the "Autocrat;" "Essays on Great Writers," by Henry D. Sedgwick, Jr.; nine essays dealing with Macaulay, Thackeray, Scott, D'Annunzio, Montaigne and others; "Comments of Dante's Divina Commedia by John Ruskin," now first collected by Charles Eliot Norton; "The Great Poets of Italy," a readable handbook of Italian poetry, with translations by Oscar Kuhns; "Henry Ward Beecher," a study and interpretation of the great preacher's life and character, by Lyman Abbott; also, "Reminiscences of an Astronomer," the autobiography of Professor Simon Newcomb, one of America's most eminent astronomers.

HARPER & BROTHERS will bring out early in September a new volume by W. D. Howells, to be called "Letters Home." This is a novel of modern American life, told in a series of letters written to their homes by a group of people living in New York, whose impressions of New York society and whose tangled love affairs are depicted with all the cleverness and insight of this veteran observer. "The Heart of Hyacinth" is a new romance of Japanese life by Onoto Watanna, issued uniform with last year's charming edition of that author's "A Japanese Nightingale." It is the romance of an American girl born in Japan and brought up in a Japanese environment, and it is decorated with marginal drawings in tint by a Japanese artist and with many colored illustrations. Robert W. Chambers will have a new romance, called "The Maids of Paradise," set in the days of the Franco-Prussian War, in an idyllic French village, and having for its central figures an adventurous American and a young French countess. Other September fiction includes "A Candle of Understanding," by Elizabeth Bisland, a love story of Mississippi and New York; a volume of striking short stories by Margaret Briscoe, called "The Change of Heart," and "Judgment," a story of strong dramatic interest, by Alice Brown. The third volume is announced of Poultney Bigelow's history of "The Struggle for German Liberty," and Maeterlinck's much-discussed drama, "Monna Vanna," will be brought out in an English translation. The new fall juvenile books are most attractive. Robert Chambers will follow his "Outdoorland" with a companion volume on "Orchardland," full of nature fancy, and illustrated in color and black and white by R. B. Birch. There will be a new book by Gertrude Smith, called "The Stories of Peter and Ellen;" Thomas Nelson Page's "Two Prisoners" will be issued in a new holiday edition; and two books full of childish fun are announced in Nevill Cain's "Fairies' Circus" and Oron von Gottschalk's "Innocent Industries."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-verse subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of free nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word (Cash).

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Early in September Messrs. A. S. Barnes & Co. will publish

His Little World

The Story of Hunch Badeau

By SAMUEL MERWIN

Author of "The Road to Frontenac," joint author of "Calumet K," etc.

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.25

THOSE who like genuine manhood will like Hunch Badeau. He lives in a country full of interest and incident, on the shore of Lake Michigan. He is a sailor, but he is also at home amid the buzz and clatter of the great saw-mills. He knows love, and he knows friendship. He doesn't preach, in fact his language isn't fitted to the pulpit, but unconsciously, and prompted simply by the bigness of his heart, he exemplifies the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount. Many things happen in this novel. Some of them are exciting, some pathetic, some humorous. This story is fresh, strong and real, and it takes hold. Readers will like it, and they will remember Hunch Badeau.

Later in September there will be published in America and in England Mr. Michael Davitt's Dramatic History

Within the Pale

The true history of Anti-Semitic persecution in Russia.
A civil war against a race and its effect on America.

By MICHAEL DAVITT

$1.20 net.

MR. ARTHUR BRISBANE writes:

"No man can describe the conditions in Russia better than Michael Davitt. He is a trained observer, and as an Irishman he is farthest removed from any possible suspicion of bias in favor of the Jews. His account of Russia's "government murders," based on religious hatred and fear of competition, will be a valuable addition to the history of our own slow progress toward human decency."

PUBLISHERS are gradually realizing the importance of two vital facts, especially when contemplating having large editions bound.

FIRST—To have their books bound in the best possible manner.

SECOND—To save enough money thereon as will guarantee an enormous annual extra dividend.

You are certainly not averse to making money. Ask me to submit samples and estimates. You will then follow the lead of some of the best publishing houses who find it profitable to give me their work.

A Word to the Bookseller

*It is not our business to teach you your business.
But we may be able to give you some pointers on selling our books. From time to time we shall make an attempt on this page.*

What will be the good selling books in September?
We can give a guess at some.

Everyone will want A. CONAN DOYLE'S latest in which delightfully egotistic old Gerard tells the experiences of his youth, when he was a brigadier in Napoleon's army. These tales of adventures in love and war, following the Little Corporal through all his campaigns, are told with stirring swiftness and sharpness. The grizzled old hero-veteran is a splendid loveable character, quite as good in his way as Sherlock Holmes. The book is illustrated by W. B. Wollen.

The Adventures of Gerard

DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS has a peculiarly trenchant way of presenting types and phases of American life. His amusing social satire "Golden Fleece" was one of the "best selling books" last season. His new book to be brought out this month, has all the characteristics of Mr. Phillips' other work. It is the confessions of a Croesus and tells of a man whose greed for gold so enslaved him that he lost all moral sense, becoming a beast of prey, a social pariah, and commercial cormorant. The book presents a picture of American commercialism not easily forgotten, and is of unusual power, because of its truthfulness. There are pictures by Gordon H. Grant.

As a laugh provoker and wielder of original slang, GEORGE ADE needs no introduction. In his new book which is a series of brief vivid tales of life in and about Chicago, he presents himself in a different light. These little hammer-stroke stories are told in pure English, and are full of remarkable realism. They are affectingly human, and in not a few the author invites you to weep with him. They epitomize, with surprising force and inclusiveness, life, above and below, in the great western metropolis.

Good romance never lacks readers, and of the highest type of romance is STANLEY WEYMAN'S latest book

The Long Night

This story of love, war, witchcraft, and alchemy in old Geneva sweeps you along breathlessly from incident to incident. Your interest in the young heroine, accused of witchcraft, and the theological student, her lover, rises steadily to the last pages, where in a chapter of whirlwind fighting, he saves the town, and rescues her from her accusers. You lay the book down convinced that Weyman is the master romancer. The pictures are by Solomon J. Solomon.

Grown ups, as well as children, welcome the stories of JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS. His

contains something to satisfy all. The idea of the "story-telling machine" binds together a sheaf of as charmingly sweet and imaginative tales as the creator of "Uncle Remus" ever wrote. The quaint illustrations by Karl Moseley are rarely original and artistic. They will unfailingly delight children. The book is uniform in make up with "Aaron in the Wild Woods," and "Mr. Thimblefinger."

The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come

By JOHN FOX, JR.

MR. FOX'S novel in book form is an assured success from the very start. No serial for many years has attracted more enthusiastic comment from a wide circle of readers, North and South. It owes its success to many attractive qualities, but above all to the simplicity and pathos of its characters and the admirable writing which Mr. Fox has shown on every page. He has pictured sympathetically boy life among the Kentucky mountaineers; life at a blue-grass college in the simple days before the war; class feeling between the mountaineer and the "furriner," which persists to the present day; the way in which Kentucky was rent asunder by the Civil War; and the romantic glory of Morgan's men. The whole book is bound together by a beautiful love-story.

Beautifully illustrated by F. C. YOUNG. 12mo, $1.50.

(Ready September 5th)

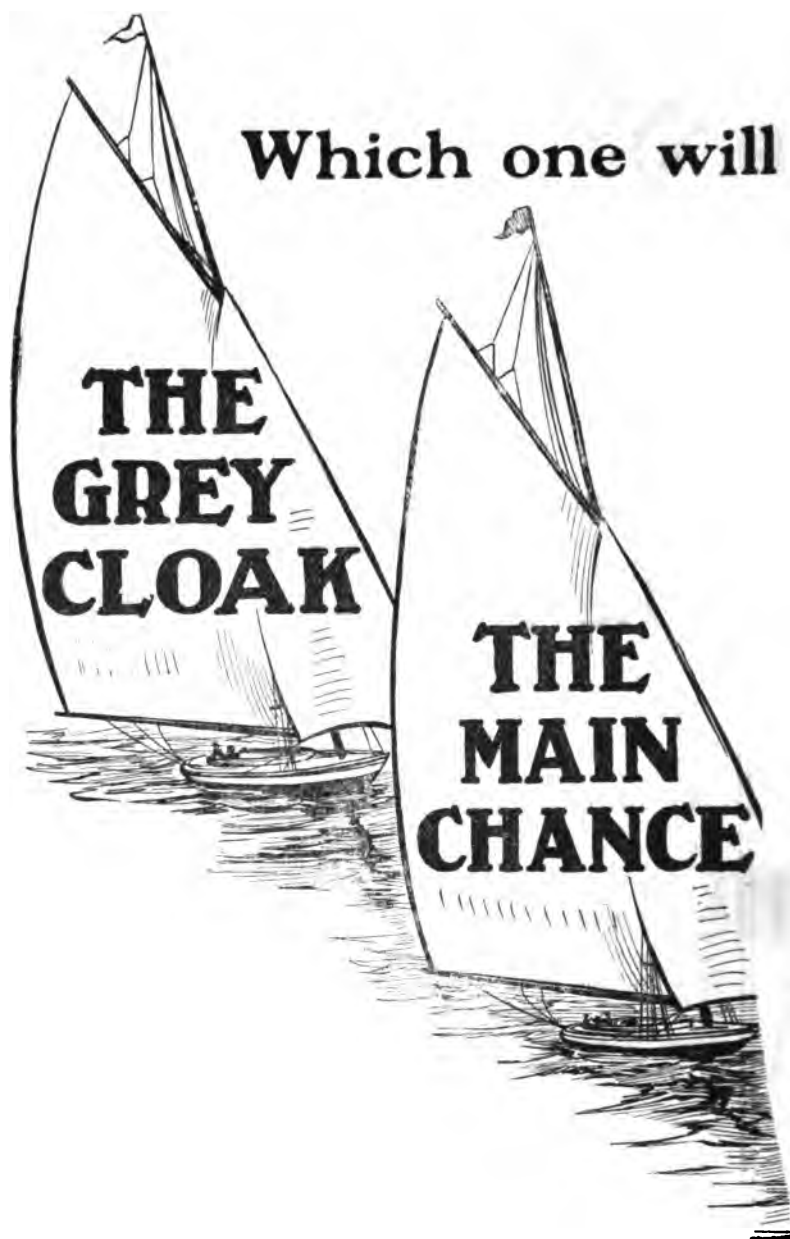

A Remarkably Vivid and Interesting Novel by FREDERICK PALMER

THE VAGABOND

MR. PALMER'S story is the first novel of a man already distinguished as a correspondent, and known to many readers by a series of strong short stories. "The Vagabond" is a story into which the Civil War enters, though both the character of its plot and its chief strength are determined not so much by this as by the individuality of its hero—a memorable character whose "search for a mountain, a mine, and a girl" is strenuous and concentrated enough to belie his ironical nickname. The peculiar vividness of his pictures of the war and of the men of the Volunteer Army are characteristic of Mr. Palmer, whose fighting has about it neither nonsense nor exaggeration.

Strikingly illustrated by HARRISON FISHER. 12mo, $1.50.

NEW HARPER PUBLICATIONS

The Maids of Paradise

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

Author of "The Maid-at-Arms," etc.

Mr. Chambers's romances are probably the most satisfying of their kind now appearing in America. His adventure carries one along with a sweep and a whirl that are irresistible; his love scenes have a charm, a tenderness, and a convincing reality that raise them far above the meetings of lovers in contemporary fiction. Paradise is an idyllic French village, and the maids thereof live in the stirring days of the Franco-Prussian War. Fighting is rife through many of these pages, but the dominant note is love, and the romance is the happiest that the author has done.

Illustrated by André Castaigne and others. $1.50

THE CHANGE OF HEART

By

MARGARET SUTTON BRISCOE

*Author of "Jimty, and Others,"
"The Sixth Sense," etc.*

These are six captivating love stories by one of our best-known short-story writers, whose cheerful optimism and genuine belief in the highest ideals make her romances at once inspiring and satisfying. The stories deal with gentlefolk, and in each one some tangled love affair or similar situation is unfolded with delicate ingenuity.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BRENTANO's have a new edition of George Moore's successful novel, "A Mummer's Wife," which is a realistic novel in the best sense of this much mis-used word.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish "The Sherrods," George Barr McCutcheon's new novel, on September 4. The new "Elsie" book is to be called "Elsie and Her Loved Ones."

D. APPLETON & Co. have just sent us "The Law of Life," by Anna McClure Sholl; "Anthony Wayne," by John A. Spears; "Practical Journalism," by E. L. Shuman; and "American Railway Transportation," by Emory R. Johnson.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have just issued "Ritschlianism: Expository and Critical Essays," by James Orr, of Glasgow College of the United Free Church of Scotland; and

"The Religious Sense in Its Scientific Light," by Dr. Greville Macdonald.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. will issue September 1 "The Mills of Man," by Philip Payne, a story of politics in Chicago in 1903. The characters, which include the "boss," the "trimmer," the trading millionaire, the practical idealist and the dreaming journalist, are all men and women of to-day, alive and typically American.

BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have four books that are running a close race with one another on the sea of fiction. The publishers themselves are still in doubt which will "lift the cup." The last report reads: "Under the Rose" leads; "The Grey Cloak" gains on the beat out; "The Filigree Ball" forges steadily to the front; but look out for "The Main Chance."

W. B. CONKEY, Hammond, Ind., are among the largest manufacturers of books in the world. Their immense plant enables them to turn out books very well made and at marvellously low prices. The Abbey Series, now including 400 volumes, is a case in point. It is a collection of popular priced 12mos, containing standard books always in demand, the staples of the book business. The books are very neatly made, and do not have a cheap look at all.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish at once "The Thoughtless Thoughts of Carisabel Carrington Cabell," thirty genial satires on the "new man," servants, dinner parties, should men marry?, original sin, etc.; and "Ferns," a manual for the Northeastern States, by C. E. Waters, of Johns Hopkins. This house is now handling the second impression of "A Duke and His Double;" and of "Cheerful Americans;" the third impression of "Red-Headed Gill;" and the ninth impression of "The Lightning Conductor."

T. Y. CROWELL's timely book on "Parsifal," by Oliver Huckel, is now ready. Mr. Huckel is an Oxford and Berlin scholar, who has made a special study of the opera at Bayreuth. He has retold its story in spirited blank verse which must rank with the best recent poetic achievement. The typography and workmanship of the volume are in keeping with its contents. The special type designs in black and red, and characteristic illustrations by Stassen, aid in making the book a pleasure to the eye.

SAALFIELD PUBLISHING Co., Akron, O., have now ready "Under Mad Anthony's Banner," by James Ball Naylor; "The Man in the Camlet Cloak," by Carlen Bateson; "Character Reading," by Mrs. Symes, a neat little book which will amuse many; and "Myths of the Rhine," by X. B. Saintine, a record of the superstitions and traditions of the Rhine country. The children have also been remembered and provision made for them with "Billy Whiskers' Kids," sequel to the inimitable "Billy Whiskers," by Frances Trego Montgomery; "The Wonderful Electric Elephant," by the same author, telling of a trip round the world in the machine described; and "Roger and Rose," by Katherine Beebe, a collection of clever stories full of facts about nature.

Under the heading "Tales in metre" are five graphic stories: "The amateur's tale," "The mild man's tale," "The reporter's tale," "The sage man's tale" and "The townsman's tale." Many graceful miscellaneous poems follow as: "A madonna speaks," "To Berenice," "Easter morning," etc. The handsome volume closes with forty sonnets, elevated in thought and on various subjects. Mr. Crowninshield is the author of "A painter's moods" and "Pictoris Carmina," etc.

Culter, Mary McCrae. The girl who kept up; il. by C. Louise Williams. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1903. [Ag.] c. 301 p. D. cl., $1 net.

The end of a high school course divides the paths of two who, as boy and girl, have had a close friendship from childhood, as well as keen rivalry in school leadership, often to the advantage of the girl. The youth goes to college, while the girl, whose family are in humbler circumstances, must remain at home and help. She determines he shall not outgrow her companionship, the story telling how she determines to and does keep up with her friend in securing an education.

The Château Monsigny, one of the oldest houses in France, is the scene of this new love story, by the author of "Journeys end." Isabeau de Monsigny, to whom the estate devolves, through her mother, in lieu of male heirs, is said to be the most beautiful and fascinating woman in Europe. Her father is a widower and it is his desire to marry again, and also to find a fitting husband for his daughter which makes the story. There is a woman adventurer who aims to ruin the reputation of Isabeau's lover, and also to marry Isabeau's father.

Describes the days of work and evenings of pleasure of the "shop-girls" of a big Boston department store. Some students of Harvard and some rich men-about-town, in their pursuit of amusement, are quite equal to the girls as "schemers."

Hesser, W. Reiff. Joe's signal code; il. by Frank T. Merrill. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1903. c. 6+381 p. D. cl., $1 net.

The story tells of the abandoning of a fine ship with its cargo in the Pacific Ocean. The leading characters, who are to leave last, have their escape cut off by the destruction of their boat, but succeed in saving the ship, and lead a most interesting life for a year on a hitherto unknown island. A code of signals developed by Joe, the youngest member of the party, with some friends previously made, comes in a curious way to be the means of their salvation.

"This volume is concerned with the transportation service performed by steam or trunk line railroads. It does not discuss the engineering and other technical questions of railroad construction and operation, but describes the American railroad system, gives an account of the service performed by the different branches of the railroad organization, considers the business relations of the railroads and the public, and discusses the problems of government regulation. The book is a study in railway economics, and is intended to be an introduction to the general subject of railroad transportation."—Introduction. Prof. Johnson has been known for some years as one of our best authorities upon the subject.

A story that portrays the experiences of Thomas Tucker, an old-fashioned farmer, who was elected to the State Legislature. His mistakes, caused by his ignorance of modern customs and conveniences, furnish many ludicrous scenes.

The publishers claim that they do not know the author of this novel. A parcel was sent to the Bodley Head last April which on being opened was found to contain a ms. in a red box, without any accompanying letter, without title, author's name or address. After waiting a certain time they concluded to publish the work, naming it "The ms. in a red box." It is a historical story of England opening in the year 1627, and has a brave and handsome young hero, who loses one estate and wins another, is loved by a beautiful woman, and has many adventures.

"Hallworth University, endowed and erected for the higher education of young men and women by a self-made American citizen," is the scene of an unusually strong novel. The life of Hallworth is vividly described both from the faculty and the post-graduate standpoint, and evidently by one who knows. Its social and student life, its fascinations and monotony and the possibilities for romance, are drawn most skilfully. The dialogue, always clever, is often brilliant and is used largely to tell the story. The heart of the book is a passionate love tale. The characters concerned in it being a young girl married to an eccentric professor of mathematics twice her age. Too late she realizes her marriage is a mistake, and that she loves a younger man. One of the great charms of the work is its modernness.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 29, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE OLD-BOOK TRADE.

THE trade in old books which to-day is carried on so extensively throughout the world, and which if properly, or rather scientifically, conducted, forms the most profitable branch of the book business, had its origin, strange to say, in modest, very often in contemptible, beginnings—in small dank shops, in the hallways and areas of old buildings and in back yards. Dealers in old books exclusively were not known in Europe until well into the xviii century; the first known were established in Strassburg, where they were classed among the mongers. The regular bookseller only exceptionally offered worn or second-hand books for sale. Towards the end of the xviii century and during the next century, however, judging from the bulky catalogues issued by a number of German booksellers, the bulk of the stock offered by the regular booktrade consisted of books from private libraries.

Up to 1671 no bookseller in Germany was allowed to sell books by auction. Others were prohibited from holding book auctions during the fairs—about the only time when it would have been profitable to dispose of books in this manner. It was not until 1671 that Christopher Kirchner, who acted as agent for Jansson and Blaeuw, important booksellers and auctioneers of Amsterdam, obtained the privilege of holding book auctions "according to the Dutch fashion." The Dutch, it may be remembered, were the first to sell books by auction, the custom having been introduced at Leyden by Christopher Poret, a naturalized Frenchman, who on July 6, 1599, sold at public auction the library of the famous Marnix of St. Aldegonde.

The supply of old books being thus artificially limited and restricted, it will be readily understood why the trade in old books was backward. In many parts of Germany the laws down to the xixth century imposed a penalty upon the selling of new books by a dealer in old books; and until 1860 the Prussian laws exempted the second-hand bookseller from the examinations that every publisher and bookseller was obliged to undergo when he wished to establish himself in business. In short, the bookmonger's business in the eyes of the law as well as of the book-trade was regarded as an inferior branch, one that must perhaps be tolerated, but of which no one had reason to be proud.

The conditions of the old-book trade in other countries were not unlike those in Germany, the cradle of bookselling; but the introduction of auction sales blazed the way for the dealer in old books, and gradually he fought his way to the eminence from which he now complacently looks down upon his persecutors and detractors of former generations.

In France the bouquiniste found recognition earlier than elsewhere. About the middle of the sixteenth century dealers in old books were found established in the shops in the lanes of old Paris, many of whom by the beginning of the seventeenth century had made their way to the Pont Neuf, which, in its day, according to Edouard Fournier, "was the largest of reading rooms, not only by reason of the gazettes and lampoons that were sold there, but on account of the books which were there found in multitudes and lay on the two long parapets which stretched across the river like rows of shelves in some immense library." The word bouquin now applied to old books did not exist in the earlier days, or was little used in the sense it received towards the close of the eighteenth century. It was at the time of her great trade in books with Flanders and Holland that France imported this characteristic name, which, as M. Uzanne once said, reminds one of the musty smell of goat or calf skin. The Dutch used the word boekje, meaning a little book, derived from the German buch, a book, which had been derived originally from the Sanscrit pac, to bind or tie.

England, like Germany, treated the second-hand bookseller with scant courtesy until comparatively recent times. When William Cooper, October 31, 1676, introduced the "Auctionary Way" into England, Robert Clavel in the next edition of his "Catalogue of all the Books Printed in England since the Dreadful Fire of London," promptly denounced the proceeding as follows:

"As to the late Method used in selling Books by Auction in London, I suppose that many Men have paid dear for their experience in this way; and I judge it may be demonstrable, that 'tis more probable for the Buyer to gain advantage by a Lottery, than in this way, being likely by That, once in twenty times a man may get a Prize, but in This, 'tis more than twenty to one if ever he gets That, or a Pennyworth. it being apparent that most Books bought in an Auction, may be had Cheaper in Booksellers' Shops. And it cannot be well Judged otherwise, for a Thousand at least of the Printed Catalogues of a Library to be expos'd by Auction being dispersed, many commissions for the best Books are given, it may be twenty orders for one Book, that when the Buyers think to have it Cheap, they outbid one another and run 10 or 12s. in 30 beyond the Price in Shops, sometimes more, sometimes less.

"The Experience of which being Known and felt, and the imposing of old Rubbish out of Shops, and bad editions of books under pretence of Eminent Men's Libraries, with other Methods not here mentioned, may in a little time put an End to this Project; for the Reputation of it now growing weak and faint the Proprietor of a Library will not judge it for his advantage to be at a hundred pounds charge to have a Catalogue taken and printed (with other attending expenses) of an ordinary collection of Books, but Judge it his Interest, to sell them intire, to the Party that bids most for them."

OBITUARY NOTES.

PROFESSOR FRIEDRICH DIETERICI, of the Orientalist University, is dead at Berlin. He was born at Berlin in 1821, and wrote extensively on the grammar, literature and philosophy of the Arabs.

JOHN FOLEY, one of the veteran gold pen manufacturers of the United States, died at his residence in New York City, August 22, aged sixty-nine, having been born in Ireland in 1834. Mr. Foley held public office for a time, and distinguished himself in the crusade against the Tweed Ring.

MAJOR CHARLES H. SMITH, better known as "Bill Arp," died August 25 at Atlanta, Ga. Major Smith was born in Lawrenceville, Ga.,

June 15, 1826. He was the son of A. R. Smith and Caroline Ann Maguire, and was graduated from Franklin College, Athens, Ga., in 1848. He went to Rome, Ga., where he practiced law for twenty-seven years. He wrote weekly letters to newspapers in the South for many years. Among some of the works of which he was the author are "Bill Arp's Scrap Book," "A Side Show of the Southern Side of the War" and "Georgia as a Colony and State, 1733-1893."

LORD SALISBURY, the last of the old Victorian statesmen, died August 22 in his palatial home at Hatfield, England. Since his resignation of the Premiership in July, 1902, Lord Salisbury has taken little part in public affairs. He was the direct descendant of Lord Burleigh, the famous minister of Queen Elizabeth, and was an aristocrat of the aristocrats. He was born at Hatfield, February 13, 1830. It is not generally known that Lord Salisbury was an authority on chemistry and has contributed many articles of scientific value to the periodical literature of England and America. He had a very fine laboratory in his palace at Hatfield.

CHARLES JAMES SPRAGUE, poet, author and banker, for many years curator of botany in the Boston Society of Natural History, died August 5. He was the son of Charles Sprague, the poet, who died in 1875, and a grandson of Samuel Sprague, of Hingham, a member of the Boston Tea Party. He was born in Boston in 1823, and after receiving an education in private schools entered the Globe Bank, where he succeeded his father as cashier in 1864, holding that post until 1882, when he retired to devote himself exclusively to his ideals. Mr. Sprague was a frequent contributor to many publications during a period of fifty years, and was associated at different times with the late Professor Asa Gray, Professor Charles S. Sargent and other distinguished botanists. He brought out several lists of the New England fungi, and made a notable collection of fungi and lichens.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

VICTOR HUGO PALTSITS, of the New York Public Library, has completed a bibliography of the Lewis and Clark expedition, which is to appear during the fall in the monumental edition of the original journals, etc., of this expedition, which is being prepared by Mr. R. G. Thwaites. Mr. Paltsits is now at work on a bibliography of the voyages, etc., of the Baron de Lahonton, which will also form part of an edition of Lahonton's voyages prepared by Mr. Thwaites. Still another bibliography—of the works of Father Louis Hennepin—also for an edition prepared by Mr. Thwaites, will be brought out before the end of the year by A. C. McClurg & Co. All these bibliographies are worked out in analytical detail, similar to those prepared by Mr. Paltsits for the Jesuit Relations, and particularly like his excellent Freneau Bibliography recently published by Dodd, Mead & Co.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL Co., Charleston, S. C., have just issued the "Life of John C. Calhoun," by Gustavus M. Pinckney, of the Charleston Bar.

THE AMERICAN ANTIQUARIAN, Chicago, has just issued the second edition of Stephen D. Peet's "The Mound Builders," to which have been added five new chapters.

WILLIAM HERMANN SCHULZE, of Barcelona, Spain, announces a work on watermarks, by D. Francisco de Bofarall y Sans, of the Archivo de la Crona in Aragon, entitled "El Papel y sus Marcas."

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish in October "Three Frenchmen in Bengal, or, The Loss of the French Settlements," by S. C. Hill, the officer in charge of the Indian Government records.

HUDSON-KIMBERLY PUBLISHING Co. have just issued an important military publication in "A Handbook for Non-Commissioned Officers of Infantry," by Captain M. B. Stewart, Eighth United States Infantry.

CREMER & BICKNELL, Cleveland, O., have just published the third edition of "Chemical and Metallurgical Handbook," containing tables, formulas and information for use of chemists, metallurgists and mining engineers.

WILLIAM HEINEMANN will publish in the fall "The Correspondence of William I. and Bismarck;" also, a large volume of reproductions of the works of John S. Sargent, R.A., in photogravure, by Annan, and with a note on Mr. Sargent's art by Mrs. Meynell.

THE J. S. OGILVIE COMPANY have in press a book entitled "The Monarch Billionaire," by Morrison I. Swift, who studies the bearing of the unfolding billionaire upon American liberties, and upon the ideas of equal opportunity for which the nation is supposed to stand.

THOMAS J. CAREY & Co., New York City, have just brought out "The Pun Book," collected, edited and arranged from the note books of Rice and Wise, the two inimitable punsters. The book is truly funny, and slang and vulgarity have not been allowed to mar its pages.

THE PRESBYTERIAN COMMITTEE OF PUBLICATION, Richmond, Va., has just issued "Life and Letters of Robert Lewis Dabney," by Thomas Carey Johnson; "Pioneering in Africa," by Rev. Samuel Phillips Verner; and "Apologetics" and "Christianity and Modern Evolution," by Francis R. Beattie.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL PUBLISHING Co., Bloomington, Ill., have just issued the second edition of "The Story of Our English Grandfathers," by George P. Brown, a book for grammar grades intended as an introduction to the study of the history of the American people and government.

DREXEL BIDDLE, Philadelphia, will publish on September 19 "John Burt," by Frederick Upham Adams, a story that was wonderfully popular as a serial during the spring. The publishers also have ready a new supply of their great seller, "Peggy O'Neal," for which they solicit prompt orders.

T. FISHER UNWIN has just put on the market "Tanford Manor," by S. Hancock, a tale of Canterbury in the early days of Henry VIII; "The Situations of Lady Patricia," by W. R. H. Trowbridge, author of "The Letters of Her Mother to Elizabeth;" and "Penelope Branding," by Vernon Lee, a story of the wild Welsh coast, which appears in the Pseudonym Library.

THE appeal of the committee of the R. D. Blackmore memorial movement has met with a gratifying response. Not only is the marble monument with medallion head of the author to be erected in Exeter Cathedral, but there is to be also a stained glass window illuminated with the figures of David, Jonathan and Samson, as illustrating certain virtues in Blackmore's characters.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. will publish during the fall "The Theory of Advertising," a simple exposition of the principles of psychology in their relation to successful advertising, by Walter Dill Scott, director of the Psychological Laboratory of Northwestern University; "A Bunch of Roses and Other Parlour Plays," by Mrs. M. E. M. Davis, author of "Under the Man-Fig;" and "Wanderfolk in Wonderland," by Edith Guerrier.

JAMES POTT & Co. have just ready "Paris in '48," by Baroness Bonde, resident during the events of the Revolution, edited by C. E. Warr, who has furnished excellent historical details to explain allusions to men and incidents of the time; and "Ancient Greek Sculptors," by Helen Edith Legge, with introduction by Professor Percy Gardner. About September 15 the house will issue "Budapest, the City of the Magyars," by F. Berkeley Smith, author of "How Paris Amuses Itself."

L. R. HAMERSLY Co., 49 Wall Street, New York, are preparing "Who's Who in New York," a condensed biographical dictionary of prominent men in New York State which will be of special value to newspapers, government officials and officers of large corporations. As the book covers restricted ground, the editors will be able to give fuller information than is possible in "Who's Who," covering the British Empire, and "Who's Who in America," embracing the vast United States.

THE contest advertised by Edward J. Clode, New York, asking for suggestions as to the best method of interesting the public in a new novel, closed the first of the month. From among the large number of replies received, the judges have decided that the one sent by Miss Ella E. Lasher, clerk in F. W. Lasher's store at Fulton, N. Y., is the one that should receive the prize. A check for the amount ($50) has been sent Miss Lasher. Mr. Clode will not as yet share Miss Lasher's advice with his fellow publishers.

MUNN & Co., New York, will publish in October "Home Mechanics for Amateurs," by George M. Hopkins, author of "Experimental Science." The book deals with wood-working, household ornaments, metal-working, lathe work, metal spinning and silver working; making model engines, boilers, and water motors; making telescopes, microscopes and meteorological instruments, electrical chimes, cabinets, bells, night lights, dynamos and motors, electric light and an electrical furnace. It is a thoroughly practical book by the most noted amateur experimenter in America.

JOHN LANE has published the mysterious ms. in the red box under the title of "The ms. in a Red Box," and dedicated it to its unknown author. It is a stirring, fighting tale of the time of the Stuarts. He has also just ready "The Book of the Honey Bee," by Charles Harrison, with illustrations chiefly after photographs by John C. Douglas; "The Motor Book," by R. J. McCreedy, the second of The Country Handbooks, edited by Harry Roberts; and "Life in the Mercantile Marine," by Charles Protheroe, who gives a vivid picture of conditions wonderfully little known that prevail in the life of men who go down to the sea in ships.

ROBERT GRIER COOKE, New York, has just issued in very attractive shape "Tales in Metre and Other Poems," by Frederic Crowninshield. Only 150 copies have been printed of the edition with rough edges and fine paper. The book reaches us through Frank W. Crowninshield, of Dodd, Mead & Co., a son of the author. The tales in metre consist of The Amateur's Tale, The Milddman's Tale, The Reporter's Tale, The Sage Man's Tale, and The Townsman's Tale. The rest of the volume is devoted to miscellaneous poems and sonnets that are clear in thought and musical in finish. A poem on "The Sistine Chapel" is of peculiar merit.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have in preparation "Recollections Personal and Literary," by Richard Henry Stoddard, edited by Ripley Hitchcock and furnished with an introduction by Edmund Clarence Stedman; "Life in the Early Colonies," by George Carey Eggleston, the first volume in a new series entitled Life in America; "The Circle in the Square," the story of a new battle on old grounds by Baldwin Sears; "Tennessee Todd," a novel of the Great River, by G. W. Ogden; and "Cap'n Eri," a novel of Cape Cod by Joseph C. Lincoln. The East and West Series for Young Readers will be introduced by "New Fortunes," by Mabel Earle, illustrated by F. Lowenheim; and a New Scientific Series is planned, to include four volumes, which will be under the editorship of Prof. R. K. Duncan.

THOMAS WHITTAKER announces for early fall publication the following books: "An Apostle of the Wilderness," being the story of the life and labors of James Lloyd Breck, D.D., a pioneer Western missionary; "Theism Under Natural Law as Related to Old Testament Criticism," by Rev. Edward Softly; "The Bible in Modern English," complete in one volume, translated by Ferrar Fenton; "Makers of Modern Fiction," being the third and concluding volume of Dr. W. J. Dawson's trilogy on English literary criticism; "The Man Called Jesus," a new and striking study of the character of the Christ, by John P. Kingsland; "The American Church," a plea for a possible unity of the churches, by Rev. J. J. Lanier, LL.D.; "The Interior of the Kingdom," a series of spiritual studies, by Rev. D. V. Gwilym; and a new revised and enlarged edition of "Psychic Research and Gospel Miracles," by Rev. E. M. Duff and Dr. T. G. Allen, the first edition of which has been out of print since early in the year.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just issued "Rex Christus," by Arthur H. Smith, an outline study of China; "Highways and Byways in New South Wales," by A. G. Bradley; and the first series of Charles Booth's "Life and Labor of the People of London." The latter consists of four volumes on the general subject of "Poverty." For educational purposes they have issued Aristotle on "Education," edited and translated by John Burnet; and part 3 of a "School Geometry," by Hall and Stevens. Nature and science are represented by "A Naturalist's Calendar," kept at Swaffham Bulbeck, Cambridgeshire, Eng., by Leonard Blomfield, (formerly Jenyns), edited by Francis Darwin; "Steel and Iron," for advanced students, by Arthur H. Horns; and "A Treatise on Zoölogy," by E. Ray Lankester. In "From Letter to Spirit" Edwin A. Abbott attempts to reach through varying ways the abiding work; and Wilhelm Soltau's "The Birth of Jesus Christ" is brought out in a translation by Maurice A. Canney.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY will publish next month a "History of Socialism in the United States," by Morris Hillquitt, which is not only a compendium of the literature on the subject of communistic experiments, but also an account of the rise and present political status of what is officially known as the Socialist Party in the United States, of which the author has long been a member; "Typical Elders and Deacons," by the Rev. James M. Campbell, ("Hamish Mann,") a companion volume to the author's "Clerical Types;" "The Being With the Upturned Face," by Clarence Lathbury, who writes of man and his destiny in glowing periods, the uplifting optimism of which has been inspired by the high minds of literature and philosophy; "Modern Practical Theology," by Professor Ferdinand S. Schenck, of the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church of America, at New Brunswick, N. J.; a revised edition of "A Hundred Years of Missions," by the Rev. D. L. Leonard; "The Second Reader of the Funk & Wagnalls Series of Standard Readers;" also the fifth volume of "The Jewish Encyclopedia."

THE BAKER & TAYLOR Co. will issue in late September "My Mamie Rose," by Owen Kildare. It is an autobiography, which, when published in condensed form in Success, brought to the author over five thousand letters from all parts of the country. Up to his thirtieth year Mr. Kildare lived successively as a newsboy, prize fighter and "bouncer" in dives along the old Bowery. He could neither read nor write. At this time, in a remarkable way, he met a pure little woman, who was teaching school on the East Side of New York. Love and ambition came to him, and through the honest, hard work, and the pain and sorrow which followed, he rose, until to-day he is a successful newspaper man and a most promising writer. This is a tale so full of strength and interest, of life and tragedy, as to deserve classification with the stronger novels. On October 1 they will issue "The Strife of the Sea," by T. Jenkins Hains. The book is a collection of sea folk tales—The Whale, The Shark, The Albattross, The Devil Fish, The Pelican and others. Some of them have appeared in Harper's, Success, McClure's and other magazines. They are told sympathetically, from the animal's point of view, but are true to sea life, with a dash of romance and philosophy which makes the reader live with the denizens of the deep. Serially the book has attracted an unusual amount of attention.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish during the fall "The Works of Charles and Mary Lamb," in seven volumes, edited by E. V. Lucas; "Old Paths and Legends of New England," by Katherine M. Abbott; "Literary New York: Its Landmarks and Associations," by Charles Hemstreet; and "Man and the Divine Order," essays in the philosophy of religion, by Horatio W. Dresser. They also have in preparation several volumes of poetry. Among these are "The Odes of Anacreon," translated into English verse by Thomas Moore; "The Poems of Dante Gabriel Rossetti," in two volumes, edited by Elizabeth Luther Cary; a vest-pocket edition of Fitzgerald's translation of the "Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyám;" "Christalan," a poem of mediæval times and ideal knighthood, by Katrina Trask; and "Rhymes from a Round-up-Camp," a volume of Western poetry, by Wallace David Coburn. A book of songs for little ones is also in preparation, to be entitled "Pickaback Songs." It will have words by Myrtle Reed set to music by Eva Cruzen Hart, and illustrated by Ike Morgan. Fourteen volumes will be added to the Ariel Booklets and a new series to be called the Arabesque Series will be opened with the following six volumes: "The Blessed Damozel," "The Culprit Fay," "Friendship," by Cicero and Emerson; "Sesame and Lilies," "Shakespeare's Sonnets," and Carové's "The Story Without an End."

LAIRD & LEE have just ready "Webster's New Standard Dictionary." The new book is certainly a surprise in every way. Even the exterior deviates from the beaten track. On lifting the cover, richly tinted endsheets greet the eye, bearing the seals of all the United States and Territories. The human races, according to Huxley, are presented on a finely executed double page plate in beautiful color work, showing at a glance the various principal types of man. Precious stones and ores are shown in their natural brilliant hues, also the flags of the nations; but the most meritorious of all the colored work seems to be that of the sun spectrum and other spectra, which is seldom seen in such perfection. It is happily combined with a special graphic lesson on primary, complementary colors, their combinations and a polychromatic scale. The type is exceptionally clear, the definitions are concise and comprehensive, pronunciation marked for every word, etymology made interesting by giving the meaning of the root-word where it is not self-explanatory, synonyms well selected and amplified by cross references. At the end of the dictionary proper follows a remarkable number of encyclopedic features: Dictionaries of biography, geography, biblical and classical names, musical terms, abbreviations, foreign phrases, metric system tables and a page on proofreading. The publishers bring out two editions, one for schools and one for libraries.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will bring out during the fall in the American Men of Letters series, "John Greenleaf Whittier," by George R. Carpenter, a fresh study of Whittier's life and work in the light of recently accessible sources of information; also, a volume on Sidney Lanier, by Professor Edward Mims, of Trinity College, Durham, N. C. Other volumes in the department of biography will be "The Memoirs of Rufus Putnam," an autobiographical account of General Putnam and his ancestors, edited by Rowend W. Buell; "Life and Letters of Margaret Junkin Preston," one of the most prominent of our Southern poets, by Elizabeth P. Allan; also, "William Ellery Channing," a study, by Paul Revere Frothingham. Other books in preparation are "American Tariff Controversies in the Nineteenth Century, a comprehensive history of the tariff in the United States," by Edward Stanwood; "Geographic Influences in American History," by Ellen C. Semple, a fresh interpretation of our national history, showing the momentous influence of mountains, plains, trails and waterways on American settlement, commerce and wars; "Louisiana," by Albert Phelps, a new volume in the American Commonwealths series; a holiday edition of John Fiske's "Dutch and Quaker Colonies," in two volumes, fully illustrated; a holiday edition of "Castilian Days," by John Hay, with illustrations by Joseph Pennell; "Ultimate Conceptions of Faith," by George A. Gordon, a comprehensive statement of the working theology of one of the foremost representatives of the liberal orthodoxy of to-day; "The Nature of Goodness," by George H. Palmer, an untechnical and entertaining study of conduct and the fundamental moral problem by one of the most popular professors in Harvard; "The Beauty of Wisdom," daily readings from the Bible and the whole range of wisdom literature compiled by James De Normandie; also, "Conquering Success," a stimulating book for young men on the threshold of life, by William Mathews.

THE ARTHUR H. CLARKE COMPANY, Cleveland, announce an important modification in the scope and contents of "The Philippine Islands, 1493-1803." As originally planned and hitherto announced, the series was intended to furnish the original sources, printed and documentary, for the history of the Philippine Islands only to the beginning of the nineteenth century. The reasons for this seemed obvious: The fact that the classic period of Philippine history is thus bounded; the vast extent of field covered by Philippine history, and the necessary limitations of space imposed upon the selection of material for this work; the closing of foreign archives to all investigators after an early date in the nineteenth century; and the greater difficulty, in that later period, of securing a proper historical perspective. But so many and urgent requests have come from subscribers and reviewers for such extension of the series as shall cover the entire period of Spanish domination that it has been decided to modify the former plan. It is proposed not to exceed the number of volumes already announced—fifty-five. This can be done, because in the original plan, to avoid a subsequent increase in the number of volumes, a certain amount of space was purposely left for possible future changes as a result of later investigations to be made in foreign archives, or on account of the necessary excision of extraneous or irrelevant matter from the printed works which are to be presented in this series. The new title will be "The Philippine Islands, 1493-1898." The early and especially important history of the islands will be covered as fully as before. For the history of the nineteenth century, the editions will present various important decrees, reports, and other official documents, and provide a clear, careful and impartial synopsis of some of the best historical matter extant, down to the close of the Spanish régime. Throughout the series will be used, as has been done from the beginning, all the best material available—historical, descriptive and statistical—for reference and annotation. A copious and carefully-prepared bibliography of Philippine literature, and a full analytical index, will close the series.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-in-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

"LAVENDER AND OLD LACE"

The Shadow of Victory

A Romance of Fort Dearborn (Early Chicago)

By MYRTLE REED

12mo. With Frontispiece : : Net, $1.20 (postage 15 cents)

Miss Reed's new novel is pre-eminently a love story, portraying a true woman whose lot was cast, not in the drawing-room or in the salon, but in the wilderness, where the only representatives of civilization and culture were the rude fort and the true hearts that garrisoned it. Beatrice is fascinating, possessing all the sweet caprices of Woman, with Woman's strength in time of need, while the hero is a man whose character must appeal to every true woman.

OLD PATHS AND LEGENDS OF NEW ENGLAND

Saunterings over Historic Roads, with Glimpses of Picturesque Fields, and Old Homesteads in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New Hampshire. By KATHERINE M. ABBOTT. 8vo, with 185 Illustrations and Route Map. $3.50 net (postage 25 cents).

Historic spots of national interest, curious or charming out-of-the-way places, Indian legends, and Yankee folk-lore find full justice in Miss Abbott's entertaining pages. The book is a true interpretation of the spirit of old New England.

IRELAND UNDER ENGLISH RULE

A Plea for the Plaintiff. By THOMAS ADDIS EMMET. Two volumes, 8vo, $5.00 net (postage 30 cents).

While the work is frankly a plea for Ireland, Dr. Emmet has endeavored to be impartial, and his indictment of the British Government (he draws a distinction between the English people and the English Government) is supported by documentary evidence.

A MASTER HAND. The Story of a Crime

By RICHARD DALLAS. 12mo, $1.00 net (postage 10 cents).

This is a detective story of unusual interest. A young bachelor of quiet tastes, a few warm friends, and no enemies is found dead, stabbed while he slept, in his New York apartment. There is no emphasis on the horrors of the deed, but the reader's entire attention is held to the detection of the mysterious murderer. Those who begin this book will sit up and finish it.

BABEL AND BIBLE

Two Lectures on the Significance of Assyriological Research for Religion. Embodying the Most Important Criticisms and the Author's Replies. By DR. FRIEDRICH DELITZSCH. Translated from the German by THOMAS J. MCCORMACK and W. H. CARRUTH. Price, bound, 75 cents net.

The illustrations of the American edition are of larger size than those of the German original. They have been supplemented by pertinent additional pictures and by those materials which have done so much to make these lectures interesting, especially the Emperor's letter, and the most important passages extracted from essays written by Delitzsch's critics.

The MYSTERIES of MITHRA

History of Their Origin, Their Dissemination and Influence in the Roman Empire, Their Doctrines and Liturgy, Their Struggle with Christianity, Mithraic Art, etc. By FRANZ CUMONT, Professor in the University of Ghent, Belgium. Translated by THOMAS J. MCCORMACK. With 50 illustrations and a map of the Roman Empire. Pp. xvi.+239. Price, $1.50 net (6s. 6d. net.)

This work is a sketch of one of the most important but historically most neglected religious movements of the Roman Empire. Mithraism was the rival of Christianity, and greatly resembled the latter religion. The story of the struggle between the two creeds, here told in its entirety for the first time, is unmatched in its thrilling interest.

comprises the lists of upwards of three hundred publishers—over eighty lists more than the work has before contained—which greatly enhance its value to the bookseller as an inexpensive work of reference for books in print. Notwithstanding the increase in size, the price remains as heretofore, $2.

NEW SUPPLEMENTARY INDEX

We are preparing this year a supplement to the Index volume of last year, which will include (1) the titles of the books of those publishers who were not represented in last year's Catalogues volume ; (2) the titles of the new books published since the issue of last year's Trade List Annual by the publishers represented in the 1902 and 1903 volumes ; and (3) the titles which were reported too late for insertion in last year's Index volume, as well as corrections, etc.

Supplementary Index, 1 vol., about 200 pages, 8vo, cloth, $2. After Publication, $2.50.

Only enough copies of the Supplementary Index will be printed to supply the demand from those who purchased last year's INDEX, and to bind up with the small number of the remaining copies of last year's INDEX, into a comprehensive volume of about 1300 pages, which will be priced at $5 for copies paid for in advance of publication, or $6 thereafter.

The prices in every case are net, and do not include carriage. Orders, with remittance, should be placed now. Directions for enclosure delivery in New York should accompany the order, unless shipment is to be by express at the charge of the subscriber. Address

*It is not our business to teach you your business.
But we may be able to give you some pointers
on selling our books. From time to time we shall try on this page.*

One book that we shall publish in September will sell itself. All that you need do is to let your customers know that you have in stock A. CONAN DOYLE'S latest book and to put it where they can't miss seeing it. If you don't let them know you have it, they'll surely go somewhere else for it.

If any one makes inquiries as to the nature of the book, you can say, that Conan Doyle has never yet created a character so delightful as the suave, egotistic, self-praising Gerard, brigadier in Napoleon's army, who relates with such relish the stories of his youthful adventures in love and war during the Napoleonic campaigns. Further you can say that the old Brigadier is an incomparable story teller. All his stories are cram full of incident, perilous 'scapes and noble deeds, and each tale races swiftly to a climax that snaps sharp as the crack of a whip.

The Adventures of Gerard

By A. CONAN DOYLE. Illustrated by W. B. WOLLEN. $1.50.

While we are speaking of books selling themselves, here are three that are going splendidly on their own merits.

The Blazed Trail

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE. $1.50.

The Simple Life

By CHARLES WAGNER. $1.25.

Emmy Lou: Her Book and Heart

By GEORGE MADDEN MARTIN. $1.50.

THE BLAZED TRAIL was published about two years ago. It has sold 2000 copies in the last fortnight.

EMMY LOU came out about a year ago. It has sold 3000 copies in the last two weeks.

THE SIMPLE LIFE is now in its third season. It has sold 3000 copies in the last ten days.

These are books that have proved their quality by lasting. People are buying them.

FREDERICK PALMER'S

NOVEL

The Vagabond

MR. PALMER'S story is the first novel of a man already distinguished as a correspondent and known to many readers by a series of strong short stories. THE VAGABOND is a novel into which the Civil War enters largely, though both the character of its plot and its chief strength are determined not so much by this as by the individuality of its hero—a memorable character whose “search for a mountain, a mine, and a girl” is strenuous and concentrated enough to belie his ironical nickname. The peculiar vividness of his pictures of the war and of the men of the Volunteer Army are characteristic of Mr. Palmer, whose fighting has about it neither nonsense nor exaggeration.

W. B. CONKEY COMPANY

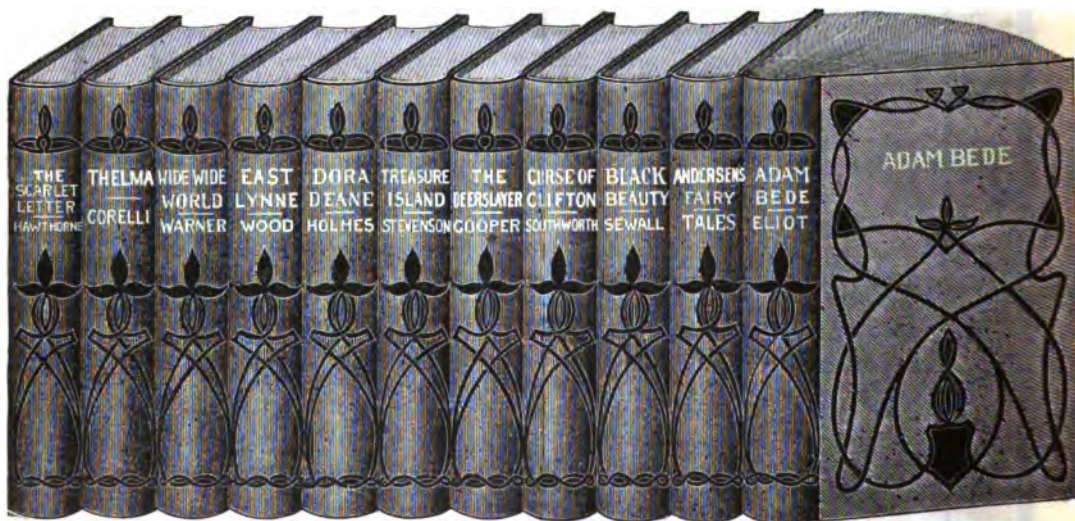

... ARE THE LARGEST MANUFACTURERS OF BOOKS IN THE WORLD ...

OUR lines embracing everything from penny toy books to exquisite morocco presentation editions. We have the most formidable factory equipment in the business, covering every known labor-saving appliance, supplemented by many inventions of tested utility owned and used by ourselves exclusively. These advantages explain how the best literature is made accessible to everybody; how we are able to produce a finished book (beautifully printed and attractively bound, like our Abbey Series) to sell for the surprisingly low price of ten cents.

The CONKEY establishment bears a relation towards the publishing business similar to that occupied by Carnegie in the steel industry. Mr. Carnegie surrounded himself with every element that affected production and then did everything that anyone else could do; only he did it somewhat better, and somewhat cheaper, and could be depended upon always for prompt delivery. And this is the position and condition of the W. B. Conkey Company to-day.

Cheap books is an old story. Earlier attempts did not appeal to the public for the reason that the books looked cheap, felt cheap, and were cheap. The volumes in the ABBEY SERIES are intended to provide a book sufficiently low in price to come within the reach of people of the most modest means, and sufficiently excellent in manufacture to be acceptable as a foundation for a meritorious home library.

ABBEY SERIES. Nearly 400 Volumes

THE BEST COLLECTION OF POPULAR PRICED 12mos ON THE MARKET

Clearly printed and handsomely and substantially bound in cloth, embossed with an artistic design in two colors of inks on front and back covers, with side titles and lettering in gilt on back.

PRICE 10 CENTS PER VOLUME. *Special quantity rates to the trade on request.

In the ABBEY SERIES we offer you nearly 400 volumes covering the best productions of the greatest authors—American, English, and Continental. These are books that appeal to the whole reading public, are every-day sellers, and are standard books always in demand, and just as staple in the book business as is granulated sugar in the grocery trade.

The merited reputation of the ABBEY books for excellence of manufacture, and for being quick sellers has been very generally recognized, and the dealer who carries them in stock is certain to attract custom and make money. Remember the price is but ten cents per copy; that every title is in stock; and that there is no equivalent series in the market—none that can begin to compare with the ABBEY SERIES for intrinsic literary merit, for beauty of external form, and for moderate price.

Go over our Catalogue for 1903-4 (recently mailed to you) and make up your orders and send them to us, and the books will be shipped at once. When they reach you, if they are not perfectly satisfactory in every particular or unsatisfactory for any reason whatever, send them back to us at our expense.

A Mummer's Wife

A New Edition of GEORGE MOORE'S Masterpiece

A Mummer's Wife

It is the most perfect piece of realism, in the French sense, that has yet been written in the English language.—N. Y. Times.

A Mummer's Wife

The story of a Mummer's Wife is not always a cheerful story, but it is a particularly strong one, and shows the existence that strolling players live up to life.—Boston Times.

A Mummer's Wife

George Moore is at his best in the Mummer's Wife. That is, it is his most successful presentment of a story in his favorite field.—Baltimore Sun.

A Mummer's Wife

As a biography of an hysterical woman vacillating between a craving for the changing sensations of a tawdry Bohemia and a longing for the comfort and complacency of the middle-class existence of her earlier life, nothing could be more complete or more instinct with truthfulness.—N. Y. Public Opinion.

A Mummer's Wife

The present novel is liberal as to length, but dull at no point, and is frank as well as vivid in its depictions of human nature.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

A Mummer's Wife

The Mummer's Wife still holds its high place in literature by reason of its style, and because each page literally pulsates with life.—St. Louis Republic.

A Mummer's Wife

Compared to the insipid twaddle of most of the modern novels, it stands as an immense work, not pleasant, but wonderfully true, an unquestionable monument of truth.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO. will bring out "The Fortunes of Fifi" on September 12. In this Molly Elliot Seawell has written a delightful story of a little actress in the poorer quarter of Paris, who has all the best attributes of never-to-be-forgotten "Tribby."

C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING CO. will publish in October "Marjie of the Lower Ranch," a stirring romance of western ranch life, by Frances Parker; and "Love Stories from Real Life," Mildred Champagne's volume of dramatic tales, to which attention has previously been directed.

D. APPLETON & Co. have ready to-day "The Career Triumphant," a novel of present day social life in Virginia, by Henry B. Boone; the Roslyn edition of the "Poetical Writings of William Cullen Bryant," with chronologies and a bibliography by Henry C. Sturges, and a memoir by the late Richard Henry Stoddard, and "Central Europe," a new volume in Appletons' World Series, by Joseph Partsch.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation new novels by Winston Churchill, F. Marion Crawford, Charles Major, Edith Elmer Wood, Cutcliffe Hyne, Quiller-Couch, Beulah M. Dix, Caroline Brown, Richard L. Makin and many others. Among their most successful books recently issued are James Lane Allen's "Mettle of the Pasture;" Jack London's "Call of the Wild;" "People of the Whirlpool," by "A Commuter's Wife;" and Mrs. Ely's "A Woman's Hardy Garden."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just brought out John Fox's new novel, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," which won many readers during its serial issue in Scribner's. It is set in the mountain regions of Kentucky in Civil War times, and both setting and period give ample scope for the romance and dramatic force that mark Mr. Fox's writings. "The Vagabond" is the first novel of Frederick Palmer, well known as a war correspondent and short story writer; and in "A Doctor of Philosophy" Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady has written a dramatic story, centering in the "race problem" to-day.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will publish September 25 "A Sequence in Hearts," by Mary Moss, a love story of to-day, with clever character sketching, of which a critic and novelist who read the advance sheets has said that "by its cleverness, its pungent wit and its able character drawing it is distinguished from all other books of fiction of the twelve months past." The publishers also report a second large edition of "Pigs in Clover;" a fourth edition of Barbour's "At the Time Appointed," a tenth edition of "That Mainwaring Affair," and the growing popularity of George Moore's "The Untilled Field."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just ready a volume of striking short stories by the late Frank Norris, called "A Deal in Wheat," said to represent Norris's best and most mature work; "A Child's Letters to Her Husband," by Helen Watterson Moody, being the letters of a little girl to an imaginary husband, touched with the humor and feeling that marked Mrs. Moody's papers on "The Unquiet Sex;" "In Old Alabama," studies of life in the South, by Anne Hobson, sister of Captain Hobson, of Merrimac fame; "Toilers of the Home," an account of a year's work in domestic service by a college graduate, written from personal experience by Lillian Pettingill; and a new series of "Little Masterpieces of Science," edited by George Iles.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Brady, Cyrus Townsend. A doctor of philosophy. N. Y., Scribner, 1903. [Ag.] c. 4+302 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

On the eve of her marriage with a representative of Philadelphia's bluest blood, Alicia Chalden is approached by an enemy of her father, and told a dreadful secret regarding her birth. Her father, Philip Chalden, a millionaire, and one of Philadelphia's political "bosses," had introduced her to society as his legitimate daughter, and she had been received most cordially by that part of it that lived above Market Street. Alicia's story, which has a most tragical ending, brings up the race question of black and white in a new shape.

students and teachers of philosophy was begun with the intention of furnishing simply a plain statement of the existing ethical situation—by which I mean an analysis of the moral problem and a definition of the several types of ethical theory. But it was found impossible to make a plain statement without adopting a point of view for the definition of the problem and the theories in question. And in the search for a satisfactory point of view I have been led to a more or less independent reconstruction of the situation as a whole."—Preface.

"The letters selected are all characteristic of Leo. Taken together they express his sentiments on the chief questions of a time which, owing to his great influence in civil as well as in ecclesiastical matters, is really an epoch in the history of men. His influence on scientific studies alone is sufficient proof of this. . . . A perusal of the letters will satisfy the reader that in other spheres, as well as in that of science, in education, sociology, and statesmanship, the late Pontiff, by adapting himself to his age and studying carefully its needs and possibilities, has so influenced its thought and tendencies, as to have opened a new era in its history."—Preface.

Fort Dearborn guarded the trading-post where now stands Chicago. Life among the officers' wives and soldiers is vividly described. In 1810 the Indians became very dangerous because assured of British countenance. The fort was in charge of an incompetent officer who sacrificed his men after almost driving them to mutiny. A most exciting description is given of the horrors of Indian warfare. The author of "Lavender and old lace" again has charming womanly women in her story.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 5, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

EARLY AUCTION SALES.

In Germany the opposition to auction sales for a long time was very bitter, and many complaints were heard of the frauds practiced at public sales. A pamphlet published early in the seventeenth century—a new edition was printed, sine 1010, in 1697—bears the motto: "Ye shall not steal, neither deal falsely, neither lie one to another.—Leviticus, xix : 11," and claims to "demonstrate and prove that the public book auctions bring reproach upon the booktrade, and work grievous injury to scholars." The exposé of the trickery and fraud which the writer of the pamphlet claims to have discovered in connection with book auction sales, ends with the following quotation from Thessalonians iv : 6: "That no man go beyond and defraud his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified."

Notwithstanding the very strong opposition to auction sales from a large number of the booktrade in England, they found favor from the start with the bookbuyers and impetuous scholars. From 1676 to 1682 no less than thirty sales were held, and these included among others, the important collections of Lord Warwick, Sir Kenelm Digby, Dr. Thomas Watson and John Dunton, the eccentric bookseller, who, in 1685-1686, visited the Massachusetts Bay Colony to dispose of a stock of books. In time the booksellers also encouraged auction sales, and diverted them to their own uses, notably to unload their heavy stock, or to effect what to-day in England is termed "a rig."

With the dispersion of books from private libraries through auction sales came the opportunity for the dealers in old books in London, who first settled themselves in and about the neighborhood of little Britain, Moorfields and in St. Paul's churchyard, gradually working their way over to Fleet Street and the Strand. A sturdy race of booksellers grew out of those who first established themselves in the old book trade, among whom may be mentioned Robert Scott, Bateman, Henry Ballard or Bullard, William Newton, Wilcox, Benjamin Franklin's friend; Lackington, Allen & Co., who, in 1801, claimed to be the "Cheapest booksellers in the World;" Thomas Tegg, Charles Tilt, James Toovey, Charles Davis, Joseph Smith and James Westell. The giants of the nineteenth century and of the present time are too well known and hence need not be referred to here. In England, however, as well as elsewhere, the beginnings of the dealer in old books were humble enough, the day of small things continuing well into the nineteenth century.

In the United States, as may be imagined, there always has been a trade in old books. So early as 1693, Duncan Campbell, then at the Dock-head over against the Conduit, in Boston, who, according to Dunton, was "very industrious and dressed à la mode," offered for sale the library of "the late Reverend and Learned Mr. Samuel Lee." The catalogue of this collection, which, according to the Rev. Thomas Prince, was printed for Campbell by Bartholomew Green, is, as far as is known, the earliest printed catalogue of a library to be sold over the counter of a bookseller in America. Nor does it seem that auction sales met with any opposition in the new world. The earliest auction sale in the colonies of which we have any record is that of the library of the Rev. Ebenezer Pemberton, which was offered for sale by Samuel Gerrish at the Crown Coffee House, in Boston, July 2, 1717. Advertisements of auction sales or vendues of books are found quite frequently in New England journals in the early part of the eighteenth century.

The earliest trace we have found of a book auction sale in New York, was one held by David Dunham, on February 25, 1812, at 144 Pearl Street. The sale was announced to begin at four o'clock P.M. precisely, and the two conditions of the sale were simply these: "(1) If any difference arise concerning any Book sold, it shall be immediately exposed to sale again; (2) The Money to be paid at the Delivery of the Books." Undoubtedly auction sales were held in New York earlier than this, but history is silent on the subject. Besides David Dunham there were in the book auction business in New York William McLaughlin, who, in 1823, was associated with McLaughlin & Blakely at 41 Maiden Lane, and later with Stephen R. Wiggins, in the firm of McLaughlin, Wiggins & Co., at 68 William Street, at which stand, after the dissolution of the partnership, Wiggins continued alone until 1830. Passing over the dozen or more lesser-known men who sold books by auction, we reach the names of the two firms that are still remembered or in existence, namely, George A. Leavitt & Co. and Bangs, Merwin & Co. The firm of Leavitt, so long known in connection with the Trade Sales, was established by James E. Cooley, (who afterwards became Leavitt's father-in-law,) in 1833, at the "Panorama Sales Rooms," at 151 Broadway. With Cooley were associated at different times Lemuel Bangs and John Keese, while Leavitt had Robert M. Strebeigh and his brother, W. B. Leavitt, as associates in the auction business. The business of Bangs & Co., now the Anderson Auction Company, was established by Lemuel Bangs in 1829, at 85 Chatham Street.

In Philadelphia book auction sales were held as early as 1737, Benjamin Franklin being among the pioneer auctioneers. Robert Bell, the well-known Philadelphia bookseller and publisher, was also a noted auctioneer during the Revolution. Bell, who subscribed himself the "humble provedore to the sentimentalists," printed many curious articles in the newspapers on the great benefit of auction sales. The notes in his sale catalogues are very amusing as a rule, and always highly patriotic. He died suddenly, in 1784, while on an auction tour to Richmond, Va. Among Bell's better-known contemporaries were John Dunlap, William Brown and Samuel Dellap. In the latter part of the eighteenth and the early part of the nineteenth centuries there were among the auctioneers in Philadelphia, William Pritchard, on Market Street, Edward Pole, on Chestnut Street, and William Cobbett, who for two years was settled at South Front Street as editor of Peter Porcupine's Gazette, and occasionally acted as auctioneer at public sales of books. His intemperance in controversy provoked suits for slander by Dr. Rush and others, and in 1798 he abandoned "the town in which he had neither enjoyed nor given any brotherly love." F. Montmoulin, at 53 North Front Street, sold books at auction from 1798 to 1810, possibly later. M. & S. Thomas, who for a quarter of a century acted as official auctioneers for the booktrade in Philadelphia, were in the book auction business at 87 Chestnut Street as early as 1802. George W. Lord, at Sixth and Decatur Streets, was a contemporary of M. & S. Thomas, who were succeeded by Thomas & Sons. George W. Lord afterward removed to New York, and settled at 356 Broadway, where he was succeeded by Jordan & Norton, the junior partner being Charles B. Norton, who afterwards published the American Publishers' Circular, the predecessor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Then followed Thomas Birch & Sons, and, more recently, Davis & Harvey, who are connected with the older generation of auctioneers through their connection with Stan V. Henkels, for years connected with the Thomases. S. G. Hubbard, at Walnut and Fifth Streets, for years had charge of the booksales in Cincinnati.

THE Supplementary Index to the "Publishers' Trade List Annual" is now being shipped. We are glad to have this ready at the beginning of the Fall season, as we know it will prove a great help to dealers. Those who have not sent in orders should hasten to do so. The edition is limited, and as orders are coming in now it bids fair to be quickly exhausted. For those who did not provide themselves with the Index to the Catalogues volume of the "Trade List" of 1902 there is now a "Combined Index" in one volume at special price, which also should be ordered promptly. The Supplementary Index indexes 128 catalogues that did not appear in last year's Trade List Annual. The books of publishers whose lists are bound up in the Catalogues volume are covered up to August 1, so that this is really the most up-to-date catalogue yet put upon the market.

METHODIST BOOK CONCERN.

A DISPATCH from San Francisco makes definite charges of mismanagement against the Western Branch of the Book Concern. A later dispatch from Los Angeles alleges further mismanagement in New York. To this the publishing agents of the Methodist Book Concern in New York have furnished the following statement, which we reprint from the Christian Advocate:

A dispatch having recently been sent out from Los Angeles, Cal., alleging a shortage of more than $634,000 in the New York Book Concern, the undersigned have this to say: This charge, being wholly without foundation, must have originated in a misunderstanding or in a purpose to do harm. There is not a shortage of one cent in the New York Book Concern.

At the end of the fiscal year of 1900 the agents of the New York Book Concern—by direction of the General Book Committee—cut down values of real estate, merchandise, machinery, accounts, etc., charging the sums thus deducted against capital stock. A large amount was thus taken off from inventory values, since which time the real estate, merchandise, electrotype plates, machinery, etc., have been carried in our inventory at less than their actual cash value.

Instead of keeping this matter from the public, as alleged in the dispatch above referred to, the statement of such reduction in the inventory was printed in our annual exhibit and sent out to all the papers of our church and presented to each one of the more than one hundred Annual Conferences, where it was publicly read for the information of all interested parties.

At the time these reductions were made the Book Committee in its annual report issued to the church the following statement, namely:

"The peculiar conditions of a denominational publishing house make a correct tabulation of the assets a difficult task. Electrotpe plates, for example, from which a popular book is printed, may carry for three or four years an intrinsic value quite equal to the cost of their production, and then with the end of the sale of the book may shrink in true value to almost nothing.

"Considerable reductions have been made in the assets during the last year and in the revaluation of real estate, and the Annual Conferences may be assured that we are determined to get our inventories down to a cash basis. In general business management we note with pleasure a steady improvement in various aspects over previous years.

"Our publishing agents, both in the East and in the West, are devoting their time and their ability to the trust committed to them, and their devotion to their tasks and the facility and harmony with which they carry out all the suggestions made from time to time to them by the Book Committee and by the Local Committees are causes for satisfaction and congratulation.

"No loyal Methodist can intelligently examine into the present conditions of the Methodist Book Concern without pride and satisfaction."

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF NEWS-DEALERS, BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL CONVENTION.

THE twenty-first annual convention of the National Association of Newsdealers, Booksellers and Stationers of the United States was held at 8 Union Square, New York City, on August 28 and 29. Among the officers present were Thomas F. Martin, president, New York; W. H. Skinner, first vice-president, Newark; S. Stratton, second vice-president, Paterson, N. J.; D. Brophy, treasurer, New York City; J. Y. Collins, custodian, Brooklyn. Among the subjects discussed were the extension of the United Dealers' News Company throughout the country and the putting of their organ, The Newsdealer, in the hands of a competent committee. Reports were made by Representatives Foley and Freece on the workings of the United Dealers' News Company in Philadelphia and Paterson.

It was decided that the organ of the association, The Newsdealer, should be continued. Other resolutions commended the Agnew law of the last Legislature, to prevent very young children from selling newspapers, and called upon newsdealers to refuse to sell afternoon papers on Christmas, New Year's Day, the Fourth of July and Thanksgiving. Officers were elected as follows:

President: Thomas F. Martin.
First Vice-President: W. H. Skinner, Newark.
Second Vice-President: S. Stratton, Paterson.
Secretary: M. E. Goldé, New York.
Custodian: E. Ufert, West Hoboken.

The Executive Board was made up as follows:

H. Tietjen, J. Rumler of Paterson.
A. Dickson of Brooklyn.
T. H. Kemp of Staten Island.
C. A. Schultdt of Newark.

In the evening there was a dinner at Cosmopolitan Park, One Hundred and Seventieth Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

It was decided to hold the convention next year in St. Louis.

COPYRIGHT NOTES.

PARSIFAL.

UNLESS some legal phase of the matter not yet observable can be brought out Frau Cosina Wagner's plan to stop the performance of "Parsifal" in America cannot be carried out. The ruling of Washington copyright authorities bars out Frau Wagner.

The facts as given by the Library of Congress authorities, interviewed by the New York Herald, are as follows:

Wagner owned the rights of performance in Germany, but disposed of the music publishing rights to B. Schotte, a German publisher. Thus "Parsifal" was divided into performance rights and rights of publication. Then a great mistake was made: the copyright was not taken out in America for either performance or music publication. It at once became public property here.

Another error followed. Schotte framed an agreement with each buyer of the score by which the latter, individually, agreed not to use the score for publication. But no clause was inserted forbidding its transfer to any one else for performance, so a second party possessing the score is not bound by the original agreement.

The rights to the score in English were sold, it appears upon investigation, to the late Carl Rosa, and John P. Jackson wrote the English libretto for it. Jackson, an American, endeavored to copyright in Washington, both the original work and the libretto, when the decision was given by the Washington authorities that while Jackson's own libretto would be protected, Wagner's score would not be copyrighted.

This appears to effectually dispose of Frau Wagner's alleged legal claims, for a similar copyright covers Jackson's English libretto of "Lohengrin," "Siegfried" and other Wagnerian works, yet no one pretends for a moment that stage performances of those scores cannot be given because of the libretto protection. Authorities at the Library of Congress, interviewed by the Herald, fail to see where Frau Wagner can obtain redress, even if she pushes the suit, unless the joint claims of the Wagner family and Schotte, with the reported ownership of the King of Bavaria in the original score, may have a legal phase which has not heretofore figured in the case. But even this is not seriously considered, except on the grounds of alleged sentiment, which does not count in law.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MRS. SUTHERLAND ORR, the close friend and biographer of Robert Browning, died last week after a long illness. Mrs. Orr was a daughter of Dr. Septimius Leighton and sister of Lord Leighton. She published in 1885 a "Handbook to the Works of Robert Browning," which in its comprehensiveness and detailed analysis has been the basis of most of the more recent studies of Browning's art; and her life of Browning, published in 1891, has remained the authoritative biography of the poet. She also contributed various articles on philosophical topics to the English reviews.

DR. CHRISTOPHER G. TIEDEMAN, dean of the Buffalo Law School, died on the 25th ult. at Roosevelt Hospital, New York. Dr. Tiedeman was born at Charleston, S. C., July 16, 1867, and was graduated from the University of Charleston. He was professor of law for ten years in the University of Missouri, and held the same position for six years in New York University. He wrote numerous books and articles on legal subjects, among them an "Elementary Treatise on the American Law of Real Property," and "A Treatise on the Limitations of Police Power in the United States."

CHARLES CARROLL BONNEY, eminent as a lawyer and as director of the Chicago World's Fair congresses, died at his home in Chicago, on August 23. Mr. Bonney was born in Hamilton, N. Y., September 4, 1831, where he was educated, and was for several years a teacher in Hamilton, and in Peoria, Ill. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1852, and for over thirty years practiced law in Chicago. His chief title to fame is based on his organization and direction of the entire series of congresses held in connection with the Chicago World's Fair of 1893, of which he was the originator and general president. The great mass of literature resulting from the congresses was collected by him and deposited in the Chicago Public Library. Mr. Bonney published several law books, and contributed many articles on religious, political and social subjects to periodicals and magazines.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

To The North American Review for September Brander Matthews contributes an article on "How Shakespeare Learned His Trade," which is full of suggestion and covers some new historical material.

THE September Atlantic brings the first instalment of the recollections of Sir Leslie Stephen under the caption "Some Early Impressions;" a paper on "Christopher North," by William Aspinwall Bradley, and an article on "The Literary Centre," by M. A. De Wolfe Howe.

The Critic for September has a paper on "Emerson," by Ambassador Choate; one on "James Martineau," by Mrs. Humphry Ward, and one on "William Ernest Henley," by Randall Blackshaw. The number also contains an illustrated article on "Phil May," by Christian Brinton.

THE September number of Lippincott's Magazine fulfils its promise to publish a series of pithy literary papers from George Moore, who wrote those famous "Confessions of a Young Man." Part 1. of these "Avowals" asks and answers the question, "Why is it that England has failed to produce a first-class work of fiction?" This will doubtless provoke much argument.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

J. D. HALL & Co., Providence, R. I., have just brought out a book entitled "Humbugs and Canterbury Folks," by Mrs. Wilberforce, which attacks many of the pet foibles of average people in a most amusing way.

BENZIGER BROTHERS have just issued "The Chief Encyclicals of Leo XIII." in English, after careful revision by the Rev. John J. Wynne, S.J., who also writes the preface for this memorial volume. A complete course in philosophy, sociology and political economy, it is claimed, may be found in the encyclicals of the late Pope.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co. have nearly ready a novel entitled "The Pensionnaires," by Albert R. Carman, of Montreal. The story is set in three pensions, located in Dresden, Lucerne and Paris, and it deals in a clever and vivacious way with the European experiences of an American girl who has gone abroad for the culture of her voice. Three more volumes have been added to this firm's edition of the "Essays and Travels" of Robert Louis

Stevenson, completing the set of seven volumes, which may be had separately if desired.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation the following volumes in the department of poetry: the Cambridge edition of "English and Scottish Ballads," edited, with an introduction and notes, by Helen Child Sargent and George L. Kittredge, based on Professor Child's monumental work; "Complete Poetical Works of J. T. Trowbridge," now first collected and revised by the author; "A Book of Songs," poems of young life, by Josephine Preston Peabody; also, "Gawayne and the Green Knight," an old romantic fairy tale, retold in a delightful vein of irony, by Charlton M. Lewis.

GINN & Co.'s series of Jones Readers for schools "presents lessons in morals." The reader is taught kindness to animals, obedience, courage, honesty, helpfulness, reverence, courtesy, patriotism, industry, patience, perseverance. Selections are included from the world's best literature. The readers are adapted according to the grade and understanding of the scholar. They are the work of President L. H. Jones, of the Michigan State Normal College, formerly superintendent of the city schools of Indianapolis, and later of Cleveland. The illustrations, numbering several hundred, are printed from wood engravings and from originals by well-known artists.

AMONG the recent books brought out by the University of Chicago Press is a monograph on our paper money, called "A History of Greenbacks, with Special Reference to the Economic Consequences of Their Issue." It is the work of Wesley Clair Mitchell. The first part of the discussion is devoted to the events which led up to the issue of paper money in the United States, and the second part reviews in detail the effects of the desertion of a metallic for a paper standard. A detailed analysis of the Aldrich report is used in comparison with the material by J. D. Weeks in volume xx. of the census of 1880, in the chapter on wages. In a chapter headed "The Greenbacks and the Cost of the Civil War," the author considers the degree of increase in expense to the federal government brought about by the paper issues.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in press for early publication a volume containing letters in which is described "Paris Before the War." These letters, together with newspaper articles, were written by Madame Northpeat, the wife of the Minister of the Interior in France during the siege of Paris and the Commune. The epistles were written from information received by Madame Northpeat through her husband. New volumes of fiction will include "The Close of the Day," a story by Frank H. Spearman, dealing with the stage as it touches the life of an actress and that of a man of large means who loves her; "Four-in-Hand," a story of New York social life dealing with the ultra-rich set; "The Pool in the Desert," a volume of short stories by Sara Jeannette Duncan, (Mrs. Everard Cotes;) and "Butternut Jones," by Tilly Tilford, a story with a Texan hero, whose adventures are humorous and exciting.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY will shortly publish "According to the Pattern," a novel of social life, by Grace Livingstone Hill, who pictures an estrangement between husband and wife and the means taken to effect a reunion; and "The Winner," a strong, earnest story of schoolboy life, with direct educational teaching, by Everett T. Tomlinson. Rev. T. Harwood Pattison has written "The History of Christian Preaching," giving practically a series of monographs on the great preachers of the world, from Origen and Chrysostom to Beecher and Phillips Brooks; and other new religious publications will be "The New Evangelism," by Rev. Cortlandt Myers; "A First Book in Christian Doctrines," by Rev. Joseph E. Sagebeer; "Every Creature," an appeal for personal Christian effort, by Rev. M. T. Lamb; and a simple manual of "First Memory Lessons," by Rev. Frank Gardner, especially adapted for primary Sunday-school work.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY are making preparations to bring out a long list of books, many of them by prominent authors and all of them of a high standard of merit. "Journeying in the Land Where Jesus Lived," by Dr. G. B. F. Hallock, is a distinct contribution to the literature on Palestine; and "On the Threshold of Central Africa," by François Coillard, is a record of twenty years' pioneering among the Barotai of the Upper Zambesi, a perfect mine of information and a most encouraging record of difficulties met and triumphed over in modern missionary work. One of the strong missionary books of the year will be Rev. Dr. C. C. Creegan's "Pioneer Missionaries of the Church," a model volume for mission study classes; and volumes of helpful thoughts for all Christians will be found in "Campaigning with Christ," by Dr. Theo. L. Cuyler; "The Verities of Jesus," by Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell; "The Teachings of Jesus Concerning His Own Mission," by Rev. Dr. Frank H. Foster, the first of a series to be known as The Teachings of Jesus; "After the Resurrection and Other Addresses," by Alexander MacLaren; "The Rod That Budded," (the cross,) by R. J. Miller; and "John Mark, or the Making of a Saint," by Rev. Dr. James D. Hunter, with introduction by Floyd W. Tomkins, a book specially designed for Christian Endeavor workers. The house also is getting up many juveniles which will be noticed later.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will include among their fall publications Richard Whiteing's new novel, "The Yellow Van," which has been the Century's leading serial for the year; "Pa Gladden: the Story of a Common Man," a volume of short stories, by Elizabeth Cherry Waltz, full of sentiment and kindly humor and racy of the soil; and new collections of short stories by John Luther Long, Chester Bailey Fernald and David Gray. Mr. Long calls his sheaf of tales "Sixty Jane;" "Under the Jackstaff" is the title of Mr. Fernald's volume, which is mainly nautical and adventurous in its character; and Mr. Gray's book of horse stories will be entitled "Gallops 2," his previous book, "Gallops," being henceforth "Gallops 1." An intimate biography of the great piano teacher, Leschetizky, is promised, written by his sister-in-law, the present Countess Potocka, full of glimpses and incidents of the musical celebrities of the last half century; and in the same general field will be Herman Klein's narrative of "Thirty Years of Musical Life in London," written from personal knowledge and wide acquaintanceship. There will be new holiday editions of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Lovey Mary," Alice Hegan Rice's two popular books, and of John Luther Long's charming idyll, "Madame Butterfly;" and an artistic volume of the most popular Christmas poems of Richard Watson Gilder, to be called "A Christmas Wreath;" while the series of papers on "My Old Maid's Corner," written for the Century by Lillie Hamilton French, will be brought out in attractive form.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have nearly ready three promising new novels: "The Shadow of Victory," a story of adventurous life on a western trading post in frontier days, by Myrtle Reed; "Free Not Bound," a romance of Revolutionary times, by Katrina Trask; and an absorbing detective story by Richard Dallas, called "A Master Hand." They also announce among their early fall publications "Protean Papers," by William Dudley Foulke; "Twelve Years in a Monastery," by Joseph McCabe; "The Record of a Family," a means of preserving interesting data in the lives of children from birth to maturity; "The Constitutional Decisions of John Marshall," edited by Joseph P. Cotton, Jr., in two volumes; "The Writings of Samuel Adams," edited by Professor Henry A. Cushing, in three volumes; the second volume of John Boyd Thacher's "Christopher Columbus;" "Parliamentary England," by Edward Jenks; "Ireland Under English Rule," by Thomas Addis Emmet; "Palaces, Prisons, and Resting Places of Mary Queen of Scots," by M. M. Shoemaker; the second volume of Hanotaux's "Contemporary France;" "Life of Voltaire," by S. G. Tallentyre; "Old Court Life in France," by Frances Elliott; "Romance of the Bourbon Châteaux," by Elizabeth W. Champney; a library edition of "French Life in Town and Country," by Hannah Lynch; "Austrian Life in Town and Country," by Francis H. E. Palmer; "Turkish Life in Town and Country," by Lucy M. J. Garnett; and the "Life and Teachings of Abbas Effendi," by Myron H. Phelps.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—H. D. Brown, well known to the Boston booktrade for many years, has just opened a store at 21 Boylston Street as the "Old Book Shop," where he intends to keep mostly old books, such as are out of print, and would be pleased to hear from the trade about such as they may want. Mr. Brown as a boy entered the well-known house of Gould & Lincoln, formerly of Boston, where he was for many years, and where many of the trade knew him. He has also had for the past twenty-six years a large experience in the second-hand line.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Mr. JAMES LANE ALLEN'S new novel

The Mettle of the Pasture Cloth, $1.50

"A mighty, masterful book, not only the finest work Mr. ALLEN has done, not merely the 'best book of the year' but one of the most vital American books of the last generation. If any book written in this country since the Civil War is to endure in our literature, The Mettle of the Pasture will endure—abiding as a triumph of American art and as a tribute to American character—for it is one of the small number of 'books that have immortal souls—books that make for righteousness.'"—St. Paul Dispatch.

Mr. JACK LONDON'S tingling novel

The Call of the Wild Third Edition Illustrated. $1.50

"Its romance is fascinating. . . . It takes hold of the attention irresistibly."

—HAMILTON W. MABIE.

"One of the best books of its kind that has ever been written . . . it is distinctly original . . . and sounds a new note in literature."—Town and Country.

"The book is exceptionally good."—HARRY THURSTON PECK.

BARBARA'S Pooplo of the Whirlpool

FROM THE EXPERIENCE BOOK OF "A COMMUTER'S WIFE"

Fifth edition, illustrated, $1.50

"Truly one of the most delightful books of this or any other year."—Baltimore Sun.

"It is by a woman who evidently writes from ample knowledge, who is keen without bitterness, satirical without malice, and pre-eminently sane and clear in her judgments."—The Outlook.

Mrs. ELY'S A Woman's Hardy Garden

"Elizabeth and The Commuter's Wife are my dearest friends. The affinity of our natures drew us together, but we have opened our small circle and taken you in. Elizabeth charmed me, fascinated me, and is my bewitching friend. The Commuter's Wife is my sympathetic friend, but you—you have filled the gap, the aching practical slide, and are my helpful friend."—From a Reader to the Author of "A Woman's Hardy Garden."

A Deal In Wheat

BY THE AUTHOR OF
"THE PIT"

By Frank Norris

Stories of the Old and New West, being a collection of Mr. Norris's best shorter work, written after the tremendous crude force of his early writings had been tempered by a wider knowledge of the world and of human nature.

A Child's Letters to Her Husband

By HELEN WATTERSON MOODY

Mrs. Moody's "The Unquiet Sex" was one of the brightest books in many years and her work is distinctly unusual even among the many clever women writers who have arisen lately. This delightful little volume contains the letters of a little girl to her imaginary spouse; and the missives have a remarkable amount of real feeling and delicate humor.

Little Masterpieces of Science

Edited by GEORGE ILES

Author of "Flame, Electricity and the Camera"

A sort of key to the 20th century world of scientific marvels—a companion set to the very successful literary series of which nearly a million volumes have been sold.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland writes: "It seems to me that I have never seen more valuable and improving information and study gathered together in smaller and yet not destructively cramped compass, or in a more attractive form."

In Old Alabama

By ANNE HOBSON

Miss Hobson comes of a distinguished family, being the sister of Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson and granddaughter of North Carolina's most famous chief justice. Her book promises new distinctions for the family, for it is perhaps the most accurate delineation of negro character since "Uncle Remus."

Toilers of the Home

The Record of a College Woman's Experience as a Domestic Servant

By LILLIAN PETTINGILL

This book is a singularly appropriate companion to "The Woman Who Tolls." That unique volume gave the life of the factory girl; this presents the experiences of a college graduate during a period of more than a year as a domestic servant.

It is a most entertaining book, but also one of significance; and it bears directly upon what is universally recognized as the most perplexing question of the American home.

A Suggestion

ON September 15th and 25th we shall publish three works of fiction which promise to be among the best selling books of the season. Each is by a writer whose popularity insures a large demand for his latest book, and this, together with the fact that we shall advertise them extensively in the newspapers throughout the country and in the leading magazines, is the reason why you should be well stocked with these titles :

THE ADVENTURES OF GERARD

By A. Conan Doyle

In which the king of story-tellers presents a hero who promises to rival Sherlock Holmes in popularity.

16 Full-Page Illustrations

Publishers' Trade List Annual

1903 comprises the lists of upwards of three hundred publishers—over eighty lists more than the work has before contained—which greatly enhance its value to the bookseller as an inexpensive work of reference for books in print. Notwithstanding the increase in size, the price remains as heretofore, $2.

NEW SUPPLEMENTARY INDEX

We are preparing this year a supplement to the Index volume of last year, which will include (1) the titles of the books of those publishers who were not represented in last year's Catalogues volume ; (2) the titles of the new books published since the issue of last year's Trade List Annual by the publishers represented in the 1902 and 1903 volumes ; and (3) the titles which were reported too late for insertion in last year's Index volume, as well as corrections, etc.

Supplementary Index, 1 vol., about 200 pages, 8vo, cloth, $2. After Publication, $2.50.

Only enough copies of the Supplementary Index will be printed to supply the demand from those who purchased last year's INDEX, and to bind up with the small number of the remaining copies of last year's INDEX, into a comprehensive volume of about 1300 pages, which will be priced at $5 for copies paid for in advance of publication, or $6 thereafter.

The prices in every case are net, and do not include carriage. Orders, with remittance, should be placed now. Directions for enclosure delivery in New York should accompany the order, unless shipment is to be by express at the charge of the subscriber. Address

FRENCH in animation of plot, and French in gaiety of spirit, the story is of life in France at the time of the first Napoleon.

Fifi, a charming actress of eighteen, is the star performer in a Parisian theatre.

Young and beautiful, poor and ambitious, talented and mischievous, there are great possibilities for her future. She wins the aid of the Emperor, the friendship of the Pope, and the capital prize in the lottery. And she wins at once the heart of the reader.

LETTERS HOME

By WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS

Author of "Questionable Shapes," "The Kentons," etc.

Mr. Howells has told this exceedingly interesting story in letters written to their various homes by a group of people who are in New York for different reasons. These letters not only describe New York life from interesting and novel view-points, but place before the reader the facts of a series of complications which form the basis of this novel of the American metropolis.

Uniform with Mr. Howells' other works. $1.50

JUDGMENT

By ALICE BROWN

Author of "Meadow Grass," "The Mannerings"

This is the story of a wife, who by the unconscious influence of her noble character, finally brought her husband to alter his stern conception of justice, and to see the true meaning of human charity. The crisis of their lives came through her heroic effort to save a young girl from the knowledge of certain behavior in the past of her betrothed, of which he had long repented. The story tells how the wife nearly sacrificed her own life to achieve this purpose, and how, through many strange complications in the lives of these people, truth and love finally triumphed.

THE STORIES OF PETER AND ELLEN

By GERTRUDE SMITH

Author of "The Lovable Tales of Janey and Josey and Joe," "The Reggie and Reggie Stories"

A companion volume to "The Lovable Tales of Janey and Josey and Joe." The story tells of where Peter and Ellen go on the fat, white pony, and of what they see, of the pet monkey, of the visits to "Wyville Pieville," and so on.

Sixteen full-page pictures in color. Square octavo, ornamented cloth, $1.30 net (postage extra)

A CANDLE OF UNDERSTANDING

By ELIZABETH BISLAND

Author of "A Flying Trip Around the World"

A love story of Mississippi and New York, beginning just after the war, when the hero and heroine are children, and concluding, very happily, in the present. The heart of the story lies in the exquisite portrayal of the Southern heroine from her childhood up. It has humor and great charm, especially in the picture of the heroine's childhood, which is drawn with a touch at once delicate, strong, and sure.

DARREL

of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER, Author of "EBEN HOLDEN" and "DR'I and I"

HARRIET PRES-COTT SPOFFORD:

"I have read of late few more delightful stories than 'Darrel of the Blessed Isles.' Entirely fresh in conception and plot, it leads one with gentle but absorbing interest and with skilfully managed surprises and incidents. There is a sweetness and strength about the whole book rarely found in the novels of the day, and in its own genre unsurpassed."

60th THOUSAND

HON. B. B. ODELL, Governor of New York:

"I enjoyed every page of 'Darrel.'"

NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS:

"'Darrel of the Blessed Isles' is at once the latest and the best of Mr. Bacheller's stories. It is an idyl of love and the story of a great happiness that came through a great self-sacrifice and expiation. Mr. Bacheller has clothed life's simplicities with enduring charm and beauty, and made honor and self-sacrifice, truth and love, seem the only things that are really worth while."

CYRUS NORTH-ROP, President of University of Minnesota:

"The story commands unflagging interest in the development of its plot, and yet the plot is not the most essential or the most attractive part of the work. The daily acts of unselfishness performed by a soul purified and ennobled by suffering are even more striking than the plot."

GORGO

A ROMANCE OF OLD ATHENS

By CHARLES K. GAINES, Ph.D., Professor of Greek in St. Lawrence University.

GORGO is the naive and captivating heroine, naming the book, beloved by Theramenes, the Athenian, whose stormy career in politics, love, and war furnishes the motive of the tale. The story is laid in a period covering the time of the great Peloponnesian conflict, and abounds in striking war pictures. Conspicuous historic figures of the time, such as Socrates and Alcibiades, are delineated in a manner singularly lifelike.

A PARISH OF TWO

BOSTON HERALD says:

ONE of the most brilliant pieces of fiction of the year is 'A Parish of Two,' by Henry Goelet McVickar, a well-known society man, and Percy Collins, a pseudonym which is said to be that of the society leader, Price Collier, of New York. The book is far above the average in conception and execution, and will be widely read and discussed because of its strong and unique plot, its sparkling epigrams, and the boldness of its attack on the morality of the weaker sex."

His New Novel

in The American:

"AND now comes Mr. Cyrus Townsend Brady writing with an unwonted force and seriousness, and giving us still another plot derived from the same well-known facts of life (the negro question). Mr. Brady's book is styled 'A Doctor of Philosophy,' and is one of the best bits of writing he has ever done. A born story teller, he improves in technique the more he publishes, and one is always sure to be entertained by him. In the present book he has done more than entertain, for in reading his story we cannot help thinking very seriously."

NOTES IN SEASON.

WYCIL & Co., owing to unexpectedly large advance orders, have been obliged to postpone, until September 18, the publication of "The Mis-Rule of Three," by Florence Warden.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have just ready "The Spinner Family," an interesting book on spiders for young people by Alice Jean Patterson, with frontispiece in color and other illustrations by Bruce Horsfall.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published "Shakespeare's Garden," by J. Harvey

Bloom, which, in the form of a Shakespearean poetical calendar, treats in due order, month by month, of the trees, shrubs and flowers which come to perfection at that particular time, illustrated with some exceedingly good reproductions of photographs of the Avon country; also, "Abraham and the Patriarchal Age," by the Rev. Professor Duff, and "David, the Sweet Singer of Israel," by the Rev. Canon Knox-Little, the first two volumes of a series of Scriptural hand-books, which, in general form, will agree with that of the Temple Bible.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready Mr. Howells's latest story, "Letters Home," in which New York life is described from interesting and novel points of view in letters written to their various homes by a group of people who are in New York for different reasons; "Judgment," by Alice Brown, the story of a wife who, by the unconscious influence of her noble character, finally brought her husband to alter his stern conception of justice, and to see the true meaning of human charity; "A Candle of Understanding," by Elizabeth Bisland, a story of Mississippi and New York, beginning just after the war, when the hero and heroine are children, and concluding, very happily in the present; Onoto Watanna's new Japanese love story, "The Heart of Hyacinth," the heroine of which is a young Japanese girl whose romance is quaintly developed by new and unusual means; also, Maeterlinck's new play, "Monna Vanna," translated by Alexis Irene du Pont Coleman, of the College of the City of New York; also, "The Stories of Peter and Ellen," by Gertrude Smith, a companion volume to "The Lovable Tales of Janey and Josey and Joe."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish this week "Vacation Days in Greece," by Professor Rufus B. Richardson, who during a residence of eleven years in Greece, as head of the American Archaeological School in Athens, had an unexcelled opportunity to visit many parts of Greece less frequently visited by the tourist, but most picturesque and interesting. The author describes his excursion into these regions in a series of sketches of great informal charm, told from the picturesque rather than from the archaeological and scholarly point of view. The sketches are attractively illustrated by unfamiliar and beautiful photographs. They have also just ready a work on "The Direct and Fundamental Proof of the Christian Religion," by Professor George William Knox, of Union Theological Seminary, who, in brief, sets forth the essential principle of Christianity and shows its validity and its adaptation to the ethical and religious needs of man. Later in the month they will bring out a novel by W. A. Fraser, whose "Mooswa" made so distinct a success, entitled "The Blood Lilies," the scene being laid in the North Country of Canada; "In African Forest and Jungle," Paul Du Chaillu's last book for young people, with illustrations by Victor Perard; also, a new boy's book by Cyrus Townsend Brady, entitled "In the War with Mexico," which forms the second story in the series called Boys of the Service.

Fowler, Ellen Thorneycroft, [Mrs. Alfred Laurence Felkin.] Place and power. N. Y., Appleton, 1903. [S.] c. '02, '03. 6+381 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of English middle-class life. The hero, Conrad Clayton, is the son of a self-made man, a wealthy manufacturer of hardware, who considers all religions superstitions, and believes there is no God, and that money and power are the two best things to strive for in life. Conrad has had these views instilled into him from childhood, and has become a cold, hard man, his life exemplifying his narrow creed. While in a worldly sense his career is a great success, he is forced to admit at the end of his life that it has not brought him happiness, and that there is an overruling power that he has not been able to defy.

Gaines, C: Kelsey. Gorgo: a romance of old Athens; il. by G: Varian. Bost., Lothrop, Pub. Co., [1903. Ag.] c. 2+507 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Gorgo is the naïve heroine, naming the book, beloved by Theramenes, the Athenian, whose stormy career in politics, love, and war furnishes the motive of the tale. How he wins the maid of his choice and carries her from a hostile city in defiance of Lysander, the Spartan chief, who afterwards lays low the walls of Athens, will be read with interest. The story is laid in a period covering the time of the great Peloponnesian conflict. Conspicuous historic figures of the time, such as Socrates and Alcibiades, are delineated in a lifelike manner.

This volume considers the important portage paths which were the keys to the interior of the continent to explorers, missionaries, traders, and pioneers. These little paths were considered of priceless importance, those of the central west being declared 'highways forever free' by the ordinance of 1787. The romance of the heroic "Black robes" who carried the cross so far aforesaid is of double interest when the struggles and dangers of the portage paths are fully considered. As boundary lines and sites of forts and trading stations these strategic pathways are of permanent historical importance.

The book is not fiction, but the personal experiences of the author while using the little-known drug hasheesh or Indian hemp. It has often been compared with De Quincy's "Opium Eater."

MacLane, Mary. My friend Annabel Lee. Chic., Herbert S. Stone & Co., 1903. [S1.] c. 4+262 p. por. D. cl., $1.50.

Mary MacLane's "Annabel Lee" is not Poe's heroine, but an inanimate little black and white statue of a Japanese woman. She plays the confidant chiefly to Mary McLane, who pours out to her her views upon almost every subject under the sun. The headings of a few of the chapters are: The flat surfaces of things; Boston; The young books of Troubridge; Minnie Maddern Fiske; When I went to the Butte High School, etc.

The author of "The column" has created six strongly individualized characters through whom he voices his thoughts on many of the problems especially important to the life of England and America. He begins with the return of the soldiers from the South African war. One of his men is electioneering for Parliament, and his views on the great shipping trusts and subsidizing of English ships decide his election. There is also a strong plea for the conventions, because the innocent so often suffer while the strong-minded are braving public opinion.

The Order of the Yellow Crayon was a secret society composed of the nobles of the earth, and originally instituted for united action against socialists and anarchists. Its members were under oath to obey to the letter all commands written in yellow pencil of a peculiar shade. At the time the action of the story takes place the acting head of the order was an unprincipled scoundrel who was using his great power to further certain nefarious schemes of his own, and the interest centres in the efforts of a former member of the order to bring these schemes to naught.

- The story begins in Paris in the late fifties and the heroine, an American girl from Ohio is distinguished by the notice of Napoleon III. at an exhibition of art. The emperor prophesies suffering which shall bring out the look the artist has already put into her portrait. A picture is then given of Eleanor's childhood and girlhood. The Civil War changes all things and Eleanor through love and sacrifice has gained what Napoleon foresaw. In 1872 she again sees the Emperor, fallen from his high place, a lonely inmate of Chiselhurst, England, and after all the years he recognizes the look that first fascinated him in her portrait.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 12, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE GOLDEN AGE OF THE OLD BOOK BUSINESS.

THE fifty years from 1825 to 1875 will probably in time be regarded as the "Golden Age" of the old book business in England and in the United States. During those years most of the rarest books now known were changing hands, the auction rooms on both sides of the Atlantic being kept busy with the cataloguing and selling of the "monuments of typography" reared since the invention of printing. The collector of that period still had leisure to indulge himself in his hobby; he had, furthermore, that knowledge of, as well as love for, books, and the zest for the hunt in person after rare book treasures, that differentiates the bibliophile from the bibliophile. The dealer in old books of that period was either a scholar or a bookworm who made up in instinct and phenomenal memory what he lacked in actual erudition. If the reader would gather but a faint picture of those times let him imagine himself at some auction in London of the period of which we speak, at Leigh & Sotheby's, Puttick's or Christie's, in the company of Dr. Dibdin, who is justly entitled to the honor of having created the love for rare books in England, and even on the Continent, where he raised "merrie hellee" on his "Bibliographical Tour;" John Payne Collier, Alexander Dyce, Henry Huth, the Earl of Crawford, the Earl of Ashburnham, the Earl of Hopetoun, J. O. Halliwell-Phillips, George Hibbert, to mention only a few collectors, or perhaps meet them in the shops of William Pickering, Henry G. Bohn, H. Sotheran, James Toovey, William D. Reeves, F. S. Ellis, Obadiah Rich, Henry Stevens or Bernard Quaritch; or, let him go back in imagination to those memorable nights at Cooley & Keese's, Bangs, Merwin & Co's., or George A. Leavitt & Co's in New York, and witness the battles royal for the treasures offered, between such giants as Dr. George H. Moore, J. Carson Brevoort, William Menzies, S. L. M. Barlow, Henry Cruse Murphy, John Carter Brown, James Lenox, John Allan, the Duyckinck brothers, Hamilton Cole and others of as great renown as mighty bookhunters, or listen to their book talk in the sanctum of George P. Phileas's shop on Nassau Street, at T. H. Morrell's around on Fulton Street, at D. G. Francis's on Broadway, or at the shops of William Gowans on Chatham Street, Bartlett & Welford in the Astor House on the Barclay Street side, at Sabin's on lower Nassau Street, J. W. Bouton's, 'way up Broadway, aye, even at Stockwell's, the ragman, on Ann Street, where the elect were permitted to rescue many a treasure from the maw of the paper mill. We remember, among others, a copy of "Hakluyt's Divers Voyages," 1582, that was thus saved, at practically the price of several pounds of old paper. Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," (1855,) with the "cow-boy portrait," was a drug in this shop at ten cents a copy. The libraries of a number of New York collectors were considerably enriched by manuscript and book treasures that were raked out of Stockwell's junk heaps.

In the earlier days, too, book treasures were still within the means even of impecunious collectors, and frequently a book or pamphlet that now fetch their weight in gold in the auction room might be picked up for the proverbial old song. Henry Stevens, it will be remembered, bought a copy of "The Bay Psalm Book," in a lot of old pamphlets, for 19s. at the Pickering sale in 1855, the volume having cost Pickering 3s. In 1878 Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt gave $1200 for the Brinley copy, and the imperfect Livermore copy in 1894 fetched $450. Henry Stevens, in his "Recollections of Mr. James Lenox," commenting on the changes of book values and the opportunities for obtaining them, says that in 1854 and 1855 he "expended more than $50,000; many opportunities occurring then that can hardly ever occur again for any collector of Mr. Lenox's tastes. On reviewing the invoices of these two years, I am confident that if the same works were now to be collected they would cost more than $250,000. But can such and so many rare books ever be collected again in that space of time?" Seventeen years have elapsed since this was written, and the difference in time has added probably several other fifths to the value of the books referred to by Mr. Stevens. Whether even at the increased price the same books could be gathered together in twenty years' time is exceedingly doubtful.

With these facts before him the aspiring young apprentice who is preparing himself for this field will realize that the future dealer in old books cannot hope to be favored by circumstances as his predecessors were, and that therefore he must come equipped with a deeper and wider knowledge and greater industry than his forefathers were obliged to possess in order to attain to the high position they held in the book world. That thus equipped it is still possible for a young man to make a mark let the example of M. Voynich suffice as a stimulant.

THE "UNIT" SERIES OF STANDARD BOOKS.

"THE UNIT BOOKS" is the name given to a new series of standard books to be published on rather novel lines by Howard Wilford Bell, 259 Fifth Avenue, New York City. The volumes are to be issued monthly, and will include the leading "classics" in fiction, literature, science and other fields, in standard unabridged form, with bibliographical, biographical and explanatory notes, and indexes. Arrangements have been made to include important copyright books, American and English. The special feature of the series is the varying scale of prices, graded according to size of book and form of issue. Taking a "unit" of twenty-five pages, the price for each unit is fixed at one cent. Thus one hundred pages cost four cents; 250 pages ten cents; 400 pages 16 cents, and so on. The volumes are issued in stiff paper covers, at cost of pages; in cloth at 30 cents additional, and in leather at 50 cents additional. Thus the price of each volume is regulated by number of pages and binding. The first one hundred books of the series have already been announced. One volume will appear on the first of every month, and the year's issue of twelve volumes may be subscribed for in advance. In outlining the plan Mr. Bell points out that the system adopted is more logical than the system of fixed prices for reprints, the prices being regulated by the actual cost of the materials and workmanship demanded for each volume.

OBITUARY NOTES.

CHARLES AMMI CUTTER, librarian of the Forbes Library, Northampton, Mass., died suddenly on Sunday, September 6, at Walpole, N. H. Mr. Cutter was one of the leaders and founders of the public library movement in the United States, and for nearly half a century his name has been identified with the literature and activities of the library profession. He was born in Boston, on March 14, 1837, and was graduated from Harvard College in 1855, and from the Harvard Divinity School in 1859. His entrance into library work was made during 1858 and 1859, when he served as librarian of the Divinity School, and in 1861 he became an assistant in the Harvard College Library, a post he held for eight years, acting also for one year of that time, (1867-68,) as assistant in the Boston Public Library. With his appointment in 1869 to the librarianship of the Boston Athenæum Mr. Cutter became prominently identified with the work by which his name will always be remembered. The dictionary catalogue of the Boston Athenæum, of which the five volumes appeared from 1874 to 1882, was the first great undertaking which he initiated, and it has remained a model of accuracy, research, thoroughness and system. Indeed, it was the exemplar of the "dictionary system" of cataloguing, of which Mr. Cutter was the exponent, and the methods formulated for its preparation gave the groundwork of the "Rules for a Dictionary Catalogue," published by Mr. Cutter in 1875, which as "Cutter's Rules" have been one of the foundation stones of modern library practice and still remain indispensable. In the organization and work of the American Library Association Mr. Cutter was most active, being one of those in attendance at the first organization meeting in Philadelphia in 1876, and his name is among the first and most constant contributors to the Library Journal, of which he was one of the associate editors at the time of its organization in the Centennial year. In 1881 he became general editor of the Library Journal, a relation that continued until 1892, when he resigned from the headship of the Boston Athenæum and spent several months abroad. In the autumn of 1894 Mr. Cutter became librarian of the Forbes Library, of Northampton, a position he held until his death. Although this position in some ways did not offer large scope for a man of Mr. Cutter's attainments, it gave him opportunity to carry through what he regarded as his life work—his system of "Expansive Classification." This is a scholarly and elaborate scheme for the classification of books, practically a codification of the field of human knowledge, more minute than the Dewey Decimal Classification, and intended to be equally applicable, by expansion or condensation, to large or small collections. It has been issued in parts, of which the first appeared in 1891, and at the time of Mr. Cutter's death he had practically completed the section dealing with the mathematical sciences. Several important divisions remained, and he had often of late years expressed the hope that he might live to see the "E. C." an accomplished fact. Mr. Cutter's many services and activities in the library field cannot be fully recorded here. He was president of the American Library Association from 1887 to 1889, a member of its council from 1889 to 1902, and always associated with its aims and work. He contributed to encyclopedias and literary periodicals, as well as to the library magazines, and he was a frequent lecturer at the various library schools. In nearly half a century of unceasing and devoted work for the advancement of library interests, his unflinching gentleness, readiness to help others and to give freely from the stores of his long experience made him a host of warm friends.

Mrs. JULIA MACNAIR WRIGHT, widow of Dr. W. J. Wright, died at Fulton, Mo., September 2. Mrs. Wright was born May 1, 1840, at Oswego, N. Y. She received an academic and private education, and was married in 1859 to William James Wright. Her works include "Seaside and Wayside Readers," "The Complete Home," "Early Church in Britain," "Bricks from Babel," "Saints and Sinners of the Bible," "Almost a Nun," "Priest and Nun," "The Gospel in the Riviera," "A Wife Hard Won," "The Sun and His Family," "The Story of Plant Life," "The Field of Fortune," "Tales for the New Century," "The Heir Athole," and many temperance books.

C. G. LUZAC, head of the firm of Luzac & Co., publishers of, and dealers in, Oriental books, and originator of "Luzac's Oriental List," died in London, August 13. Mr. Luzac was born at Leyden, Holland, in 1862, and began his career as bookseller in the employ of Brill in his native city. Subsequently he took a position with Brockhaus in Leipzig and Mohr of Tübingen, and then with Trübner & Co., in London. In 1890, in partnership with the late Mr. Wohlleben, he established the firm of Luzac & Co., this firm being dissolved in 1895. "By untiring energy and attention to detail Mr. Luzac," according to the London Publishers' Circular, "built up a business which has become famous in some of the remotest parts of the world."

MISS JULIA CLINTON JONES, a great granddaughter of General James Clinton of Revolutionary fame, and the granddaughter of Governor De Witt Clinton of New York, died September 8 at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland, Ore. She was an author and teacher. At the age of 17 she wrote and published "Valhall." Later she wrote "The Story of a Ship" and "Mechanical Art."

COMMUNICATIONS.

WARNING TO THE TRADE.

As it has come to my ears that certain irresponsible parties, representing themselves as being connected with my business, are ordering books from various dealers in my name, the trade is requested not to fill any orders unless signed by me, as I have no partner in this or in any other business, am the sole owner of the Antiquarian Book Concern, and have been so since 1878.

S. SHONFELD.

OMAHA, August 29, 1903.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MILDRED CHAMPAGNE, whose "Love Stories from Real Life" are shortly to be launched on the book world, is engaged in dramatizing the last story, the longest of the collection of four.

"UNCLE CHARLES," who edited the volume of "Childhood Classics" just brought out by Laird & Lee, is Charles Welsh, of Boston, well known for his contributions to the literature for young people.

JAMES GAIRDNER is editing a new edition of the "Paston Letters," to be published in six volumes. It will contain six hundred more letters than appeared in the original five-volume edition of 1787-1823.

MISS GRACE ESTHER DREW, daughter of the actress, Mrs. John W. Drew, for eight years a writer under the pen name of Margery Day, was married August 20 to George William Alger, a New York lawyer.

JULES VERNE has reconsidered his decision against submitting to an operation for cataract. His countless readers will hope that the operation may be successful, and that he may feel encouraged to resume his literary labors.

"A MAN OF KENT," (Dr. W. Robertson Nicoll,) writing in The British Weekly, says that he thinks it may be taken for certain that the author of "The Ms. in the Red Box" is the Rev. J. A. Hamilton, a Congregational minister of Penzance.

JAMES F. MUIRHEAD, the English editor of Baedeker handbooks, and author of "America, the Land of Contrasts," is now in this country preparing a third edition of his handbook of the United States. He will be grateful for corrections and suggestions from readers of the former editions, which may be forwarded to him in care of Charles Scribner's Sons, the American publishers of the Baedeker guides.

GEORGE FLEMMING, whose dramatization of "The Light That Failed" will be produced in this country next month, is really Miss Constance Fletcher, the daughter of an English clergyman. The stage version of "The Light That Failed," by the way, will accept the happy ending of the novel as Mr. Kipling wrote it for the first edition, published in 1891, and the illustrated edition that Doubleday, Page & Company are about to publish, with scenes from the play, while not departing from Mr. Kipling's latest text, will be arranged to show the outcome that appeals most to the dramatist.

DR. HENRY R. STILES, author of "The History of Ancient Windsor," one of the most useful contributions to the history of American town life, has written a companion work, "The History of Wethersfield, Connecticut." The new book will be in two large octavo volumes of about a thousand pages each, and will have numerous illustrations. The first volume will be filled with historical matter concerning Wethersfield and the adjacent towns of Rocky Hill, Newington and Glastonbury. The second will be devoted to genealogical information, giving facts relating to nearly one hundred of the best known old families of the place. The Grafton Press will publish it.

THE name of the Countess Potocka is perhaps best known to American readers through the pastel portrait of a Countess Potocka in the Berlin Museum, and by the memoirs translated by Lionel Strachey. The present Countess, whose story of the life of the great piano teacher, Leschetizky, is about to be published by the Century Company, is a sister of the musician's wife. The name Potocka is pronounced "Pototska," and a Countess Potocka is the wife of a Count Potocki—"Pototski." Theodore Leschetizky, who at fourteen set up his own establishment, has had as pupils the most distinguished talent from all parts of the world. Among them are Paderewski, Slivinski, Fanny Bloomfield Zeisler, Hopekirke, Gabrilowitsch, Schnabel and others.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE name of H. T. Copeland is no longer connected with that of Bliss Carman in the editorship of The Literary World. Mr. Carman is now sole editor. A number of changes and improvements have recently been made in the make-up of this periodical.

THE Book Monthly is the title of a new monthly which is to be launched in October by Simpkin, Marshall & Co., of London, in the interest of the booktrade and bookmen at large. The periodical will be edited by James Milne, author of "The Epistles of Atkins," etc., who, as the writer of the column of book news which appears twice a week in the Daily Chronicle, has for more than ten years been in close touch with London publishing.

THE "Newsboy Law," which the Child Labor Committee caused the New York State legislature to pass last fall, went into effect in New York City on September 1. It provides that no boy under ten years of age may sell papers, and that those between ten and under fourteen may do so only until 10 o'clock at night, and while doing so must wear badges which are being issued by the twenty-three District Superintendents of Schools in the different boroughs. The law also forbids any girl under sixteen to sell papers at any time.

IN The Printing Art for September special prominence is given to bookbinding. Miss S. T. Prideaux, the well-known English binder, contributes an article on "Edition Binding," describing in an interesting manner the various materials which have been used in bookbinding, and giving a short historical sketch of the development of the methods which are now employed in edition work. Samuel W. Marwin contributes an informing article on the subject of book cloths. This is accompanied by reproductions showing the principal textures of book cloths, with notes indicating their special adaptations. These special features of the September issue make it of unusual interest to the publisher, booklover, and illustrator. This number also contains exhibits of typography and color-printing, which are the distinguishing features of the publication.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ATLANTA, GA.—The Buehl Book Company has purchased the miscellaneous retail stock of the American Baptist Publication Society, and will conduct business at 69 Whitehall Street as heretofore. They have applied for a charter which will be issued about the last part of this month, with a capital stock of $25,000.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Court of Appeals has decided in the case of the Parmalee Library Co., which was adjudicated a bankrupt by the District Court, that libraries were not subject to bankrupt proceedings.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Through the postal inspectors here several arrests have been made of parties who are supposed to be connected with the Western Supply Co., of 1408 and 1409 Pontiac Building, of which C. B. Leach is supposed to be the head. The Western Supply Co., of 18 and 20 W. Randolph Street, has no connection with the concern in the Pontiac Building. Dealers cannot be too careful in looking up credit standing of customers before filling orders, even if it does cause some little delay, as there are fraudulent concerns springing up every now and then, some of whom use the same style, or similar style, of reputable concerns, with, of course, a different street address, in the large cities.

CLEVELAND, O.—The Imperial Press has been organized with a general supervisor, a superintendent and an artist binder. It aspires to be noted for fine bookmaking. It will begin with a treatise on "Printing in Relation to Graphic Art," by George French, issued in a limited edition, with "specifications detailing the processes employed and the material used."

CRESTON, IA.—J. Richards has succeeded to the book and stationery business of B. E. Hurst.

DENNISON, TEX.—J. L. Jones & Co. have purchased the entire stock of books, blank books, stationery and office supplies of G. E. Hughes.

FARGO, N. D.—The North Dakota Book & Stationery Company has doubled the size of the premises occupied by it.

HUTCHINSON, KAN.—Charles E. Campbell, bookseller, has assigned.

NEW YORK CITY.—Edward Lange, employed in a diary business at 2122 Eighth Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $209,918 and no assets. Nearly all the liabilities are in judgments obtained against him between 1893 and 1899 on notes which he made or indorsed for various companies in which he was interested. Among the creditors are the Importers' and Traders' National Bank, $96,445; Chemical National Bank, $26,000; Western National Bank, $15,294; National Eagle Bank of Boston, $7,457; Merchants' National Bank, of Plattsburg, N. Y., $4,086; United States Trust Company, $18,916, and Thomas D. Hurst, $14,060. Years ago Mr. Lange was connected with many large enterprises, among them being Lange, Little & Co., printers; the Trow Printing and Book-binding Company; Belford, Clarke & Co.; the John W. Lovell Company; the Alden Book Company; the United States Book Company, and the Lafayette Press.

NEW YORK CITY.—Perkins, Goodwin & Co. have purchased the business of A. M. Grant-ham, and will continue the same at 150 Fifth Avenue as an uptown branch of their offices under the management of George F. Perkins, Jr.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Modern Research Society, Robert C. Auld, manager, publishers of "The Current Encyclopedia," has removed to 233 W. 140th Street.

PORTLAND, ORE.—The Buckner Book Concern has been incorporated, for the purpose of printers and publishers. Capital, $75,000. President, H. L. Cram, Portland, Me.; treasurer, A. J. Sturgis, Portland, Me. Directors: H. L. Cram, A. J. Sturgis, Frederick Hale and H. P. Sweetser, all of Portland, Me.

REEDSBURG, WIS.—H. Thiemann has purchased I. Weaver's book business.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—Henry R. Hunting & Co. have opened a new bookstore at 204 Worthington Street, making a speciality of second-hand and bargain books. Mr. Hunting was formerly at the head of Henry R. Johnson's book department.

TOPEKA, KAN.—The book and stationery firm of James & Campbell has been dissolved.

VINTA, I. T.—Edward Rose, bookseller, has been succeeded by Carl Bradley.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

INDEX PUBLISHING COMPANY, Bloomington, Ind., have ready the second issue of volume 2 of the "Bibliography of Books Reviewed in Leading Periodicals," edited by George Flavel Danforth, which covers from January to June, 1903. The scope of the bibliography is enlarged to include English reviews, and the word American has therefore been dropped from the title. In cases of works already reviewed, a special designation refers to former reviews given in volume 1.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Burrows Brothers Company, Cleveland, O., Midsummer list of rare book department. Miscellaneous: autographs, bibliography, sport, etc. (No. 40, 257 titles.)—S. E. Garland, 177 Water St., East, St. Johns, Newfoundland, Miscellaneous; also list of pamphlets on Newfoundland. 8 p. 16°.)—A. Maurice & Co., 23 Bedford St., Strand, London, Engraved portraits of persons noted in the political and social history of various countries. (No. 135, 940 portraits. Voynich, 1 Soho Square, Oxford St., London, W., Short catalogue, Miscellaneous. (No. 3, 657 titles.)—Adolf Weigel, Wintergarten Strasse, No. 4, Leipzig, Germany, Miscellaneous. (No. 13, 385 titles.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE publication of John Morley's "Life of Gladstone" has been further postponed until October 9.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have in preparation "The Boss," a novel by Alfred Henry Lewis, which will tell in a dramatic way "how he came to rule New York."

WILLIAM J. KELLY, recently Eastern representative of W. B. Conkey & Co., has just started on a trip through New England for the New Amsterdam Book Company.

THE AULDE CHEMICAL COMPANY, Philadelphia, have just issued "Therapeutic Guide in Physiological Cell Medication," by Dr. John Aulde, whose book is adapted to the treatment of emergencies, acute diseases and slight ailments.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY will publish at once a new book by Roland B. Molineaux, entitled "The Vice Admiral of the Blue," a historical novel, with Admiral Nelson as its hero; also, "The Third Degree," a detective story by Charles Ross Jackson.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just ready a novelette by Harriet Prescott Spofford, entitled "That Betty;" also, "Honor Dalton," by Frances Campbell Sparhawk, a stimulating romance that negatives the cynical motto, "Every man has his price."

THE LIFE PUBLISHING COMPANY is getting out a collection of the vers de société of Tom Masson to be called "In Merry Measure." The book will be ready early in the fall, and will be similar in make-up to the volumes "Taken from Life" and "Rhymes and Roundelays."

JOHN MURRAY, London, will publish in October, "A Study of Galileo's Life and Work," by J. J. Fahle, who reviews Galileo's achievements in the light of the most recent scientific knowledge. The book will contain portraits and illustrations and a complete bibliography.

A NUMBER of members of the New York Newsdealers and Stationers' Protective and Benevolent Association have sent to R. Fulton Cutting a recommendation that Thomas F. Martin, president of the United Dealers' News Company, be nominated for Sheriff on the fusion ticket.

THE WALKER-ELLERSON PUBLISHING COMPANY, 40 West Twenty-eight Street, New York, have published a story of the negro question, entitled "The Curse of Caste," in which the author reviews the disadvantages under which the negro in this country labors, and endeavors to show how he can become a respected citizen.

FOX, DUFFIELD & Co. will publish shortly a novel by Neith Boyce, entitled "The Fore-runner," a study of the typical American promoter and money-maker. Neith Boyce, we understand, is the maiden name of a young American now living in Italy. She is a native of California, and has had some experience at newspaper work in New York city.

SINCE Mark Twain wrote of steamboat life on the Mississippi, this dramatic field has been neglected. Its opportunities have been perceived by G. W. Ogden, whose short stories of steamboat racing and other features of river life have proved so popular, and he is just completing a novel entitled "Tennessee Todd," which will be published by A. S. Barnes & Co.

JOSEPH McDONOUGH, Albany, N. Y., has just ready a reprint of John Gilmary Shea's "Discovery and Exploration of the Mississippi Valley, with the original narratives of Marquette, Allouez, Membre, Hennepin and Anastase Douay." The edition is printed from new type, and has a facsimile of the map of Marquette, one of Marquette's letters, and a steel portrait of La Salle.

THE FOREST AND STREAM PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish shortly a special limited edition de luxe of Grinnell's "American Duck Shooting." The edition will consist of 600 numbered copies, each signed by the author, printed on specially made deckle-edged paper, and the full page plates on India tint paper. The first edition of this work proved so attractive to sportsmen that it was soon exhausted, and there was frequent call for a more elaborate edition.

THE W. B. CONKEY COMPANY have added to their holiday line this year an Ajax edition of poets, with illustrations and rubricated title-pages, bound in padded covers. They continue the Acorn Edition of poets, bound in French seal grain leather, padded, embossed with a spray of oak leaves in colors, covering the sides and back. They have added twenty new volumes to their Young People's Cloth Library, a series of twelvemos fully illustrated and attractively bound.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish during the winter "The Fall of Feudalism in Ireland," by Michael Davitt, the story of the Anglo-Irish struggle for the land of Ireland, especially from 1870 down to the passing of the recent act under which the British Exchequer loans to the Irish peasantry $560,000,000 to buy out English landlords. They will publish in the Fall a book of travel by Charles H. Hawes, entitled "The Uttermost Far East," in which the author gives an account of Saghali, the Russian penal settlement lying in the Pacific.

L. C. PAGE & Co. announce for early publication Bliss Carman's first book of prose, entitled "The Kinship of Nature," a volume of essays; also, "Sappho, One Hundred Lyrics." In the last named volume Mr. Carman, founding upon the existing fragments of Sappho's poetry, has constructed such poems as he imagines the originals may have been. The results will no doubt be watched with curiosity by the lovers of literature. The edition will be limited to 750 copies—500 on Strathmore paper; 200 on English hand made paper, and 50 on Imperial Japanese paper.

THE VILLAGE PRESS, established in the village of Park Ridge, Ill., by Fred W. Goudy and Will H. Ransom, formerly of The Handicraft Shop, Snohomish, have in preparation

"Printing," an essay by William Morris and Emery Walker, reprinted from "Arts and Crafts Essays," Lamb's "A Dissertation on Roast Pig," with an introduction by C. L. Hooper, of the Northwest Division High School of Chicago; also, Goldsmith's "The Traveller" and "The Deserted Village." These books will be printed from type designed by Mr. Goudy, on specially made paper.

IN honor of the centennial celebration of the University of Heidelberg, already mentioned in these columns, two memorial volumes on the famous teachers of the Ruperto-Carola and their work during the past century are to be published by the house of Carl Winter. All the departments of the university will be represented, and the volumes will thoroughly exhibit the scientific work done by the oldest German university during the period in question. Sixteen of the Heidelberg professors have united in preparing it, and the general introduction is from the pen of Dr. Fritz Schöll.

THE INSURANCE PRESS, 120 Liberty Street, New York, will publish at once an "Investment Directory," by S. H. Wolfe, giving a "description and classification of bonds and stocks to the par value of about $1,250,000,000 held on January 1, 1903, by insurance companies transacting business in the United States." The book is divided into two parts, securities classified by form, year of maturity, and rate of interest, and schedules of securities owned by the various insurance companies. A complete index to securities will be given at the end of the volume. Among other things, it will give an insight into the selections made by insurance companies of local securities, namely, State, municipal, and miscellaneous bonds, etc.

ROBERT GRIER COOKE, New York City, will publish during October "Three Masques," by Ben Jonson, including "The Masque of Oberon," "The Masque of Blackness," and "The Masque of Beauty." The edition, limited to 152 copies, will be printed in the new Lucca della Robbia type, on hand-made paper, and will have for frontispiece a reproduction of the copper plate portrait of Jonson by Houbraken. A special edition of 26 copies, bound in full vellum, with silk tie clasps, lettered from A to Z, will have in each copy six large initials hand-painted by William Cushing Bamburg, whose style, as the New York Evening Post has said, "is bold, picturesque and solid, quite in the character of good fourteenth century work."

JAMES POTT & Co. will publish on September 15 "Along Four-Footed Trails, Wild Animals of the Plains," by Ruth A. Cook; "The Negro Problem," a timely book, by Booker T. Washington, Professor W. E. B. Du Bois, Paul Lawrence Dunbar, Charles W. Chesnutt, and others; "Count Falcon of the Eyrie," a novel, by Clinton Scollard; "Paris in '48," by Baroness Bonde; "Galileo, his Life and Work," by J. J. Fahie; "A Short History of Ancient Greek Sculptors," by Helen Edith Legge; "The Eastward Road," by Jeannette Bliss Gillespy; three new volumes on author's homes, edited by Francis Whiting Halsey; also, "Charles James Fox, a Political Study," by J. L. LeB. Hammond. They will publish on October 1 "Budapest, the City of the Magyars," by F. Berkeley Smith, author of "How Paris Amuses Itself," and "Nurse Norah," by Elliott Flower, author of "Policeman Flynn."

DODD, MEAD & Co. are authorized to state in the most emphatic manner that there is no truth whatever in the statement which is being circulated by Sidney Lee in his pamphlet "The Alleged Vandalism at Stratford-on-Avon," to the effect that Miss Marie Corelli wanted the disputed site in Henley Street for a Free Library of her own, and that this was the reason of her objection to the erection of Mr. Carnegie's library. She never had any such idea or intention, and the false and malicious report is being dealt with by her solicitors in two actions for libel which will be tried in due course. Another pamphlet entitled "The Plain Truth of the Stratford-on-Avon Controversy," by Miss Corelli, is just published in London and will reach America shortly. All the facts of the discussion are given, and some very remarkable illustrations of the old cottages which Miss Corelli's protest has saved, are also included.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY publish this week "The Being with the Upturned Face," a work of high moral purpose, developing the idea of man as a being transitional between the animal and the spiritual, by Clarence Lathbury. They will publish next week "Typical Elders and Deacons," composite character sketches, by the Rev. James M. Campbell, ("Hamish Man,") author of "Clerical Types." Later in the month they will bring out "The Red Poocher," four captivating stories of a clever Irish poacher, ("poocher,") by Seumas MacManus; "Tolstoy and His Message," by Ernest H. Crosby; "A Hundred Years of Missions," a history of the incidents and lessons of missions and missionary work in all lands since Carey began his labors, by D. L. Leonard, revised to date; "Modern Practical Theology," a manual of homiletics, liturgics, polemics, etc., for the use of preachers, instructors and students, by Professor Ferdinand Schenck; also, the fifth volume of "The Jewish Encyclopedia."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY announce for early publication "Home Arts and Crafts," a practical book offering self instruction in modelling clay, wood carving, fret-sawing, burntwood work, leather decoration, etching on metal, metal hammering, wall paper designing, textile designing, taxidermy and other useful arts, edited by Montague Marks and profusely illustrated; a new edition of Boccaccio's "Decameron" in two handsome volumes, illustrated with photogravures by Louis Chalon; a new edition, in two volumes, of the "Memoirs of Count Grammont," based on the text of Sir Walter Scott's edition of 1811, edited by Gordon Goodwin; a new edition of "Forty-four Years of the Life of a Hunter," by Meshach Browning, which at one time enjoyed a large popularity; "Acetylene: the Principles of its Generation and Use," by F. H. Leeds and W. J. A. Butterfield; also, "Water Supply," a practical treatise on the selection of sources and the distribution of water, by Reginald E. Middleton.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will publish shortly "The Nile Quest," by Sir Harry Johnston, the first of the Story of Exploration series, a collection of volumes of a serious and semi-educational nature, but intended for popular reading, giving the story of exploration. The series is edited by Dr. Scott Keltie of the Royal Geographical Society. Such subjects as the discoveries by Nansen, Speke, Stanley, Jacques Cartier, La Salle, and Cook will be included. "The Siege of the North Pole," by Nansen, will follow Sir Harry Johnston's book, and others in preparation are by competent authorities. They have also nearly ready "Dennis Fogarty," in which "Lord Gilhooley," the author of "The God Yutzo," etc., presents the ideas of Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty on men, women and events. Dennis Fogarty was a one time soldier, whose experience extended to many climes and who was a humorous and wise philosopher in his way. They have in preparation a series of twelve sketches in color by Clarence F. Underwood, showing the American girl of to-day; also, "A Second Book of Goops," by Gelett Burgess, which will contain narrative as well as pictures.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co., Philadelphia, report that Professor Hilprecht's great work on Biblical Archaeology continues to be in steady demand, and that the sales in Great Britain and on the continent have been much larger than were anticipated. The book has received numerous extended and critical reviews in the press throughout the world, which doubtless accounts for the unusual popularity. The Professor's controversy with the famous Dr. Delitzsch of Berlin, who holds many views diametrically opposite will account in a measure for the interest manifested in Germany. So numerous have been the calls for the work in German that an edition is now under way in Germany containing Dr. Hilprecht's article only. The exclusive control for America will be vested with the firm of Holman & Co. One would suppose that it would be impossible to bring out anything new in the Bible line at this time, but this firm has just finished an edition in quarto size, self-pronouncing, as distinguished from the previous accented editions. The type is the "New Century Expanded," and is the largest used in any pronouncing Bible.

D. APPLETON & Co. publish this week "Place and Power," by Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, a story of an ambitious man whose most cherished aims are frustrated through retributive justice. The story is full of attractive characterization, and the main action of the plot is skilfully hidden until the right moment. They will publish next month "The Life and Times of Thomas Jefferson," by Thomas E. Watson, which promises to be one of the notable books of the year in American history and biography. Like Mr. Watson's "Story of France" and "Life of Napoleon," it is written with vigor, freedom from the conventional point of view, and a strong purpose to present Jefferson as a living personality. Throughout, the events and influences of Jefferson's life are so handled as to show their relation to the principles and development of American democracy. They also have in preparation a story of the girlhood days of the Empress Josephine, entitled "Mamzelle Fifine," by Mrs. Eleanor Atkinson, who is said to invest her character with a new light, not less delightful than that of the more historic days when the Creole girl had become the consort of one of the mightiest rulers of the world.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY will publish some remarkably good books for young people during the coming weeks. Among these we note "Not for Crown or Sceptre," by Miss D. Alcock, has its scene in Sweden and deals with the stirring events in the reign of King John, especially those in connection with the great Liturgist controversy; "Ought We to Care, or, Esther's Opportunity," by L. B. Richardson, a New England story at times quaintly old-fashioned; "The Coming of Caroline," by Mary Q. Brush, is a story illustrating the beautiful words, "And a little child shall lead them;" Martha Burr Banks has written a companion volume to "Dame Dimple's Thanksgiving," telling of "Dame Dimple's Christmas;" Annette L. Noble, always good, always popular, contributes "Under Twelve Flags," telling of children in twelve different lands all trying to lead good, earnest Christian lives; "Her Father's Family," by Adelaide L. Rouse, tells the story of a selfish girl who became a helpful, useful woman; and "Entering Into His Own," by Hope Daring, has its scene around Little Travers Bay, Michigan, and its hero in a little orphan boy carefully guarded by a kind physician till he came into his own as a useful Christian man.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish this month an important biography of "Robert Morris, Patriot and Financier," by Ellis Payson Oberholtzer, who has based his researches on manuscripts only now accessible, and has brought out many new incidents in the life of the great statesman of the Revolution; "Tenement House Conditions in New York," by Robert W. De Forest, embodying in two substantial volumes the results of the investigations conducted by the tenement house commissioner in 1900; and "World's Children," a beautiful volume, giving charming pictures in colors of children of the various nations, by Mortimer Menpes, with text by Miss Dorothy Menpes, the mechanical work of engraving and printing having been done by Miss Maud Menpes at the Menpes Press. Clifton Johnson will continue his portrayals of other lands with a new book devoted to "The Land of the Heather," and depicting in its text and fine photographic views the historic scenes and little known byways of Scotland; and Daniel P. Rhodes, the son of James Fords Rhodes, the historian, will make his first appearance in authorship with "A Pleasure Book of Grindelwald," picturing the delights and amusements of that famous Swiss resort.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce an important historical work under the title of "The United States in Our Own Time," which is an extension of "A History of the Last Quarter Century," by E. Benjamin Andrews, who has revised and brought down the work so as to cover the entire period from the reconstruction of the Union to the new expansion of our territory, that is, from 1870 to 1903; Lord Wolseley's "Story of a Soldier's Life," in two volumes, which begin with the author's description of the part he took in the Burmese war in 1852, and closes with an account of the Ashanti war; "An Unpublished Essay of Jonathan Edwards on the Trinity, with Remarks on Edwards and his Theology," by Professor George P. Fisher of Yale; "A Primer of Hebrew," by the Rev. Dr. Charles Prospero Faguani, by the help of which the beginner may, in two months, and without the assistance of a teacher, so familiarize himself with the main features of the language as to be fitted to take up the study of the text of the Old Testament with the help of lexicon and grammar; also, "With the Allies to Peking," a story of the relief of the legations, and "Through Three Campaigns," a story of Chitral, Tirah and Ashanti, two new complete stories by Henty, that were found after that popular author's death.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish the following new books for young people in the autumn: "The Golden Windows," a book of fables for old and young, by Laura E. Richards, with illustrations by Arthur E. Becher, and decorations and a cover design by Mrs. Richards's talented daughter, Julia Ward Richards; "Ursula's Freshman," a sequel to "Nathalie's Chum," by Anna Chapin Ray; "Brenda's Bargain," the last of the "Brenda" books for older girls, by Helen Leah Reed; "Jack the Fire-Dog," by Lily F. Wesselhoeft, the well-known animal and nature story-writer; "Camp Fidelity Girls," by Annie Hamilton Donnell; "Blake Redding: a Boy of To-day," by Nathalie Rice Clark; "Robin Hood: His Book," by Eva March Tappan, illustrated in color; "The Giant's Ruby, and Other Fairy Stories," by Mabel Fuller Blodgett, illustrated by Katherine Pyle; "Jane and John, Their Plays, Parties and Picnics," by Elizabeth Polhemus, illustrated in color; "Elizabeth's Charm-String," by Cora B. Forbes; "Pioneer Spaniards in North America," by William Henry Johnson, author of "The World's Discoverers," also, "Daniel Webster for Young Americans," a selection of the great orator's most famous speeches, with introduction and notes by Professor Charles F. Richardson, of Dartmouth College.

THE BURROWS BROTHERS COMPANY have ready the sixth of the series known as the "B. B. Reprints," which are devoted to the reissue in a cheap yet appropriate form of numerous rare tracts or scarce books heretofore obtainable only through manual methods or by extraordinary effort, together with the outlay of no little expense and labor. During the year 1698 one Gabriel Thomas issued in London a pamphlet bearing the following title: "An Historical and Geographical Account of the Province and Country of Pennsylvania; and of West-New-Jersey in America. The Richness of the Soil, the Sweetness of the Situation, the Wholesomeness of the Air, the Navigable Rivers, and others, the prodigious Encrease of Corn, the flourishing Condition of the City of Philadelphia, with the stately Buildings and other Improvements there. The strange Creatures, as Birds, Beasts, Fishes, and Fowls, with the several sorts of Minerals, Purging Waters, and Stones, lately discovered. The Natives, Aborigines, their Language, Religion, Laws, and Customs; the first Planters, the Dutch, Sweeds and English, with the number of its Inhabitants, as also a Touch upon George Keith's New Religion, in his second change since he left the Quakers." This is now issued as "B. B." reprint No. 6. Cyrus Townsend Brady has attended to the critical portion of the work. Facsimiles of the original title-page are added and also of the rare maps.

JOHN LANE announces a work on "Africa from South to North, through Marotseland," by Major A. St. H. Gibbons; "Emile Zola: Novelist and Reformer," an account of his life work and influence, by E. A. Vizetelly; "The Life of St. Mary Magdalen," translated from the Italian by Valentine Hawtreay, with illustrations reproduced from old masters; "After Worcester Fight," by Allen Fea, being the contemporary accounts of the escape of King Charles II, and "Juniper Hall," by Constance Hill, an account of the rendezvous of French and English personages in 1792. In belles-lettres Mr. Lane is preparing "Under the Hill," by Aubrey Beardsley, a posthumous volume of essays in prose and verse, with illustrations by the author; "Footprints of Former Men in Far Cornwall," by Robert Stephen Hawker; "Hortus Vitæ, or, the Hanging Gardens," moralizing essays, by Vernon Lee; "The Defence of Guenevere," by William Morris; "The Poets' Charter, or, the Book of Job," by F. B. Money-Coutts; and "The Literary Guillotine," a report of the proceedings of the Literary Emergency Court, presided over by Mark Twain. Art works for the holiday season comprise "A Book of Country Houses," by Ernest Newton; "Armorial Families," by Arthur Charles Fox-Davies; and "The Studio Art Album" and "The Studio Art Portfolio," both compiled from the treasures of the International Studio. There are also several volumes of poetry and juveniles forthcoming.

CUPPLES & LEON, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, announce for the fall and holiday season a helpful book for young men, entitled "The Problem of Success for Young Men and How to Solve It," containing fifty contributions by self-made men, with an introduction by Bishop Henry Codman Potter, and portrait and autograph of the author of each contribution; "Our Country's Pride—the Army and Navy," official illustrations from the Army and Navy Register; "A Touch of New England," an old-fashioned story for young and old hearts, by Mary Woodman, with a number of illustrations, making an attractive gift book for young or old; "Lady Bountiful and Phyllis," a number of illustrations printed in color by Gene Carr, who contributed most of the pictures to the New York World; also, the well-known New York American and Journal comic books, including "The Katzenjammer Kids," "Alphonse and Gaston," "On and Off the Ark," "Happy Hooligan," "Pore Lil Mose," and "The Tigers," each containing forty pages of colored illustrations by such well-known cartoonists as Oppen, Swinnerton, Outcault and R. Dirks. For children they have twelve Mother Goose rhymes illustrated by Walter Crane, which may be had separately in stiff paper covers, or in one volume under the title of "Walter Crane's Picture Book." Cupples & Leon are sole selling agents for DeWolfe, Fiske & Co., of Boston, and Eastern sales agents for the Madison Book Company, of Chicago.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish on the 17th inst. a "Color Key to North American Birds," by Frank M. Chapman, which will contain over 800 illustrations in color by C. A. Reed. To the description of plumage are added a statement of the bird's range, telling where and when it may be found, and also a description of its notes. Not only are songsters included, but such birds as gulls, ducks, hawks, etc. On the same date they will publish the record of a journey made "To California and Back," by C. A. Higgins and Charles A. Keeler. They will bring out on the 24th of September Professor William H. Pickering's long-delayed atlas of "The Moon," which will contain nearly 100 illustrations taken at Jamaica when Professor Pickering went there in charge of a party from Harvard University. The contents include chapters on the origin of the moon, rotation, atmosphere, and water; origin of the lunar formations, active craters and vegetation, snow on the moon, the lunar canals, superstitions and fancies, history of lunar research, explanation of scientific terms and the lunar atlas. They will publish later in the month a new book by Ernest Thompson Seton, untitled "The Two Little Savages," in which the author will tell everything that boys of any age want to know about woodcraft, our native animals and the joy of country life. They have in preparation a "Life of General Samuel C. Armstrong, the founder of Hampton Institute," by his daughter, Mrs. Edith Talbot, which is described as an intimate record and interpretation of one of the most inspiring personalities in our recent history.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish in the autumn a work by Max Müller, new to most English-speaking readers. This is "The Silesian Horseherd," ("Das Pferdebürla") published some years ago in Germany, and consisting of a controversy on religion carried on between Professor Max Müller and an unknown correspondent in America. It is now first translated into English by Oscar A. Fechter, mayor of North Yakima, Washington, with a preface by J. Estlin Carpenter. They announce also a volume of "Collected Verses," by Alfred Cochrane; and beautiful limited editions, in Kelmscott Press style, of Wotton's "Elements of Architecture," William Morris's "Dream of John Ball" and "A King's Lesson," in one volume, and his "The Hollow Land," and other contributions to the Oxford and Cambridge Magazine. In literature this firm's list has been increased by the transfer of the Brantwood edition of Ruskin's works, with introductions by Charles Eliot Norton, formerly published in this country by Maynard, Merrill & Co. The writers, who under the names of "E. C. Somerville" and "Martin Ross," have produced several delightful volumes of Irish sketches, will be represented by a new edition of "An Irish Cousin," first published in 1889 and long out of print; and "Slipper's A B C of Hunting," by E. C. Somerville, will be an amusing account of hunting adventures, with illustrations in color by the author. The famous ditty, "Bold Turpin: a Romance as Sung by Sam Weller," will be brought out, with colored drawings by L. D. Luard. New books for children include "The Golliwoggs' Circus," a further narrative of the fascinating "Golliwogg" adventures, by Florence K. and Bertha Upton; "The Crimson Fairy Book," edited by Andrew Lang; "Little Golden Hood, and Other Stories," edited by Mrs. Heller and Lois Bates; "The Snow Man, and Other Stories," and "Greek History for Young Readers," by Alice Zimmern.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS has in preparation a fine limited edition of the "Letters of Horace Walpole," edited by Mrs. Paget Toynbee. This edition, arrangements for which were made with Mrs. Toynbee by the Delegates of the Clarendon Press, will be as complete as it is possible to make it, Mrs. Toynbee having obtained the use of over four hundred letters not included in previous "Collected Letters," over one hundred of which have never before been printed. The text will be carefully collated with the original manuscripts whenever possible, and the notes, except those written by Walpole himself, have been specially compiled for this edition. There will be fifty-five photogravure portraits of Walpole and his circle, facsimiles of original letters, and an exhaustive analytical index. The work will appear in sixteen volumes, of which volumes 1-4 will appear in November of the present year, volumes 5-10 in November, 1904, and volumes 11-16 in November, 1905. It will be printed on hand-made paper and the edition is limited to two hundred and sixty copies, bound either in boards or leather. Besides this edition there will be an eight double-volume edition on India paper, and a sixteen volume edition on specially made lightweight paper. It is expected that this edition of Walpole's letters will be followed by the publication of the letters to Walpole written by Mme. du Deffand, also arranged and edited by Mrs. Toynbee. The Oxford University Press has also in preparation an édition de luxe of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," with drawings on wood by George Cruikshank, which, though made fifty years ago, have never yet been published; "The Songs of Robert Burns, now first printed with the melodies for which they were written," with a bibliography, historical notes and a glossary, by James C. Dick; also, "Facsimiles of Royal and Other Charters in the British Museum," from William I. through the reign of Richard I., edited by George F.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just brought out the second volume of John Boyd Thach-er's monumental work on "Christopher Columbus," of which the first volume appeared last April. The work is rich in original documents never before translated and in facsimiles of ancient books and reprints. The third and concluding volume may be expected shortly. A Collector's edition, in six volumes, of this sumptuous work will be brought out at once. Adam Smith's classic work, "The Wealth of Nations," is to be brought out in a new edition carefully prepared, with elaborate notes, by Professor Edwin Cannan, the well-known English authority on political economy, and other books of importance in the domain of science and art will include: "The Art of the Italian Renaissance," by Heinrich Wölfflin, of the University of Munich; "Rome and the Renaissance: the Pontificate of Julius II.," translated from the French of Julian Kackso; "Japanese Physical Training," by H. Irving Hancock, who carefully explains how by this system a skilled woman can overcome the strongest man; "The Enlargement of Life," by Frederick Lynch; "The Nature of Man," studies in optimistic philosophy, by Elie Metchnikoff; "The Laws and Principles of Bridge," by the expert, Badsworth; also, new editions of "One Religion—Many Creeds," by Ross Winans; "Laws of Scientific Hand-Reading," by William G. Benham; and "An Easy Guide to the Constellations," by the Rev. James Gall. They also announce a new edition of "Writings and Letters of Charles and Mary Lamb," edited by E. V. Lucas. This will be the first edition to include Lamb's "Dramatic Specimens," the first to comprise in one volume all the children's books of the Lambs, and the first to reproduce all the original illustrations to the works of the Lambs and to give facsimile title-pages. The most important of the new pieces which Mr. Lucas has identified are the six "Lepus Papers" rescued from the New Times of 1825, by means of a clue contained in Crabb Robinson's manuscript diary. According to no less an authority than the English critic, Mr. William Archer, these papers are "nearly, if not quite, in Lamb's happiest vein, and form a substantial and delightful aftermath to the 'Essays of Elia.'" An attractive brochure on "Washington Irving," containing an account by George Haven Putnam of his life, work and relations with his publishers, and a chronological list of editions, from the Salmagundi of 1807 down, combines the uses of an informed and accurate sketch, a detailed catalogue and a renewed announcement of late editions. The new volume in the Story of the Nations series will be Part I of Thomas C. Dawson's "South American Republics."

PICK-UPS.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—At a meeting of a society of women writers in London Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin-Riggs told of the number of children in various kindergarten establishments that had been named after her. "That's nothing," said an Englishwoman, "my friend, Marie Corelli, had a race horse named after her, and the jockeys persisted in calling it the Merry Gorilla, so she has to suffer that nickname from the knowing."—New York Times.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

A Strong and Realistic Story

The Sherrods

By George Barr McCutcheon

Author of

"GRAUSTARK" "CASTLE CRANEYCROW" Etc.

In an entirely different vein from his former work

THE story opens in Clay County, Indiana, beginning with the idyllic love of the young farmer and the girl teacher, which culminates in a marriage that brings perfect bliss in spite of poverty and hard work. The development of an intricate plot, worked out in a masterly manner, keeps the interest of the reader at the highest tension, as one follows the awakening of ambition in the young man, his life in Chicago, where he rises rapidly in his profession, his first downward step, the frightful entanglement into which his weakness leads him, up to the tragical end which brings into high relief the characters of two noble women.

"A first rate American Story, full of Action and Interest."

"Like others of the successful books which have had enormous sales, it has that indefinable something about it which few stories possess, and which forces a book into universal popularity."

The Mis=Rule of Three

A Story of Love, Mystery and Adventure

By FLORENCE WARDEN

With Eight Full-Page Illustrations by CAROLINE FULGHUM

12mo, Ornamental Cloth, $1.50

"The best work Mrs. James has done since her famous 'House on the Marsh.'"

Possessing all the elements of a mystery of the moated grange, and holding the interest of the reader from start to finish, flashes of humor enliven what seems at times to be a tragedy, and the dialogue is bright and sparkling.

Popular Science for Younger Readers

The Spinner Family

By ALICE JEAN PATTERSON

With frontispiece in color and other illustrations by Bruce Horsfall

12mo, net $1.00; delivered, $1.07

Young people are especially attracted to the living things about them, and the spiders are always a peculiarly fascinating subject of their observation. They are a most interesting family of insects, and their ingenuity and patience are astonishing. Miss Patterson has given the spiders very careful and painstaking study, and has written a distinct, simple and attractive account, which makes an apparently complex and gruesome subject both entertaining and instructive. In the frontispiece in color, and many sketches and diagrams in the text by Bruce Horsfall, this famous nature artist has admirably interpreted and complemented the author's descriptions.

MISS POTTER'S new novel, "The Castle of Twilight," is a romance of unusual beauty and nobility, both in conception and treatment.

The pictures by Charlotte Weber show an equal inspiration on the part of the artist, backed by the engraver's most sympathetic skill.

In other details it is a perfect example of all that is best in modern book making.

Published by A. C. McClurg & Co.

PUBLISHERS are gradually realizing the importance of two vital facts, especially when contemplating having large editions bound.

FIRST—To have their books bound in the best possible manner.

SECOND—To save enough money thereon as will guarantee an enormous annual extra dividend.

You are certainly not averse to making money. Ask me to submit samples and estimates. You will then follow the lead of some of the best publishing houses who find it profitable to give me their work.

THE WINGS OF THE MORNING

By LOUIS TRACY

IS OUT NOW and pleases people who enjoy a thoroughly good story. The New York Sun reviewer, before going into the details of the novel, (which he does in a column article,) says :

"You can't help reading it."

"You can't;" every one will recommend it before long because it is the brightest, crispest, and newest ideaed (to coin a word) story which has appeared for many long months.
